BY HENRY M. HYDE.

If little Johnny, aged 5, has a tantrum it is comparatively easy to handle him. If he throws himself down on the floor, screams, kicks, tries to bite everybody who comes near him—gives way to a perfect abandon of childish rage—the sharp shock of a bucket of cold water is likely to bring him quickly to his senses, after which it is a matter of simple detail to up-end his forty repentant pounds and leave him sitting in a corner to reflect on the folly of not keeping his emotions in better control.

But suppose Johnny, growing to be a huge fellow of 17 or 18, with 180 pounds of bone and muscle at his command, keeps the childish mind of 5 and the undisciplined and savage passions which go with it?

A tantrum on his part is a more serious matter. If some one attempts to correct him Johnny may work off his grudge by getting an ax, chopping up the members of his enemy's family, and stuffing what is left of them into a cistern. Which has happened in one form or another a good many times.

THE fact that John weighs 180 and stands nearly six feet in height is not positive proof that he is approaching manhood. Mentally and morally he may be still a little undisciplined child. His great strength may be only a terrible menace to himself and to everybody with whom he comes in contact. For the frightful results of his outbreaks of unchecked passion he may be no more responsible than a child of 5, which in everything but physical strength he really is.

There are in Chicago and in every large city scores of young men and women whose mental deficiency is not sufficient to attract any but expert attention, and yet who need both for their own good and that of society a varying degree of guidance and protection.

With the strong bodies and the strong passions of adults they have only the mental development of children of various ages. And without full mental or moral responsibility they are naturally much more susceptible than normal people to criminal suggestions.

In the beginning of their careers they commit minor crimes and are brought into court, where at present many of them are treated as if they were mentally normal and are sentenced to various reformatory and punitive institutions. There they acquire new habits and new ideas of crime and are presently released to startle society with savage and abnormal outbreaks of wickedness.

SCIENCE has just waked up to the fact that many if not all of these subnormal children may, under proper protection and suitable control, lead happy and, to a degree, useful lives. Society is just beginning to understand the possibility of stopping the stream of criminality at its source.

Over in the Municipal court of Chicago—which handles many thousands of minor offenders every year—they are about to take a step in the direction of identifying the minds of children in the bodies of men and women, which may and should result in something very like a revolution.

For the first time, in this country at least, a scientific attempt is to be made to determine to what extent criminal tendencies are due to undeveloped minds.

The start will be made presently in the new Morals branch of the court, and the work will be under the direction of one of the leading physicians and psychologists of the country. Fortunately there is now at hand a scientific method by which the mental development of an individual may

FIND AUTO DRIVER GUILTY OF MURDER; 14 YEARS IN CELL

CASE PENDING SINCE 1910

VICTIM'S DAUGHTER DIES OF GRIEF

A Cook county jury, four members of which own automobiles, yesterday convicted the first man ever found guilty of murder for killing a man by running over him in an automobile.

Lawrence Lindbloom, 419 East Twenty-fifth street, a chauffeur, was sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary for running down and slaying Joseph Weiss, a cigar manufacturer, almost three years ago. The criminal records of Illinois and—so far as the state's attorney's office can find—the records of the entire country, do not contain a similar conviction. There have been convictions only for manslaughter.

Assistant State's Attorney Stephen Malato received the congratulations of attorneys as being the first prosecutor in the United States to achieve the conviction.

Daughter Dies of Grief.

Weiss, who lived at 846 East Forty-third street, was crossing Cottage Grove avenue and Twenty-fifth street on Aug. 8, 1910, when he was struck by an automobile belonging to the People's Auto Garage and Livery company and driven by Lindbloom, who is 23 years old. The man died three days later, never having regained consciousness.

Twenty days after his death his 7 year old daughter died of grief, according to Mrs. Martha Weiss, the widow, who lives at 4701 South Robey street. Mrs. Weiss was present throughout the three days on which her husband's slayer was on trial before Judge William Fennimore Cooper in the Criminal Courts building.

Prosecutor Malato examined witnesses who told the jury Lindbloom was driving his machine at the time of the killing so fast it was impossible to catch the number on the rear end.

Victim Dragged Two Blocks.

They testified that when Weiss was knocked down one of his legs caught in some of the mechanism. He was dragged a distance of almost two blocks—from Cottage Grove avenue and Twenty-fifth street, east on Twenty-fifth street to South Park boulevard, then north on South Park boulevard towards Twenty-fourth street, where the machine was brought to a stop. Weiss' unconscious form was extricated from beneath the car.

Lindbloom claimed in his defense that after he struck the man he lost control of the car and could not stop it.

Prosecutor Malato argued to the jury that Lindbloom had driven on in the hope of his victim becoming dislodged by the buffeting, making escape possible for the driver. He based this contention on the fact that Lindbloom had steered the car around corners while dragging the man, which might not have been possible had the car not been under control.

Calls Slaying "Cold Blooded."

Malato laid stress on what he termed the "cold blooded brutality" of the slaying. He maintained that if Lindbloom had stopped his car after striking the man there would have been a chance for the victim to have survived. As it was, he said, Weiss, who was 48 years old and well developed physically, had fought death for three days after the accident while still unconscious, but had succumbed finally to innumerable internal injuries and a compound fracture of the skull.

"Gentlemen," said the prosecutor to the jury, "four of you men are automobile owners and all have driven your machines. I could have objected to your serving on this jury and selected pedestrians—men supposed to be prejudiced against automobilists. I did not do that because I think I can convince you gentlemen it is just as much of a menace to you automobile owners and drivers and your families as it is to any pedestrian to have a man like this running at large with an automobile.

Pleads to Autoist-Jurors.

"Do you think that if Lindbloom had run into your automobile, knocked it over, thrown out your wife or one of your children and dragged her a distance and killed her—do you think it would have made any difference to him whether you were an automobilist or whether you were a pedestrian? Would it have made any difference to you? Gentlemen, I ask you not as automobile owners and not as pedestrians, but as men, to see that justice is done in this case."

After being out one hour the jury returned the verdict of guilty, which carries with it a sentence of fourteen years in the penitentiary. Lindbloom, who had been at liberty on bonds, was remanded to the custody of the sheriff. His attorney, who had made a defense that Weiss was killed as the result of an inevitable accident, made a motion for a new trial, which will be heard on May 10.

Defendant Weeps After Verdict.

Lindbloom went when the verdict was read.

"I am not guilty," he cried. "He said I couldn't help it. I didn't know I was dragging the man. I saw a hat fly up and knew I had struck somebody, but found I couldn't stop the car."

Those on the jury who own automobiles are Charles Ost, Palatine; Peter Erickson, 3071 Palmer square; J. W. Carey, 4903 Grand boulevard, and Thomas Prunese, 11614 Lafayette avenue.

SUFFRAGE CAUSE ROUSES NEW YORK

Thousands Cheer Speech by Col. Roosevelt Championing Votes for Women.

WIFE IS HUSBAND'S EQUAL

New York, May 2.—[Special.]—"Beyond the little struggle of today lies the larger struggle of the centuries, in which neither she alone nor her sex alone is concerned, but all mankind."

The spirit of this sentence of Olive Schreiner,* printed on the first page of the program, was the spirit of the woman suffrage speeches and pageant at the Metropolitan Opera house tonight.

Col. Roosevelt insisted that suffrage was needed for good government, the day of freedom dawned on the Elysian Fields and Lillian Nordica waving a great American flag sang "The Star Spangled Banner," in whose chorus the thousands in the audience joined.

By 8 o'clock there was no standing room. And the entertainment was a cheerful forerunner of tomorrow's march of the 30,000 up Fifth avenue.

Cheers for Col. Roosevelt.

The curtain rose as Col. Roosevelt sitting at the right of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw in a group of suffrage organization leaders.

For the colonel, when he arose, yellow banners were flung aloft and then American flags. In a moment he silenced the handclapping and bored into a speech wherein he had compressed points that had been suggested by the managers of the show.

There was no reason why a cause should be condemned because a few women had done foolish and wicked things, he said. No movement can succeed which does not attract zealous spirits willing to care and suffer, and if it attracts those it inevitably draws also a few whose zeal outruns their discretion "or even their morality."

"To condemn them all," Mr. Roosevelt earnestly went on, "is to be far more wicked and foolish than the conduct of those against whom the charge is made. You women will get the vote—don't think that the east will permanently lag behind the west in the darkness. Civilization is going to swing this way. I ask every decent citizen of this state to secure to self-respecting citizenship which is denied the vote, the right which it is denied."

Will Not Cure All Evils.

Equality, the colonel continued, does not mean identity of functions. The man has a narrow soul who seeks to deny the ballot to women because her work is different from his. Suffrage conditions, he said, have changed enormously in sixty-five years.

"Votes for women will not cure all evils—if I thought that I would take them away from men," the colonel said. "But in no state where suffrage has been tried has it done damage and in every state it has bettered social and industrial conditions. All the arguments against it are duplicated in the arguments against manhood suffrage a century ago.

"Our democracy is based on the theory that the average man shall be the controlling factor in the government. Our whole effort is toward that. We have made the average man the master. All we hope to do now is to put his partner alongside of him.

"There are any number of first class citizens who are frightened at new ideas—I know them perfectly well (laughter), but they'll get over their fright."

Takes Slap at Men.

"They tell me woman's place is at home," Col. Roosevelt said, waving back the applause. "So is the man's. If there's any married man here who does not know that woman does a little more than her share at home he needs to be educated. If he has more leisure than she to reflect on public matters it's a frightful reflection on him."

"In any community where women have the vote it has meant just so much loss of influence to the underworld, to the powers that prey, to the terrible red light district," the colonel went on.

"The underworld is primarily a world of men—ten men to one woman—and every man who has a stake in infamy will oppose this movement."

The colonel said he asked for suffrage because it is right from the standpoint of woman, right for the interests of every person who is trying to solve society's problems, and he begged that the nation "use the full and not the cramped strength of the entire commonwealth."

Big Collection for Cause.

The colonel retired, pocketing his notes. Then for twenty minutes Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, while young women in cap and gown traversed the aisles with collection baskets, called for generous pledges of money.

And she got them—none bigger than $500, but the number was large. Mme. Nordica promised $100.

From boxes and galleries and orchestra came cries "Fifty dollars from a friend," "Twenty-five dollars from a friend," until Dr. Shaw said that time was up and please send other contributions to the committee. Ten thousand dollars were pledged.

STYLISH WOMEN TO APPEAR AS ZOOLOGICAL SPECIMENS.

Beasts of the Fields to Be Taken as Pattern for Designs for Wearing Apparel of Fair Sex.

Toledo, O., May 2.—[Special.]—Fall and winter styles for women are to include all kinds of animal effects. Women will have a large variety of designs that they may choose from in imitation of the animal species.

This advance information was secured here today following a three hours' executive session of members of the National Cloak, Suit, and Skirt association, which is meeting here in semi-annual session for the purpose of fixing styles for the country.

The report of the style committee will not be submitted until tomorrow, at which time 200 garments will be displayed on living models, due to arrive here from Cincinnati, Chicago, and Cleveland tonight.

A. A. Cohn of Cleveland stated tonight that the designs for fall and winter will be of "pile fabrics," which are furs made of silk and wool. They will resemble Astrakhan and "Persianais" cloth, "Arabian lamb," and "Ural lamb." This animal effect, he said, would be the latest thing.

Navy blue, taupe, and wine color will be the stylish shades, it was learned. Skirts will be three-quarter length, not half length as so many of the gentler sex have expected.

"LONELY MOTHER" GIVES AWAY BABY

TELLS SAD, SAD TALE.

A neatly dressed, weary looking woman stepped up to Officer George Murphy at Fifth avenue and Lake street yesterday. She carried a small bundle clasped in her arms.

Murphy had just blown his traffic whistle and was turning to warn a recalcitrant teamster when he felt something shoved into his arms. He instinctively clutched it. Then, turning, he saw the woman.

"It's a baby," said the woman.

Woman in Black.

"Yes," she continued, speaking rapidly. "I was standing on the corner waiting for a Lake street car a few minutes ago when a woman dressed entirely in black stepped up to me and——"

"Well, go on," suggested Murphy, letting traffic maintain its own regulations.

"She asked me to hold this bundle a moment while she stepped into a hallway to arrange her dress. I waited several minutes, but she never came back. Will you take the baby?"

"What is your name?" asked Murphy.

"Mrs. Nellie Williams," she replied, giving a street address in Joliet.

Then while Murphy curiously uncovered the bundle and peered nervously at the now wailing infant the woman disappeared. The policeman took the infant to the station. A telegram was sent to Joliet.

Not Known in Joliet.

"No such woman or street in Joliet," wired back the police of that city.

The baby was taken to St. Vincent's Orphan asylum. The following note was found pinned to its dress:

To Whom It May Concern: This baby was born April 17, 1913. May he fall into good hands. I am a lonely woman with no means to care for him.

A LONELY MOTHER.

"He's a regular little buster," said Nurse Alice Malley. Just to prove it she held a bottle within reach of the restless little hands. They seized the neck of the bottle in a sturdy grip. The next move does not need to be reported.

"And to think that I fell for it," sighed Officer Murphy as he untangled the blockade of teams.

ANOTHER ROLLER SKATER HURT

Joseph Tubinez, Fourth Child Victim of Week—Knocked Down by Dray.

Roller skating in the streets yesterday brought injuries to one more child—the fourth this week. Joseph Tubinez, who is 12 years old and lives at 1200 West Van Buren street, while skating at West Monroe and Throop streets, was knocked down and probably fatally injured by a six horse dray.

ELEVATED CHIEFS CONSENT TO TALK THROUGH ROUTING

Write Council Committee Expressing Conditional Willingness to Unified Operation.

CITY HALL AIDS CRUSADE

LOOP TRAINS SEEN TO CONGEST

Two days of battling for through routes on the elevated lines, begun in THE TRIBUNE Thursday morning, brought the Chicago Elevated Railways off its high perch yesterday.

The executive committee of the elevated roads yesterday notified the public that it is ready to talk through routing as once. A proviso was attached to the statement; but a long step toward the final victory was scored, as this communication was the first indication of willingness to discuss the subject since the several companies were put together financially.

The way now is clear for the public to place its demands formally before the company and to make arrangements for the improvement in service for which there has been an uproar during the forty-eight hours since the campaign of THE TRIBUNE began.

Predict Through Route Soon.

Traction men said they could foresee through route operation within a short time.

It was said the unexpected announcement from the traction offices had come as the result of the increasing heat of the fight. Once swung into the campaign, the city hall has helped force it along rapidly. A subcommittee of the local transportation committee took up the matter and acted with promptness. The law department was instructed to take steps leading to the removal of the numerous "concessions" maintained in the elevated stations, newsstands, candy stores, gum machines, weighing machines, and similar equipment.

State's Attorney Hoyne consulted with city representatives concerning a combined effort on the fight to oust the loop through the quo warranto proceedings in connection with which he filed a petition in the Circuit court.

Inadequacy Further Shown.

While these two movements to whip the company into line were progressing the investigation by THE TRIBUNE was continued so the public might be informed further of the inadequacy of elevated service. Scores of the 40,000 straphangers during the evening rush hour were expressing their feelings and observers were watching the constant delays of loop trains at junctions and stations.

Word was sent to THE TRIBUNE of the change in attitude of the management of the elevateds as soon as it was made. These was sent in by messenger a copy of a letter addressed to Chairman Block of the local transportation committee.

Promise Unified Operation.

The communication was signed by Samuel Insull, Henry A. Blair, and Ira M. Cobe, executive committee of the governing committee of the Chicago Elevated Railways. Only twenty-four hours earlier THE TRIBUNE had insisted the power to order through routing lay in the hands of these three men and had insisted they act at the earliest possible moment.

The formal letter was unexpected, as Mr. Insull, chairman of the committee, will be in New York until this afternoon or tomorrow; but his two associates signed the document with his sanction. It was said that, because of the heat of the situation, they had communicated with him over the long distance telephone.

This letter expressed the "entire willingness" of the three signers to use their "best endeavors" to bring about a unification of the operation of the several elevated lines. In exchange they asked for the authority for changes in the loop they said were necessary for the purpose and asked for assurance the structure will be immediately—at least until another channel for the service—a subway—is provided.

Deny "Stalling" Public.

The executive committee first defended itself against the charge that it had "stalled" the public. The letter explained that if the operation of the elevateds had been unified immediately after they were merged much of the work done might not have fitted into the scheme of operation in the event a consolidation of these lines with the surface lines had been accomplished.

The writers also said their lines could not be through routed without a grant from the city council "giving permission to make certain changes in the steel structure, to extend existing platforms and build new ones, and to dispense with the present requirement of sending trains around the loop."

Loop Changes Necessary.

The next subject taken up was the final stage of the loop. It was said the city had recognized by "a multitude of affirmative acts" the rights of the companies in the loop lines and that later it instituted the suit attacking the central structure.

It also was said through routing would require further changes in equipment, such as altering all motor cars to right hand drive, to replace interlocking signals and tracks, and to provide for a considerable amount of new equipment.

"It has not seemed wise for the elevated companies," proceeded the letter, "at large expense to undertake the unification and through routing—which must be based upon the maintenance of the loop—as long as the city was engaged in prosecuting the suit above mentioned."

The concluding paragraph of the letter follows:

"In our judgment the general merger plan involving surface and elevated lines and subways is the only real solution of the transportation problem for this city. But if the city wishes to abandon this plan and to provide for a unification of the elevated roads as a single system we are entirely willing to use our best endeavors to bring about such unification, provided the city will on its part give to the companies such authority as may be necessary for the purpose and give assurances as to loop tenure.

"It is not true, as has been stated in some quarters, that the companies have postponed unification in order to obtain valuable concessions from the city. It has always been our intention to endeavor to bring about the consolidation of the elevated roads and the through routing of the elevated trains 'in case the city should see fit not to authorize the larger plan of merging all surface and elevated lines.'"

Mr. Cobe and Mr. Blair declined to add to the contents of the letter, but both expressed a willingness to take up the elevated through route question for final disposition without permitting any other traction problems to entangle it, as it has been beclouded during the last two years.

Investigators See Train Delays.

The observations of reporters for THE TRIBUNE were extended to cover in detail the numerous delays befalling a train operated the entire distance around the loop. They rode on trains from the time they approached the downtown structure until they left it again and for a time devoted special attention to the delays at the junctions.

As an example of what occurs in the rush hour, a Jackson park express train on the south side road was held at the Wabash avenue and Van Buren street corner while six other trains crossed over the interlocking device that is required for safety under the present method of operation. In entering the loop the south side trains cross over the outer track to the inner track, so a train on either will hold it at a standstill.

Describes Jam on Loop.

The Jackson park train approached the loop apparently with a clear track ahead, but the man in the tower could see more than the passengers and held it. First he let by a Ravenswood train on the outer track, then a Logan Square on the inner track, then an Evanston on the outer track, then a Wilson local on the same track, then a Garfield park on the inner track, and an Oak Park on the outer track.

All this while the Jackson park train was "stalled" and was holding other south side trains back. Then when the tower man released the block and it went ahead it "stalled" a Wilson express and other trains on the outer track.

Nine Wasted Stops.

As it pulled into Adams street station the Garfield train that had been given first claim to the track was "overlapping" on the south side platform. The Jackson park motorman slowed down and crawled up to the platform. It came to a dead stop and the motorman waited until the Garfield park had pulled out, then he drew up to the platform and stopped again.

There were two stops at all but two of the stations around the loop—nine "wasted" stops in all.

No sooner had the Garfield park train pulled off the loop at Fifth avenue and Van Buren street than another Metropolitan slid in ahead of the south side train and held it back until its own junction was reached. There four other trains from the same road lined up waiting to get into the loop.

"Tribune" Observer's Log.

Here is the log of one of THE TRIBUNE observers who cruised the loop on a Jackson Park local train. The train bound for the loop left the Congress street station at 2:58:55 p. m. The observer sat, stop watch in hand near the front window of the first car and made his notations as follows:

3:00:35. Moved forward into loop, holding up a Ravenswood express on Wabash avenue and a Garfield park train on Van Buren street.
3:00:55. Stopped at Adams street station after progressing slowly on account of Metropolitan train ahead.
3:01:10. Left Adams street station, still moving slowly on account of forward train.
3:03:00. Stopped by Metropolitan train before reaching platform.
3:03:15. Moved forward again.

3:11:55. Stopped at State street station.

3:12:25. Stopped on signal at Wabash avenue and Van Buren street junction by a Wilson express.
3:12:55. Move forward around curve.
3:15:20. Out of loop and on South Side tracks.

The trip around the loop consumed fourteen minutes and two second.

Aldermen Begin Reprisals.

"Let us treat the elevated roads the way they treat us," suggested Ald. Henry P. Bergen when the general complaint subcommittee took up the question of through routing.

"They have been getting money in ways that were not authorized. Let's take away those sources of revenue."

Other aldermen agreed the order directing the commissioner of public works to remove all the "unnecessary adjuncts" of the elevated stations should be approved and sent to the entire committee for recommendation to the council.

They then took up the question of overloading cars. On this point the law department was instructed to prepare an ordinance providing specifically that the seating capacity of a car shall be considered a "comfortable load" outside of the rush hours, and that at this point additional cars must be put into service.

ALIEN LAND BILL LOSES ITS FANGS

California Measure, Divested of Drastic Provisions, Approved by Senate.

BRYAN SCORES VICTORY.

Japs May Pursue Commercial Lines and Also Farming Under Short Leases.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Sacramento, Cal., May 2.—[Special.]—Although technically defeated in the purpose of his visit to California, Secretary Bryan has won a practical victory on the crucial day of his mission. His previous arguments and his skillful wire pulling during the big debates today have resulted in a bill emasculated and ineffective.

The bill as it now stands is a slap by a Republican-Progressive majority in the legislature at the national Democratic administration and a declaration of hostility to the Japanese, but its actual scope on land holding by Japanese in California is practically nil. It recognizes the right of the Japanese to hold land for commercial purposes as provided by treaty, and it adds an authorization of agricultural short term leases. This means the Japanese agricultural colonies in the state will be entirely unaffected and that the spread of Japanese farming may continue.

The law will not go into effect for at least a year and seven months because of the invocation of the initiative and referendum.

Amended Bill Has Few Friends.

The bill as amended seems to have few friends. The pro-Japanese element will demand that it be submitted to a referendum while the anti-Japanese agitators will at once offer a more drastic measure to the people by means of the initiative.

One of the strongest arguments made in the senate was that actual relief would be obtained sooner by deferring to the wishes of President Wilson and allowing the matter to be solved without the slow moving initiative and referendum.

The demand for a referendum on the bill will be fathered by the commercial clubs and real estate boards of the state and by the interests back of San Francisco exposition. In no case will the law go into effect within three months, and if within that time they can secure 20,000 signatures to a referendum petition the matter will go over until the general election in November, 1914.

Labor Unions Want New Bill.

It is quite certain, on the other hand, that the labor unions of the state will immediately get out petitions for an initiative on a bill excluding Japanese from the leasing of agricultural lands. This will also come up in 1914.

The amendment allowing Japanese to lease land for agricultural purposes was introduced by Senator A. E. Boynton this morning at the instance of Gov. Johnson.

It was adopted by a vote of 25 to 13 of the senate. The afternoon was taken up with the Curtin resolution to give the federal government a few months to accomplish the ends desired by diplomacy. This resolution was defeated, 26 to 10, after a debate in which all speakers vigorously and repeatedly disclaimed any political motives and as plainly revealed them.

Gov. Johnson will sign an alien bill as soon as it comes to him, reserving a "reasonable time" in which to listen to protests.

Situation Less Grave Now.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—In official circles here the opinion is gaining ground that the California situation has been relieved largely of its grave aspect and that a satisfactory adjustment has been brought into sight by latest developments at Sacramento.

The adoption by the California senate of the amendment to the pending alien land owning bill to permit leases of lands by Japanese for periods not exceeding three years is connected by officers of the administration here with Secretary Bryan's postponement of his return to Washington from Sacramento.

It is believed the secretary hopes to mitigate the drastic features of the bill to a point where there will be no ground for objection from the Japanese government.

It is said that it is realized in the highest circles in Tokio that some such legislation is inevitable and must be accepted, provided Japanese pride is saved and the probable injury to Japanese subjects in California reduced to a minimum.

Bryan Defers His Return.

Secretary of State Bryan has wired President Wilson that he purposes to remain some days longer in the Pacific slope state. Just what Mr. Bryan purposes to do is not known, but it is conceded that he must have a powerful reason for remaining on the scene of strife.

TWAIN AND HIS JUMPING FROG HAVE NAUGHT ON MISS O'BRIEN

"Joe" Keegan, Desk Sergeant, Presented with Pet Because He's "a Wonderful Man"—Fair Donor May Be Crazy.

Miss Maude O'Brien, who is 55 years of age and says she lives at 5500 State street, walked up to Desk Sergeant Joseph Keegan at the Englewood police station yesterday.

"Do you know," she observed, ardently looking into Keegan's pellucid orbs, "I think you are the most wonderful man in the world."

Keegan opened his mouth, but said nothing.

"You are a wonderful, wonderful man," pursued Miss O'Brien. "I intend to give you the dearest thing in my life—my pet."

Whereupon she let loose on Sergeant Keegan's desk a large and lively frog.

Keegan was too much astonished to move. The frog hopped into the ink well and from the ink well to the page on which the sergeant had been copying the record of the day. After leaving mementoes of the visit the frog hopped from the page to the floor and outdoors.

Policemen who suspected Miss O'Brien intended to free a couple more frogs seized her. Again she opened her handbag. From it she extracted a stick of gum.

"Take that, wonderful man," she said, "as a souvenir of my admiration."

Held for examination as to her sanity.

Man Murdered by Automobile.

Joseph Weiss.

Lawrence Lindbloom yesterday was convicted of murder and sentenced to fourteen years in prison. His automobile killed Joseph Weiss.

AUTO HITS MAN; SPEEDS AWAY

Three Injured in Unusual Accident on the West Side.

John Pollock, a coal dealer living at Stanton, Ill., was knocked down and severely injured at Congress street and Wabash avenue yesterday by an automobile, which sped away without giving assistance to the victim. Witnesses told the police that the machine carried the number 4328, which, according to the vehicel bureau, belongs to Frank Wolfersberger of Mascoutah, Ill.

At West Jackson boulevard and South Green street two automobiles crashed into the same coal wagon at the same time, injuring three men. They are: Patrick Ryan, 2035 South Halsted street, driver of the coal wagon; Adolph Kortes, 3148 Lincoln avenue, and L. Bowers, chauffeur, 4488 West Madison street. Ryan was driving in South Green street when the machine driven by Kortes crashed into the rear and that driven by Bowers ran into the horses. The wagon was demolished and both machines damaged.

Jack Johnson, a negro pugilist, paid $2 and costs in Municipal Judge Fry's court for driving an automobile without a license. The same negro failed to appear in debtors' court, where several cases are pending against him for the collection of bills.

Leon Mikelson of 3257 Lowe avenue was thrown from his motorcycle at Cottage Grove avenue and the Midway when he collided with an automobile driven by Peter J. Hannapel, 2575 Blue Island avenue.

H. Mortonson, 1363 East Fifty-fifth street, was charged with assault for running down Mrs. M. La Cosky, 5924 Parnell avenue. He was riding a motorcycle on April 6, when the accident happened at Fifty-ninth street and Parnell avenue. The case was continued.

Mrs. Nancy Vanwicklin was run down and killed in Elgin on Thursday by an automobile driven by Katherine Pleavin, who was taking her first lesson in driving the machine. The girl and her instructor, O. G. Eitring, were exonerated by the coroner's jury. Mrs. Vanwicklin was 72 years old.

MELLEN DEFENDS NEW HAVEN DEALS

Denies Alleged Shady Transactions Referred to by U. S. Expert.

AIDED 1904 G. O. P. FIGHT.

Contributed During Campaign, He Says, but Only with His Directorate's Sanction.

Boston, Mass., May 2.—An unqualified defense of his stewardship was made by Charles S. Mellen, president of the New Haven railroad company, before the interstate commerce commission today.

Taking up in detail charges that have been brought against his management and various transactions in which the New Haven or its subsidiary companies have figured, the president gave his explanation of the questions involved. His testimony occupied three and one-half hours.

While replying readily to questions of Commissioner Prouty and Charles P. Choate Jr., his personal counsel, Mr. Mellen refused to submit to cross examination by others.

He appeared as a voluntary witness, his testimony was not given under oath, and it was explained to him that the information given by him today would not make him immune in any prosecution the federal government might undertake.

Denies He Profited Himself.

At the outset, President Mellen denied that he had profited personally to the extent of $102,000 by selling $3,000,000 worth of stock of the New Haven company, for which he had given his notes.

He said that $50,000 of the money in question was paid into the Republican national campaign fund in 1904; that $5,500 went to the Rhode Island Republican state central committee, other sums to the Republican organizations in New York and Connecticut, and the rest for pier leases and other acquisitions.

Mr. Mellen discussed various note tranbactions, saying that in every case the New Haven company had been paid in full, and that the only money that had come to him personally was to reimburse him for expenses contracted in the conduct of the company's business. The notes, he said, were merely temporary vouchers for money used in the railroad's behalf.

An apparent profit of $2,700,000 to John L. Billard of Meriden, Conn., for his part in the acquisition of the Boston and Maine by the New Haven was dwelt on by Mr. Mellen, who said that the commission's accountant, David E. Brown, had testified about the transaction on the assumption that the book value of certain securities represented their real value when as a matter of fact their actual value was much less.

Defends Pullman Contract.

He also declared that the contract under which the New Haven turned over its parlor and sleeping car service to the Pullman company was the best contract that any railroad company ever made with the Pullman people.

President Mellen when he first took the stand made this statement:

"The transactions by which 19,835 shares of New Haven stock were sold to me in March, 1904, and I gave my notes to the New England Navigation company, have been questioned.

"This stock was treasury stock and had to be listed on the stock exchange in order to be sold to the public. In order to list it it was sold to me and I gave my notes to the company, which held the stock as collateral until sold. All these shares were sold at the best obtainable prices and the entire proceeds, together with the dividends, paid to the company's treasury. The company received approximately $102,000 more than the price at which the stock was sold to me.

Expenses from Private Funds.

"The transaction was bona fide and was made without any expectation that any excess over the selling price to me would be realized.

"Between the time of the sale to me and the closing of the transaction I had personally dispersed out of my own funds considerable amounts exceeding in the aggregate the sum of $102,000.

"These expenditures I had made not for my own purposes, or in any way for my personal advantage, but absolutely because I was president of the New Haven railroad.

"In 1904 I contributed $50,000 to the Republican national campaign fund and other sums for the Republican campaigns in New York, Connecticut, and Rhode Island.

Spent Money Only as President.

"Because I was president of the New Haven company I had been constrained to make these disbursements out of my private funds, which, as a private individual, I never would have made.

"On the closing up of the sales of these stocks, it appearing that an unexpected profit had been realized, my directors, who had been cognisant of my contributions for these purposes, thought proper to make me this allowance.

"I never personally received or retained one dollar to my own profit or advantage."

TRAINMEN TO VOTE ON STRIKE

Trouble May Involve 100,000 Men on Eastern Roads.

WOMEN RIOT IN NEW JERSEY

Give Aid to Rout Police and Release Patrol Load of Prisoners.

New York, May 2.—A strike vote of the 100,000 conductors and trainmen on railroads in eastern territory was ordered tonight by the union's representatives, who have been in conference with the railroad managers here over demands for increased wages recently submitted by the employés.

The roads yesterday denied the men's demands and today refused a proposition to submit the dispute to arbitration.

"After the vote is taken," President Lee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said tonight, "we will again request a conference with the representatives of the railroads and at that conference we will tell them the result of the vote. I'll say now that I don't expect to have to tell them that the vote was against calling a strike."

Women Figure in Strike Riot.

Burlington, N. J., May 2.—Women again took a prominent part today in the most serious riot that has yet occurred during the strike of the workers of the several iron mills in this city. The women with the help of men overpowered the police and deputy sheriffs and rescued a patrol wagon load of prisoners.

Jersey Laborers Go Out.

Paterson, N. J., May 2.—A general strike of laborers in four counties of New Jersey was gotten under way today when several thousand men affiliated with the General Laborers' union failed to report for work. Leaders of the strikers assert that 15,000 men will be out by Monday. The laborers demand an increase in wages from $1.75 to $2 a day.

Out in Sympathy Strike.

Jersey City, N. J., May 2.—Responding to appeals of silk mill workers in Paterson, where a strike of 15,000 workers has been in progress for several weeks, between 6,000 and 8,000 workers in the silk mills in northern Hudson county, near this city, went on strike late today.

Will Demand Strike Inquiry.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—Despite the settlement of the West Virginia Paint Creek coal strike, Senator Kern is determined to press his senatorial investigation of conditions which led to it the drumhead trial of Mother Jones, the strike leader, and the military régime. He said today that appeals from former Senator Watson to abandon the investigation because the strike was ended would be disregarded and he would bring up his investigation resolution when the senate met Monday.

ARREST MILLIONAIRE BIXBY IN COAST "WHITE SLAVE" CASE.

Long Beach Banker Twice Indicted for Having Contributed to the Delinquency of Minors.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 2.—George H. Bixby, millionaire banker of Long Beach, was arrested tonight on two grand jury indictments charging him with having contributed to the delinquency of minors.

Bixby was arrested at his ranch home, brought here and released on $10,000 bond, $5,000 on each indictment. He will appear tomorrow for arraignment before Judge Wilbur of the Superior court.

Four indictments were returned by the grand jury, the two others being directed against Mrs. Josie Rosenburg, who is accused of pandering. The warrants were served upon Mrs. Rosenburg in the county jail, where she is held in default of $15,000 bonds on charges of procuring.

The arrest of the millionaire furnished the climax of a sensational vice investigation in the course of which his name was freely mentioned in connection with a resort known as the "Jonquil," operated by Mrs. Rosenburg.

Two young women frequenters of the place, Mrs. Irene Marie Brown Levy, 17 years old, and Miss Cleo Helen Barker, 19 years old, told the grand jury of their relations with Bixby and others, and the indictments against him accuse the millionaire of having contributed to their delinquency. The maximum penalty for each offense is a year in the county jail.

Bixby is nearly 50 years old and has a wife and five children.

MRS. CATT SPEAKS TO LONDON WOMEN

MILITANTS UP FOR TRIAL.

Link Chemist with Outrages; Equality in Norway; Florida Refuses Fair Sex Vote.

LONDON, May 2.—At an Actresses' Franchise league meeting tonight in Drury Lane theater Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt of New York, president of the International Woman Suffrage alliance, delivered the first speech she has made since her arrival in England.

Mrs. Catt said that during the three days she had been in London she had heard more complaints against the British government than she had heard against the American government during her whole life.

Mrs. Catt heard many more complaints at tonight's meeting, for every speaker denounced the British government.

Women Threaten More Militancy.

The denunciation of the ministry by the actresses was mild, however, compared with the abuse heaped upon it by speakers at an indignation meeting of the Women's Freedom league in Caxton hall. A few phrases culled from the speech of Miss Nina Boyle, a militant suffraget, will serve as samples. She said the government was composed of "cads and cowards," and that the ministers were a "disgrace to the name of Britishers."

Miss Boyle called for militant volunteers and hinted at an outbreak of militancy that had been planned "that will show this government what a pitiful opinion we have of it."

Mrs. Charlotte Despard also appealed for militant recruits.

"More militants and more militancy," she said, "will be our answer to the latest move of the government. And I don't care how often they arrest me."

Letters Suggest Plans of Action.

Bow street court was crowded this morning when six militant suffragets who were arrested in the police raid on the headquarters of the Woman's Social and Political union on Wednesday were brought up before the magistrate on a charge of conspiracy under the malicious damage act.

With them were Clayton, the analytical chemist, taken into custody last night at Richmond, and Sydney Drew, the printer of yesterday's issue of the Suffragette, who was arrested this morning.

Some interesting documents seized by the police were read by the prosecuting counsel. They were intended to show Clayton's connection with the militant movement. One of them was addressed to Miss Annie Kenney and regretted the delay in supplying some chemical preparation she had asked for.

"The exact proportions are very difficult to get," it said, adding, "please burn this."

Another document bearing Clayton's name suggested a widespread scheme of false fire alarms and still another gave a list of seven timber yards in London which lend themselves particularly well to attack."

Norway Women to Vote.

CHRISTIANIA, May 2.—The constitutional committee of the storthing decided unanimously today to introduce a bill bestowing the franchise upon women for all elections. With a radical majority in the storthing the passage of the bill is assured.

WANT SINGLE MORAL STANDARD.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 2.—[Special.]—the women identified with the equal suffrage movement realize the close relation between the movement and the single standard of morality for men and women is shown by the attitude of delegates to the second annual convention of the Indiana branch, Woman's Franchise league, in session here.

A resolution has been prepared for introduction before the league recommending that there be one moral standard for both sexes.

Methods of propaganda and reports of the district chairmen took up a good portion of today's session. The Community house, a social experiment by franchise workers at Crawfordsville, was discussed by Dr. Martha Griffin. A house was leased, a rest room and junchroom installed, and a home created for employed women.

Deny Florida Women Vote.

Tallahassee, Fla., May 2.—An equal suffrage amendment was defeated in the Florida house today by a vote of 26 to 38 after lengthy debate.

ASSERTS WAYMAN ASKED FOR DEATH

Dr. William K. Murray Gives Strange Testimony at Coroner's Inquest.

WAS INVITED TO OPERATE.

Physician Asked by Hoffman Why He Didn't Tell Some One in Authority.

Dr. William K. Murray, one of the physicians who attended John E. W. Wayman after the latter had inflicted a fatal wound upon himself, made three sensational statements under oath as a witness at the inquest in the case of the former state's attorney yesterday. He said:

1. That in his opinion Mr. Wayman committed suicide.

2. That the act of self-destruction was committed during an "explosive period" in an attack of neurasthenia, or nerve bankruptcy.

3. That this neurasthenia was either induced or aggravated by criticisms the nature of which the witness did not disclose.

These statements were supplemented by Dr. Murray with a still more sensational declaration. He said that some days before he shot himself Mr. Wayman had come to him with a proposition that the doctor take him (Wayman) to some hospital and there perform an operation in the course of which the physician would cut some vital organ so as to cause death.

Accident, Dr. Krohn Says.

Dr. Murray's testimony was not corroborated by the other Wayman physicians. In part it was flatly denied under oath by Mr. Wayman's law partner, Thomas Marshall.

Dr. William O. Krohn, the nerve specialist, who was directly in charge of Mr. Wayman's case at the time of his death, declared that in his opinion Mr. Wayman had shot himself accidentally. He gave an account of a conversation in which the former state's attorney asked to be taken to a hospital which was quite at variance of Dr. Murray.

He said that in this conversation Mr. Wayman had asked that he be taken to a hospital ostensibly to undergo an operation but really in order that he might rest.

Mr. Wayman, he said, was sensitive about going to a sanitarium to take the "rest cure." He believed that if he should do so people would believe that he was insane.

Dr. Murray's conduct prior to his taking the witness stand in the coroner's office was not indicative of his being a willing witness. His failure to appear in response to a subpoena had necessitated several postponements of the inquest. Nevertheless, when he did take the stand he told his story with no manifestations of reluctance. He even volunteered information.

It was brought out also that while Dr. Murray had been avoiding an appearance before Coroner Hoffman he had not been silent about Mr. Wayman. He admitted on the stand that he had told several persons the story about Wayman asking to be taken to a hospital and killed.

Sharp Question by Coroner.

The coroner put this question to Dr. Murray:

Q.—Did you tell this story so that it became public property? A.—I told that to a number of people. I told Mr. Marshall, Mr. Smith.

Q.—And you, a private physician and friend, were making a conversation of that kind about the deceased? Why didn't you notify some one in authority, so that they might prevent a thing of that kind occurring? A.—The proposition that morning was discussed whether we would forcibly restrain this man or not. It was the question whether something had to be done or not. I took Mrs. Wayman out of the room and told her the conversation that I had with him. I said, "He needs watching. Watch him."

The witness here said Wayman told him he couldn't sleep and had no interest in life. He said Dr. Krone had called him and said he was taking care of Wayman, and that Krone told the witness he had made the same proposition to him.

Q.—What proposition? A.—That same one —" You and Murray take me to the hospital and let me die."

Mr. Marshall, former assistant state's attorney, took the stand and said Murray never told him about the matter until after Mr. Wayman was dead.

Jury Returns "Open" Verdict.

The testimony apparently did not have a preponderance of weight in the minds of the jurors. After a brief deliberation they returned what is known as an "open" verdict. The verdict in full was as follows:

"The decedent died at his home, 6834 Constance avenue, from shock and hemorrhage due to the bullet wounds of the chest, said bullets fired from a revolver held in his own hand. From the evidence presented we, the jury, are unable to determine whether said shots were fired with the intent of self-destruction or accidentally."

WORLD'S CHAMPION SWIMMER FREED OF GIRL'S CHARGES.

Arthur C. Raithel Impersonated by Man Who Harmed Young Woman, Englewood Police Believe.

A 17 year old girl sat in the office of Lieut. Ben Enright of the Englewood police station last night. Seven members of the Illinois Athletic club swimming team filed in. Three of the swimmers have world's records. The manager of the team, Roy E. Davis, and William Bachrack, trainer, also appeared.

"Will you pick out Mr. Raithel?" the lieutenant asked.

After a look at the swimmers the girl shook her head.

"None of these boys are known to me," she said. "I never saw any of them before."

Arthur C. Raithel, world's champion swimmer in the 100 yard dash, stepped forward.

"My name is Raithel," he said. "Did you ever see me before?"

"I did not."

The girl had said she had been mistreated by "Raithel," a swimmer at the I. A. C. Accompanied by Michael McDermott, C. Wohlfeld, D. Thompson, M. R. Mott, R. Mehan, F. McDermott, Davis, and Bachrack Arthur Raithel went to the station. Capt. Ryan and Lieut. Enright were convinced the young man was not wanted. It is said another swimmer who knew Raithel had used his name when he met the girl. The impostor is now in Canada.

LETTER BETRAYS DUAL LIFE

Mrs. Milo L. Lyon Finds Message to 'My Own Darling Husband.'

IT WINS HER A DIVORCE.

Mystery How He Supported Two Families on $12 a Week.

Mrs. Milo L. Lyon of 4550 Champlain avenue told in court yesterday of how in preparing her husband's laundry list she came across a pencilled memorandum to get "shirt-waist for Allie and stockings for the kids."

Mrs. Lyon's first name is not Allie. It is Margaret. Neither did she recall asking for a shirtwaist or stockings. She suspected that all was not well, and made a search for letters.

This Is What She Found.

In an envelope addressed to her husband this is what she found:

My Own Darling Husband: I got a letter from you this morning and one this afternoon, and they are both very sweet and beautiful. I told the children what you said in them and that you would send for us soon. I said we would go and live with papa, and papa would never go away again and we would live in a nice new home and all be as happy as we could be.

I am inclosing the number of our baby's grave, so you can take a run out there some Sunday before the snow comes and see what it is like and what will have to be done to improve it. We are going to be as happy as four "bugs in a rug" from now on.

We will have a nice cosy home and I will pet you and make love to you and be the happiest I have ever been in my life. I am going to make you the happiest in your life, too, if you will let me. Always your loving wife, ALLIE.

Mrs. Lyon Finds "Allie."

That impressed Mrs. Lyon as fairly good indication that her husband was not behaving according to her notions of proper conduct. She made a further investigation, and says she found "Allie" to be an Alice Woodward, with whom he is now living in Hammond, Ind. They have three children.

Mrs. Lyon says her husband has been earning only $12 a week during part of his double life, but cannot explain how he made it support two families.

"I have been suspecting him for seven years or so," she said, "but it wasn't until I found that memorandum about the shirtwaist that I became certain."

Miss Sarah Brown, superintendent for the United Charities at South Chicago, appeared for Mrs. Lyon and told where the husband is living. The divorce was granted. Lyon, seen at night in Hammond, refused to discuss the matter.

IOWAN LOSES IN LOVE TANGLE

Miss Cornelia Blake by Plain Telegram Heads Off Visit.

ENDS "TERRIBLE MISTAKE."

Declares Dr. A. W. Wermuth Really Had the First Claim.

Miss Cornelia Blake, whose engagement to two men at the same time has involved her in an unpleasant situation, yesterday sent out a telegram from her father's residence at 4500 Beacon street which she believes will have the effect of relieving her of some of her difficulties. It read as follows:

"Lawrence: Consider our engagement broken."

The message was addressed to Lawrence Garner, son of a wealthy wholesale dry goods merchant of Ottumwa, Ia. He was one of the men to whom Miss Blake was engaged. The other is Dr. Arthur William Wermuth of Chicago. The telegram indicates that Dr. Wermuth is the one Miss Blake has chosen.

Advices from Ottumwa were that Garner upon receipt of the telegram abandoned his intention of coming to Chicago for a personal interview with Miss Blake.

Had Been Much Wrought Up.

On Thursday when he saw an item in THE TRIBUNE announcing her engagement to Dr. Wermuth, Garner was considerably wrought up because he said he had letters and telegrams from Miss Blake which he regarded as proof positive that she intended to marry him. It was then he said he was coming to Chicago to talk matters over with the girl. He blamed parental opposition to his own suit for the Chicago announcement and intimated that Miss Blake had been coerced into throwing him over and promising to marry Wermuth.

Miss Blake yesterday gave out the text of her original telegram, which, she says, was "misinterpreted" by Garner into a statement that she would marry him. This message, sent in response to a request from Garner for permission to announce his engagement to her in the Ottumwa newspapers, read as follows:

"Father says if you will wait until June he will announce it—Cornelia."

"All a Terrible Mistake."

"It was all a terrible mistake," said Miss Blake, "and I feel myself frightfully to blame. I wrote the telegram to Lawrence in such haste that I am afraid I did not say just exactly what I meant to say. Besides, he was a dear friend and I did not wish to hurt him. What I intended to tell him was to wait until June when I had made up my mind, and then father would make the announcement. He seemed to take it for granted we were to be married in June."

Mr. Garner apparently took a great deal too much for granted. He not only caused the publication of the engagement announcement in the Ottumwa newspapers but came to Chicago on April 7 and got out a marriage license. Just why Miss Blake permitted him to do this has not yet been explained.

"Meanwhile," said Miss Blake, "I became engaged to Dr. Wermuth. You see, he really had the first claim. I had been engaged to him at intervals for six years. It was not until after I had sent that message to Lawrence that I discovered I really loved the doctor."

Love Affairs Troublesome.

Mrs. Blake took part in the conversation at this point.

"My daughter is young," she said, "and love affairs are so troublesome to the young. She could not make up her mind to accept either Mr. Garner or Dr. Wermuth. Her father and I had made up our minds, however. We were sure that our daughter ought to marry the doctor. People down in Ottumwa know perfectly well why Cornelia ought not to marry Mr. Garner. I am sure our daughter is of our mind now."

Miss Blake gazed intently at the tip of her slipper while her mother was making this last observation.

"Yes," she said, "home, sweet home is certainly attractive to me now."

Later Miss Blake talked to a reporter alone.

"I have promised my father," she said, "that I won't talk any more about the matter."

Garner and Miss Blake were sweethearts during their school days at Northwestern university. He became known at this time as the "Rose Buyer." It is said he sent so many roses to the Blakes' apartment that they became an embarrassment and caused Mr. Blake to dislike him.

"DIP" SLIPS CELL FIFTEENTH TIME

James Conway, Member of Pickpocket Trust, Vanishes from Desplaines Station.

HIS BOND REINSTATED?

Municipal Court Clerk Said to Have Acted, but Judge Mahoney Denies Absence.

James Conway, member of the "pickpocket trust," disappeared, apparently into the summer afternoon, yesterday. The last seen of him by the police he was fastened behind iron bars in a cell in the Desplaines street police station.

Judge Mahoney had forfeited his bonds, and the bondsman had brought him into court and surrendered him. He was "taken downstairs," and that is all the police know.

Conway was arrested on Dec. 6 while in the act of picking the pocket of Jacob Kovits, 1816 Hudson avenue. His case has been continued fourteen times, and his bonds have thrice been forfeited. Now he is again at liberty.

"Explanation" Does Not Explain.

The City News bureau sent the following into the office of THE TRIBUNE, which should explain, but does not:

After Judge Mahoney had left his courtroom Conway was taken into court by his lawyer, and he succeeded in having the clerk of the court reinstate his bond.

Judge Mahoney denied this.

"I had not left," he said, "when the bondsman surrendered him. The last I saw of Conway he had been taken into custody. The clerk of the court could not reinstate the bonds. It would be impossible. He might just as well attempt to try a case in court.

Garrett Brennan at the Desplaines street station declared that Conway was not there. Capt. Thomas Meagher said he had placed him there, and he, too, was surprised to hear Conway was out again.

Garrett Brennan looked over the court papers, over the arrest book, and the bond sheet, and raked the station to find out what had become of Conway. There was nothing to show. The man had simply vanished.

Asked About Collusion.

"Who is the court clerk?" a reporter asked Judge Mahoney.

"I don't know his name," was the answer. "He's only been here a week or so—taking the regular clerk's place."

"Do you suspect there was any collusion?"

"No, I don't."

Capt. Meagher was puzzled.

"It's a strange thing and a howling shame," he said, "that pickpockets cannot be prosecuted. "The man was arrested six months ago. Fourteen continuances have been granted to tire out the prosecuting witness. His bonds have been forfeited three times and new bonds issued. This pickpocket trust is making a joke of Chicago."

Tries to Bribe Victim.

"Conway came to me in person several times," said Kovits. "At first he offered me $35 to drop the case, and the last time he raised the bid to $50. I wouldn't have anything to do with him. So he sent Peter Andrews, a member of the Hod Carriers' union, he said, to deal with me.

"I told Andrews what I told Conway, that I would prosecute the man who tried to rob me, if it took fifty continuances."

"PADEREWSKI'S ONLY RIVAL" ESCORTED BACK TO A CELL.

Modest Genius Asks Judge Gemmill for Match and Is Much Vexed by Court's "Disagreeable Questions."

Ellis Solberg of 3010 Calumet avenue, who had been arrested after trying to break the windows of a saloon at Fifty-first street and South Park avenue, told Judge Gemmill he was "only fooling" when he gave his occupation at the police station as a machinist.

"When I play," he told the court, "the people become so enraptured they fall on their knees and beseech me to play longer. I am Paderewski's only rival. With the violin it is the same way. I did not reveal my true identity to the police because I knew they would not appreciate true ability."

Judge Gemmill bowed at the implied compliment but caused the modest pianist much vexation by asking "disagreeable questions."

"You haven't a match about you, have you?" suddenly asked the prisoner at last, drawing a crumpled cigaret from his pocket.

"Give the city physician a chance to examine this man," said the court to the city prosecutor. "That will be all," he added to Solberg. "These two men will show you the way out," pointing to bailiffs.

"You are a true Solomon," replied Solberg. "I knew you would let me go, and if you step outside I will buy you a drink. It will be a great pleasure for me to tell my friends that I was tried and found not guilty by you."

But the bailiffs showed him the way back to a cell.

JANITOR, CARELESS OF BONFIRE, HELD FOR DEATH IN FLAMES.

Confesses Burning Rubbish Near Livery Barn After Linemen Give Authorities a Clew to Work On.

Suspected of responsibility for a fire on Wednesday in a livery stable at 2319 West Madison street, which cost the life of Frank Haufman, Arthur Swarts was arrested yesterday by Detective Van Busen of the fire attorney's office. Later Swarts is said to have confessed he was guilty to Fire Attorney Joseph J. Murray.

Swarts is a janitor in a building near the livery stable. He was arrested after Fire Attorney Murray had talked with E. Bottger and C. W. Johnson, linemen for the Chicago Telephone company.

According to the fire attorney, the linemen saw Swarts burning rubbish in the alley behind the livery barn before the fire started. It was said he neglected to take necessary precautions to prevent the flames of the burning rubbish from communicating to the structure.

Haufman's body was found after firemen had extinguished the fire in the livery barn. He had been trapped near a stairway.

The girl was discharged a year ago, but says she never received all the money due her. Gilmore pleaded the work was done for another firm which shared the office with him.

KEY PROOF UNLOCKS WEDLOCK

Wife Takes It from Husband's Pocket and Discovers Flat.

TRAPS HIM THERE AT NIGHT.

Friend Tells Same Story About Her Spouse, Now Divorced.

Wondering why her husband had failed to come home regularly o' nights, Mrs. Henry T. Cummings found the key to the whole problem in his pocket. She started out to fit the key in its proper door. Using as a basis a telephone number her husband, a doctor, had left with his druggist, she went to a building at 3002 South Park avenue. When she found there the door the key fitted she opened the flat and investigated. No one was at home, but she saw enough to convince her the place was occupied by women.

Then she confided her troubles to one of her friends, Mrs. Maude Case Cleveland, divorced wife of Dr. C. W. Cleveland, an office associate with Cummings.

"That's the same flat where I found my husband," said Mrs. Cleveland, who obtained her decree in June. So she became a witness for Mrs. Cummings yesterday in a suit for divorce before Superior Court Judge McKinley.

How She Caught Husband.

Mrs. Cummings told how she caught her husband in the flat.

"I went one night and knocked. My husband opened the door. I asked him why he had been away for five nights."

"What did he say?" asked her attorney.

"He said he and Dr. Cleveland took their meals there," said Mrs. Cummings. "The woman ran out when I came in.

"I questioned the landlord and he told me the two doctors had rented the place for their sisters. Neither of our husbands has sisters," she said.

"There were different girls there at different times. One was Ina Wilson and another was Claudia Smith." The name of a third girl was not introduced.

Autos Outside All Night.

"How do you know that your husband stayed there?" asked Judge McKinley of Mrs. Cleveland.

"Their automobiles were outside all night several times," was the answer.

Mrs. Cummings asked $25 a week alimony. The judge entered an order for $125 a month. Cummings' offices are at 3019 Indiana avenue.

Burglar Spoils Plans of Howard A. Taft to Have Strawberry Shortcake for His Friday Dinner.

Howard A. Taft returned to his residence at 2734 Mildred avenue yesterday expecting to find dinner on the table and his wife nearby. He had telephoned her in the afternoon that he wanted strawberry shortcake for dessert.

He was surprised when he discovered dinner uncooked and his wife was missing. Presently he heard pounding on a closet door. He unlocked it and Mrs. Taft stepped out.

"A burglar locked me in!" gasped the wife.

"I went out to the grocery to get some things for supper and when I returned I found a burglar in the house. He was an old man with gray hair. His clothing was of the best. Before I could collect my wits he drew a revolver and pointed it at me.

"He then made me get in the closet. I could hear him ransacking trunks and bureau drawers, and after a while I heard him leave."

Mr. and Mrs. Taft made an inventory of the articles taken and placed the value at $150.

BELLBOYS' 'ANGEL' WINDS UP IN CELL

"Millionaire Kid" Career of Gabriel Rosenthal Checked by Arrest as Forger.

ACCUSED BY BLACKSTONE

Makes Record as "Spender" at Plymouth Hotel After Leaving His Wife.

Chicago's latest entry for the "millionaire kid" prize, Gabriel Rosenthal, late of Boston, New York, and other places, reputed Harvard graduate and wealthy, "blew up" yesterday.

A matter of fact hotel keper, who was unable to see the joke in a $50 forgery, turned the police loose on Gabriel's trail and had him locked up.

By the time the attendants at the Plymouth hotel, 4700 Evanston avenue, had ceased to wail at the vanishing of the generous Gabriel, and he was looking over detective headquarters, several other victims had arrived. When they stopped coming the police estimated that the net losses to hotels, restaurants, and automobile companies would reach close to $9,000. Rosenthal said this was too much.

Rosenthal has been dwelling as a bachelor since a month ago, when he had a disagreement with his wife, who was Miss Claire McCain, daughter of Mrs. Kathryn McCain of 700 Oakdale avenue.

"Good Thing" for the Bell Boys.

Last Tuesday he went to the Plymouth hotel and within an hour had the bellboys quarreling as to who should answer the calls from his room. They found him a "good thing" worth cultivating.

Gabriel, who registered as "C. Andrews, Boston," made his first favorable impression when he summoned a boy to his table and asked him to get the cigarets he had left in his room. The boy returned with a box in which only three cigarets remained. Gabriel tossed him a half dollar.

A red headed bellboy beat the others to the next call and was sent downstairs for a full box of cigarets. He got a dollar for that service.

Gabriel tired himself out playing the hotel phonograph and dancing daintily for the amusement of the guests. Then he decided he did not like the music and went out and bought more records, which he gave to the house. The management got to like him almost as well as did the bellboys.

Police Interrupt Program.

The program was roughly interrupted yesterday morning when detectives from the Central station went to his room and ordered him to open the door. He declined, and they broke it down.

According to the police, Gabriel's father was Jacob Rosenthal, a wealthy wool merchant of Boston, who killed himself in a New York hotel about two years ago after hearing of some of his son's escapades. From him Gabriel is supposed to have inherited $50,000, to be paid when he reaches 30, six years hence.

It was the Blackstone hotel that finally caused his arrest on the forgery charge, but there are inquiries for him from New York, Boston, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Oil City, Pa., and South Bend, Ind.

HEADS OFF CAR KIDNAPING.

Druggist Detects Company Agent Posing as Policeman to Get Hold of Victim.

An attempt to use the "kidnap ambulance" on a man run down by a street car near P. A. Schroeder's drug store at 4702 Evanston avenue last night was thwarted by the druggist. A railway agent followed the crowd into the store and told Schroeder he would telephone for the company ambulance.

"No," said the druggist. "I'll take care of him."

"I'm a policeman," said the other. "I'll arrest you both."

Schroeder walked around the counter, opened the door, and pitched the imitation policeman out on the sidewalk. The Town Hall police ambulance arrived about then and took the injured man, Everett Wayne, 5510 Wayne avenue, to his residence.

RAILWAYS BOARD EVADES SEEKERS

Rebellious Stockholders Fail to Obtain Signatures of Five Trustees Needed.

SEEK PROXIES BY MAIL.

Chairman Asserts Names of New Shareholders Will Be Gained by Law.

Leaders of the insurgent stockholders of the Chicago Railways company failed yesterday to get the signatures of the five trustees necessary to get possession of the new list of stockholders.

The insurgents are anxious to get the new list for mailing purposes in their campaign for proxies and members of the Chicago Railways Protective association. Some company officials eluded the insurgents and others refused point blank to sign.

As a result an old list had to be invoked for mailing to the 4,000 stockholders the first official circular of the association. The circular was issued during the day and is the first of a series of statements with which the objectors plan to bombard the stockholders during the next few months.

Two Start Out After Names.

Napoleon Picard, treasurer of the association, and Henry C. Brummel started out to get the signatures of the trustees. The five trustees are A. C. Bartlett, Chauncey Keep, Charles H. Hulburd, Albert A. Sprague, and Charles G. Dawes. After several hours' work the insurgent leaders returned to headquarters in the City Hall Square building and reported.

Mr. Dawes, they said, was out of the city; Henry A. Blair, chairman of the road's board of directors, refused to see them; and Mr. Hulburd told them if he had known they were insurgents he would have refused them admittance to his office. Mr. Hulburd, who is president of the Elgin National Watch company, refused to sign the document calling for the new list.

"That sort of conduct is not going to get them anything," said Joseph Beifeld, chairman of the insurgent committee. "We have been trying to avoid legal proceedings, but if we can't get the new list any other way we shall consult our attorney and take legal steps to get what we, as stockholders, are entitled to under the corporation law."

Circular Asks Proxies.

The circular sent out was signed by Beifeld, Picard, Brummel, J. Milton Oliver, and J. J. Larkin. It is in the nature of an appeal for proxies and members, and reiterates the insurgents' demand that the high officials and the managerial staff of the road be ousted. It says the committee has concluded "the affairs of the company are not well managed and a change in the personnel, not only of its officers but also of its managerial staff, is absolutely imperative."

"The next annual election of the directors will be held Thursday, Oct. 28, 1913. Heretofore these directors were elected by the five trustees, but since August, 1912, the holders of participation certificates series 1, 2, and 3 have the power to elect the directors by a majority vote.

"There are 215,100 of these certificates, and it requires 107,551 votes to elect a majority of directors who, in turn, elect the officers of the company, including the general manager.

"It is to procure this majority that we have undertaken this work, and we want the vote and coöperation of every certificate holder.

"The committee is a voluntary one. None of us receive compensation. Not one of us wants office. We have only one aim, and that is to improve the condition of the company. We are all stockholders and we want dividends on our stock, and do not forget that when we get our dividends, you will get yours."

DENEEN ANSWERS GOV. DUNNE; SAYS STATE GOT ALL INTEREST

Former Executive Asserts He Instituted Practice of Turning Over Income Earned by Funds.

Former Gov. Deneen yesterday replied to the insinuation of Gov. Dunne that interest on public funds had not found its way into the public treasury under the late administration.

"The statement by Gov. Dunne is of such a character as to convey the impression that the payment of interest on public funds had not been required during my administrations," said Mr. Deneen. "Such is not the fact.

"The $40,000 contingent fund of the governor mentioned is the Spanish-American war fund, and the only fund held in the governor's name and subject to his check during my administrations. Originally it was about $120,000. It was an active fund against which about 6,000 checks were drawn for small amounts by me in payment to Spanish-American veterans as provided for by the federal government. The fund drew interest at 2 per cent on daily balances and the $40,412.35 turned over by me to Gov. Dunne contained $5,021.10 which had accumulated as interest on the fund.

"I may add that my administration instituted the policy and practice of requiring all departments to require interest to be paid on daily balances of funds in their custody and control. About $800,000 interest in the aggregate was paid into the state treasury during my administration. I have been informed that about $1,700 interest on public funds had been paid into the state treasury theretofore."

ASKS COURT TO CITE PAPER

Vote Deal Juror Seeks Contempt Citation for Examiner.

CALLS YARN INTIMIDATION.

Denies Clash with Sullivan; Judge Refuses the Plea.

Homer J. Buckley, member of the April grand jury that investigated the $1,000,000 voting machine matter yesterday petitioned Judge Richard E. Burke to cite for contempt the publisher and managing editor of the Chicago Examiner.

Mr. Buckley charges that the Examiner on April 27 had sought to discredit and intimidate the grand jury by publishing a false account of an alleged clash between the juror and Michael F. Sullivan, chief assistant state's attorney, in the jury room.

Judge Burke refused to permit Mr. Buckley to file the petition because the final adjournment of the grand jury had ended Mr. Buckley's right to ask a contempt citation.

This was the explanation of court attachés. Judge Burke said that inasmuch as he had not taken cognizance of the petition he could not discuss it. Mr. Buckley later admitted at his office that he had attempted to file the petition.

Following is the portion of the article to which Mr. Buckley took exception:

"Mr. Sullivan, according to the report, asked Foreman Lewis for the name of the juror who had made the motion [for a special state's attorney] and Mr. Lewis named Buckley. Mr. Sullivan's voice in denunciation of Buckley could be plainly heard on the other side of the jury room's closed door. He was heard to shout at Buckley:

"'This is another of your dirty schemes. You have been resorting to political tricks during the entire investigation.'

"Buckley's voice could not be heard, but the voice of Sullivan was again heard shouting a few red blooded remarks that were not at all complimentary to Buckley."

Mr. Buckley denied that he had an altercation with Mr. Sullivan.

SEEK OPINION OF BANKERS ON CURRENCY REFORM NEEDS.

Thirty Questions, Designed to Cover Whole Field, Will Be Submitted to Experts in Finance.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—Thirty questions designed to bring out the views of bankers and economists about where and how the nation's currency system is at fault and what remedies are needed were laid before the senate banking committee today by Senator Hitchcock.

The list probably will be sent to bankers throughout the country. Answers will be considered with any oral testimony that may be taken in making up the committee report. Here are some of the questions:

"What are the essential defects of our banking and currency system?"

"Should a new system include state as well as national banks?"

"Should there be one central reserve association or a number, and, if the latter, how many?"

"Should a central control of reserve associations be established either by them or by the government, or by both?"

"Should the Aldrich-Vreeland act be extended after its expiration in 1914? If so, should it be amended?"

"Should additional currency be permanent or temporary?"

DEMAND JOB FOR UNION MAN.

Two Labor Leaders Appear Before Dunne with Protest Against Giving Place to Croon.

Springfield, Ill., May 2.—Gov. Dunne was asked today to use his influence in seeing that none except a friend of union labor be permitted to hold the position of superintendent of the proposed new state labor bureau in the event the legislature authorizes the creation of the bureau.

In making known to the governor their wishes in the matter, two conferees registered an objection to John Croon of Rockford, who, it is said, has been slated for the position.

The governor was met by W. B. Porter, publisher of the Rockford Central Labor Union, a labor publication, and E. M. Wilson, also of Rockford, a special labor representative. Both the men said they understood Mr. Croon had been considered as a possible appointee in the event the labor bureau is established and they entered a protest.

STATE ASSEMBLY TO ADJOURN SOON

Program Is to Quit Week of June 10; Not a Law of Major Importance Passed.

RECONVENE ABOUT JULY 1.

Gov. Dunne Will Call Extraordinary Session to Take Up Administration Pledges.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—Without enacting a single law of major importance and proposing to pass no more than the necessary appropriation measures, it is the present program for the Illinois legislature to adjourn sine die during the week beginning June 10.

Gov. Dunne proposes to call the legislature back into extraordinary session, possibly on July 1, and to confront the members with a plan of legislation which will include the important planks of the pending administration list of measures and nothing else.

The adjournment of the two houses today until next Tuesday, following a session at which there was no pretense of a quorum in either branch, was accepted generally as an indication that nothing serious need be expected from the regular session of the general assembly.

No Real Business Done by House.

After four months of work, the house bills number more than 800, and not two dozen of them have reached the house calendar. The senate has passed a bunch of bills, most of which are reposing in house committees. Next week the senate will clear its calendar of all the measures which it expects to hand over to the house.

I. and R. to Come to Test.

The initiative and referendum will come to a test on Tuesday and it seems to have heavy seas ahead of it.

Gov. Dunne is prepared to take the aggressive against the legislature immediately after it is defeated, if it is to be defeated. Substantial notice of this may be served tomorrow by the governor.

REFUSES TO MAKE MITCHELL STATE LABOR COMMISSIONER.

New York Senate Rejects Nomination of Union Leader by Gov. Sulzer—Name Graced Progressive Literature.

Albany, N. Y., May 2.—[Special.]—The state senate today rejected by a party vote Gov. Sulzer's nomination of John Mitchell, the labor union leader, to be state labor commissioner.

Mr. Mitchell's nomination has been before the senate for nearly three weeks. Its rejection was based on grounds purely political. It was stated Mr. Mitchell's name has appeared on Progressive party literature circulated throughout the state.

Gov. Sulzer's nomination of John B. Riley to be state superintendent of prisons also was defeated.

URGES LONG GARBAGE LEASE

Alderman Wants 99 Year Term Before Spending $900,000.

SLOVEN WORK UNCOVERED.

Big Expenditure Planned on Uncertain Land Holding.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

Another feature of slovenly work in connection with the city's garbage question was made clear yesterday.

The subject was under discussion in the council finance committee where the issue has been resting off and on since Dec. 11, 1911. The point was the lease of a site from the sanitary district for a plant at the junction of the main ditch and Forty-sixth avenue.

"How long a lease has been under consideration," asked Ald. Long, a newly appointed member of the committee.

Calls Short Lease Ridiculous.

"Five or ten years," replied City Real Estate Expert Peacock. "We haven't been given any definite instructions."

"That's ridiculous," commented Ald. Long. "Why not get a lease for 99 years?"

"What's that?" asked another alderman.

"It has just been stated the reduction plant will cost $900,000," replied Ald. Long. "We should not think of such a proposition. It is out of all question to consider placing an improvement of $900,000 on land leased for only five or ten years. At the end of that period our plant would be junk."

The Sixth ward alderman made a motion that the city administrative officers be instructed to obtain a lease for ninety-nine years or obtain the fee to the land and report to the committee next Friday.

The committee also took a jab at the administration in another way. The council ordered the commissioner of public works to advertise for bids on March 18. Instead of advertising the department sent a letter to the council last Monday evening asking whether it should advertise in view of certain difficulties over the proposed site.

Bid Advertising Again Ordered.

On motion of Ald. Lawley the committee again directed the commissioner of public works to advertise.

Representatives of that company met the mayor and a subcommittee of the finance committee yesterday. The company wanted a five year extension, subject to a privilege extended to the city to purchase its plant at the end of eighteen months. The mayor is said to be opposed to a five year extensio Another session will be held relative to the same subject next Friday.

Ald. Twigg freely criticised the efficiency bureau for its work in connection with an investigation a couple of months ago of the collection of garbage and ashes. The bureau appeared before the finance committee asking for the establishing of a capital account.

The committee set aside $5,000 as a capital account for the bureau. Twigg and Pitts voted against it.

Sees "Biggest Farce."

"Do you want a capital account to do the work you did last spring?" asked Ald. Twigg.

"That was the biggest farce ever pulled off in any civilized community. Any one with the sense that God gives geese knew in advance everything the efficiency bureau found out. The investigators reported they found a tin can here, a pile of ashes there, and garbage on the ground yonder. Everybody knew that before the investigators started out."

PUTS FRIEDMANN IN QUACK CLASS

Medical Record Censures German Savant for Commercializing His Vaccine.

DOUBTS VALUE OF 'STUFF'

No Proof of Its Efficacy Shown by Official Reports on the Experiments.

New York, May 2.—[Special.]—Today's Medical Record makes a severe attack on Dr. Friedmann, not only for commercializing his vaccine but also on account of the nature of the remedy.

The Record's editorial states that Dr. Friedmann came here for commercial reasons only. It doubts whether the "stuff," as it calls the vaccine, is of value or is innocuous, as Dr. Friedmann has claimed.

The editorial follows:

"The mission of Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann to the United States has been accomplished and our early conjectures as to its purely commercial object are fully confirmed by the announcement of the sale of the American rights to a stock company.

"This scheme of independent institutes, which recalls that of another 'scientist' with commercial instincts, the late Dr. Keeley, has been adopted apparently to nullify the action of the public health service in forbidding the sale of vaccine. As the stuff will be made in each institute and sold there, it will not be carried in interstate commerce, so the federal government cannot interfere.

"When Friedmann first came to New York we thought that he was ill advised, but we were looking at the matter from the side of ethics. We now see, looking at it from an entirely different side, that he has been well advised.

"Whether the purchasers of this secret remedy have been equally well advised time alone will show.

"The results of the New York experiments will hardly warrant an outlay of $125,000 for the Friedmann secret, but the stuff has been widely advertised and moribund consumptives are hopeful and credulous. There have as yet been no official reports on the experiments with the turtle bacilli culture in the hospitals of the city, but it is generally known among medical men, if not among laity, that the results have been not at all satisfactory—except for Dr. Friedmann."

PROF. TAFT IN YALE LECTURE ASSAILS THE NEW POLITICS.

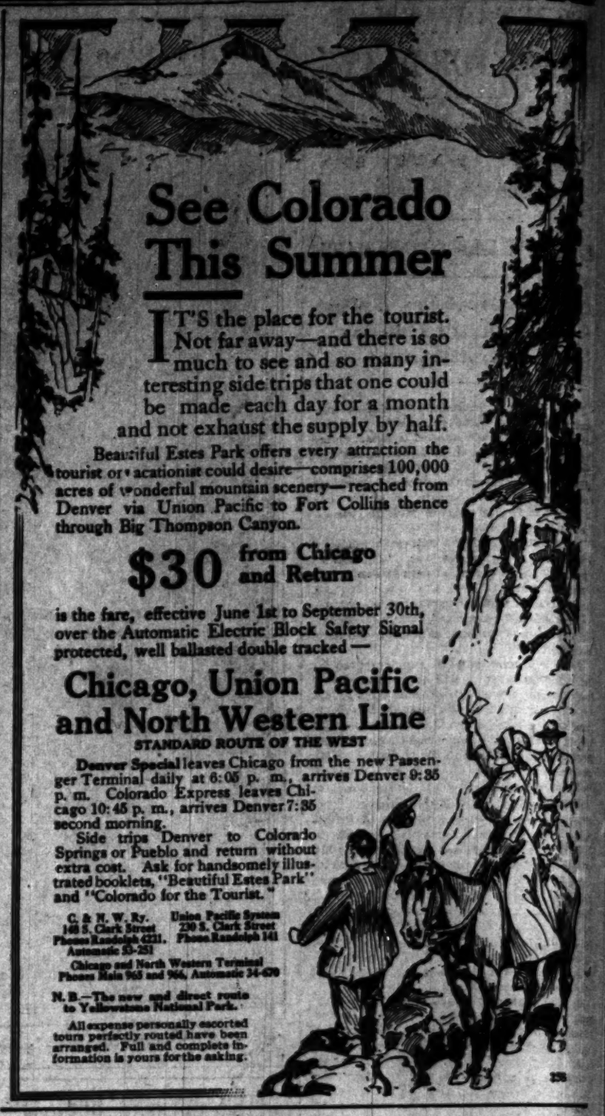

Declares He Cannot Believe It Will Do Away with Fundamental Principles of Our Government.

New Haven, Conn., May 2.—Prof. William Howard Taft gave the first of a series of lectures at Yale today on "Questions of Modern Government."

He declared he did not believe the new school of political thinkers that has sprung up within the last decade will ultimately triumph.

The new school, he said, had attacked the wisdom of our fathers and would reject the fundamental principles of our democratic form of government as embodied in the constitution.

"It may contain some elements of truth and useful principle, leading to some changes and amendments in our laws of a permanent character," he continued, "but that it is going to give a radical change in the structure of our government and do away with the fundamental principles I cannot believe."

POLICE OPEN WAR ON "JACKROLLERS"

Roused Before Time Set for Cleanup by Increase in Desplaines Street Crimes.

FORTY HELD PRISONERS.

Able, but Not Anxious, to Work; One Victim Said to Be Near Death of Injuries.

Capt. Thomas Meagher's announcement of two days ago that there must be a general cleanup of the Desplaines street police district by today was put into operation a few hours early. When the captain got to his desk yesterday he found reports of mysterious assaults—one probably fatal—and robberies in such number—and with no arrests—that he decided on immediate action.

He started at night the active campaign to drive out "jackrollers" held responsible for west side lawlessness of recent weeks. Lieut. Michael Gallery, Sergeant Thomas Ryan, and ten patrolmen were sent through the barrel houses in West Madison street with orders to round up every one who could not explain why he was there.

The men came back with forty prisoners. All appeared able to work, but not particularly desirous of it. They were reminded of the captain's orders that every one in the district must go to work, and were locked up on charges of disorderly conduct. They will be arraigned this morning before Judge Mahoney.

Judge Mahoney's criticism of the police administration which could allow such outrageous assaults and robberies brought about the clean-up order. The police say in the night arrests they caught many of the men probably responsible for the "jackrolling."

Unable to Tell How He Was Hurt.

The man who, it is said, may die from his injuries recovered consciousness for a short time at the county hospital and identified himself as Aaron Schimberg, 1706 Sunnyside avenue, but relapsed to unconsciousness before the attendants could get his story of how his skull was fractured. He was found unconscious in front of Rubin's saloon at 5 South Halsted street.

The saloon attendants say Schimberg was not assaulted there or thrown out forcibly, and say he must have fallen to the pavement from the effect of liquor. The police are not satisfied with the explanation. Another case they are looking up is that of Philip Morrisey, who lives near there. He was found a block away sitting on the curbstone, with his head and face lacerated. He could not remember what had happened except that "the saloon had closed."

Girls' Hugs Cost Another $85.

Fred Fisher, a farmer of Columbus Junction, Ia., said he noticed some boisterous young women back of him caressing him as he sat in a motion picture house at 736 West Madison street. Later he discovered they had taken his wallet and $85. Two others told the station they had been assaulted and robbed of $150 a few blocks away.

Later in the day Mrs. A. Jacobs, 4619 Prairie avenue, reported the loss of $50 and $125 in jewelry from her residence. A window had been pried open, she said.

Smaller loot was that of Benny Goldstein, a waiter in a Thompson restaurant at 22 West Adams street, charged with trying to steal a 25 cent cake from the restaurant. Benny said it was for a sick friend.

Sergt. Fred Comstock of Maxwell street witnessed a holdup from a rapidly moving car, jumped off, and captured a boy, who gave his name as Patrick Gonkel, 1759 West Twelfth street. Gonkel, the sergeant said, already had knocked down his intended victim.

POLICE TRACE TRAIN ROBBER BY HIS BLOODY FOOTPRINTS.

Man Who Held Up Pullman Sleeper and Wounded a Millionaire Injured Seriously by Victim's Bullets.

Kansas City, Mo., May 2.—The police tonight beat through the underbrush along the Missouri river three miles east of the business district, searching for the bandit who robbed a Kansas City Southern train last night and seriously wounded Jesse M. Short, a millionaire mine owner of Joplin, Mo.

The robber is believed to have been wounded in a pistol duel with Short.

J. N. James, a switchman, found bloody footprints that led toward the lowlands. Later Short's empty pocketbook, which had contained $1,000 when taken by the bandit, was found.

Mr. Short has been resting well since the bullets were removed from his shoulder and left leg and his chances for recovery are considered good.

The robber left a trail of blood which enabled the police to follow his tracks until he arrived at the Blue river, almost a mile from the point where he jumped from the train.

FREED OF SLAYING POLICEMAN.

Arthur Reich, Accused of Killing Albert Jones in Barn, Acquitted After Nineteen Hours.

Arthur Reich was acquitted yesterday of the murder of Policeman Albert Jones by a jury in Judge Scanlan's court. Jones was shot and killed in a shed in the rear of 1733 Girard street on Nov. 16, 1912. Reich and a number of other young men had been dispersed by Policeman Jones and his partner, George Gierman, while playing dice, and the policemen followed Reich to the shed, where the killing occurred.

Wait Abandoned by Lonely Mother.

Nurse Alice Malloy

A one month old baby, received at St. Vincent's Orphan asylum yesterday, was the victim of a new method of abandonment by its mother. A woman stepped up to a loop policeman, told a sad tale of having had the baby turned over to her by an unidentified woman, and asked him to take it. She said her name was Mrs. Nellie Williams. She gave a Joliet street address. The police of that city say there is no such street or name.

MEXICAN SHELLS KILL FAMILY

Only Result of Bombardment of Empalme; Rebels Flee.

PLAN ELECTION FOR OCT. 26.

Diaz and Huerta Want Presidency, with De La Barra "Dark Horse."

Nogales, Ariz., May 2.—Insurgent forces evacuated Empalme today, after which the Mexican gunboat Guerrero began shelling the town preliminary to a land movement from Guaymas, where the federal garrison was strongly reinforced yesterday.

The only apparent result of the shelling of the Empalme was the killing of an entire family. No Americans were injured.

Rifle fire late today indicated that the federals had begun a movement in pursuit of the fleeing Constitutionalists, whose hasty exit occasioned the shelling on the part of the federal boat. It was believed that the federal reinforcements recently arriving at Guaymas had begun an advance.

Mexican Election on Oct. 26.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—Election for President of Mexico will be conducted Oct. 26 by the Huerta government, according to advices to the Mexican embassy here today. The report said the date was agreed upon at a conference between Provisional President Huerta, Gen. Felix Diaz, the cabinet, and representatives of all parties in both houses of congress.

Gen. Diaz is now expected to be the leading candidate for the presidency. Many people believe, however, that Gen. Huerta also will enter the race, and it is suggested that Francisco de La Barra, minister for foreign affairs in the provisional government, also may be a candidate.

President of Independent Company Denies Farmers' Charges

SAYS INQUIRY IS WELCOMED.

Insists Concern Is Solvent and a Receiver Not Needed.

W. C. Thompson of 4522 Greenwood avenue, president of the Independent Harvester company of Plano, Ill., against which charges of mismanagement are made in a suit in equity filed on Thursday, issued a statement yesterday.

He asserted that the fault finding comes from only a small percentage of the stockholders and that the largest stockholders have entire confidence in the present officers.

The bill in the United States District court asks that a receiver be appointed and that the officers be forced to make a full accounting of the business of the $10,000,000 corporation.

"It is natural that among so many stockholders there may be differences of opinion as to management," said Mr. Thompson. "A great majority of stockholders express their confidence in the officers and are enthusiastic in their support. We have acquired patents, equipped our factories, are manufacturing agricultural machinery, and are preparing for a large extension of our manufacturing business.

"We welcome the fullest investigation of the affairs of the company, having already received assurances from our largest stockholders of their entire confidence."

Myers, son of the leading banker of Francesville, was also arrested on the same charge. The three men were taken to Chicago today.

Several hundred automobiles attracted from all parts of the city by the red glare in the sky, crowded into neighboring streets until driven out by the police in order to permit fire apparatus to get through.

Losses $100,000.

Losses amounting to $100,000 were caused by fire, smoke, and water in the five story brick building occupied by the Sherman Bros. company, coffee importers, 80-82 East South Water street. The flames spread to the roof of a four story brick building on the north, occupied by the Kewanee Boiler company and the B. Allegretti company, confectioners. The four story building adjoining this to the north also was damaged by water and smoke.

Several Close Escapes.

Members of several engine companies had narrow escapes from injury when flames burst out of the windows at the rear of the Sherman building and enveloped the extension ladders. Chief Seyferlich ordered them down before any of them was injured.

Not until special calls brought two fireboats were the flames gotten under control. The wrecked building was built in 1876 and was one of the landmarks in the South Water street district. The cause of the fire is unknown. An investigation will be made.

DEAD LAWYER'S PAPERS TELL HOW HE LOST TRUST ESTATE.

Confession on Speculations Found with New York Attorney's Effects—Daughter of Countess Loses $140,000.

New York, May 2.—Four months after his death the confession of Walter Mead, an octogenarian lawyer, that he had lost in speculation the entire $140,000 estate of which he was trustee, came to light today.

Based on the confession, which according to documents submitted to the Supreme court was made more than a month before he died, Mrs. Alice Mansfield of London, daughter of Countess Alice Thorn de Ferrussac, obtained a judgment for the amount named against Mead's estate today. The aged lawyer had acted since 1884 as trustee for Mrs. Mansfield and her sister and two brothers.

Mead in his confession said he had hoped to the last that he "might some day be able to earn the entire principal of the fund. That I have been unsuccessful is unfortunate, but it can be ascribed to nothing else at most than errors of judgment."

Problem in Loan Man's Arithmetic.

Frank W. Hill, sued yesterday by Emmett W. Lowry, a printer to whom Hill loaned money, is to be asked to explain how $728.84 plus $227.37 equals $753.36, this being one of the extraordinary arithmetic processes Lowry says he went through. The bill relates the loans and interest paid in the last ten years, and says the printer is now kept from earning money to support his family.

U. S. REGAINS RICH ORE LAND

Colorado Company Surrenders 3,400 Acres as Compromise.

FOUR YEAR FIGHT IS ENDED.

Government Charged Tract Was Filed On as Agricultural Land.

Denver, Colo., May 2.—Coal land involving 3,400 acres and valued at approximately $1,000,000 was surrendered to the United States government today by the Colorado Fuel and Iron company in consideration of the dismissal of a suit involving 5,800 acres owned by the company.

The future entry on the land will be permitted under the regulations and prices recently fixed.

The settlement was arranged through negotiations between United States District Attorney H. E. Kelley, Assistant Attorney General Frederick Maynard, M. D. McEniry, chief of the field service of the general land office, and officials of the private corporation.

Taken as Agricultural Land.

The land, which is located in Las Animas county, originally was taken up as agricultural land by George W. Benedict and Elisha P. Lee. It was filed under the law that permits owners of forest land to return it to the government and receive in return agricultural land. Subsequently the land was turned over to the fuel company.

The government's complaint against the company was that the entrants to the land knew they were getting valuable coal property. The litigation has lasted four years.

Test Taft Oil Land Withdrawal.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—Assistant Attorney General Ernest Knaebel will leave Washington tomorrow for Cheyenne, Wyo., to argue on May 7 a case testing the validity of the sweeping oil land withdrawal of President Taft in 1909. Upon the results of the Cheyenne suit and a similar case filed at Los Angeles, Cal., will depend the government's claim to thousands of acres of oil lands in many western states, valued at millions of dollars.

Senate Looks Into Alaska Cases.

As a result of testimony before the senate territories committee today representatives of the Morgan and Guggenheim interests in Alaska will be asked what they know of alleged threats to retard the development of the territory.

J. E. Ballaine of Seattle testified George W. Perkins told him several years ago that the Morgan interests never would permit the development of Alaskan railways until coal claims there were obtained under government patents. Perkins and others interested in the Morgan or Guggenheim companies will be asked to appear.

WILL TRY TO BUY MONTENEGRO OFF

Powers See Possible Way Out of the Controversy Over Scutari.

TO DECIDE POINT MONDAY

Austria's Future Plans Complete, but They Are Kept Secret by the Ministers.

LONDON, May 2.—No precipitate coercive action against Montenegro by Austria-Hungary is likely, according to information reaching diplomatic circles in London today. The powers, it is believed, will be allowed further opportunity of bringing pressure to bear at Cettinje, the Montenegrin capital.

The council of the joint cabinet of Austria-Hungary in its session at Vienna today, while it discussed the details of the financial and military operations which may possibly be necessary ultimately to force the evacuation of Scutari by the Montenegrin troops will, it is believed here postpone any overt action.

May Buy Off Montenegro.

By the time the ambassadors in London of the European powers come together again on Monday they expect to have evolved a plan for the compensation of King Nicholas for the loss of Scutari. It is thought probable the real compensation offered will be thinly disguised under the description of a rectification of frontiers.

The Vienna correspondent of the Times says he hears from a well informed quarter in the Austrian capital that the ministerial council has decided that military action against Montenegro shall begin Tuesday.

Austria's Plans Made; Secret.

VIENNA, May 2.—At the close of the council of ministers today a note was issued announcing that Count Leopold Von Berchthold, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, had made an exhaustive statement on the political situation and that a discussion followed which showed that "unanimous views prevail with all the ministers as to the course to be adopted in regard to further action in Austria's foreign policy."

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

AMERICA TO CHINA.

Perhaps the fact that Uncle Sam at last has taken notice of the infant Chinese republic and chucked it amiably under the chin will have the effect of making it grow henceforth like the infant Hercules. Perhaps it will not. But in any event the recognition will give almost if not quite as much satisfaction to Americans as to the Chinese leaders. If public opinion had been sought earlier, recognition would have been granted that much earlier.

Peace and trade are our interests in China and in Japan, as everywhere else. We have no other interests, and our statecraft should be based on them and them only. Any diplomacy which permits of other ambitions or complications will not have the support of the American people.

And they join cordially in the greeting expressed for them by the president and wish the Chinese republic long life and its people peace, progress, and prosperity.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

The Record-Herald says THE TRIBUNE has reversed itself with regard to the constitutional amendments.

THE TRIBUNE believes that the state needs a new constitution. It believes that anything less will be merely a stop gap. It believes this will be made more apparent from year to year.

THE TRIBUNE believes that so long as the present constitution remains it would be the wisest thing to make it easier of amendment. That could be done by amending the amending clause to permit the submission of amendments to more than one article by a legislature in one session. The change would give the present document a flexibility it needs.

It will require more argument before the calling of a constitutional convention can be had. The amendment to the amending clause is not progressing at Springfield.

The contest in the legislature at the present time is between the supporters of the initiative and referendum and the supporters of the tax amendment. THE TRIBUNE believes the legislature should submit the amendment for the initiative and referendum rather than the tax amendment. THE TRIBUNE is in favor of the tax amendment but not as a substitute for the initiative and referendum.

A constitutional convention would do the work thoroughly. An amendment to the amending clause would hasten the day when all the proposed and now conflicting amendments could be adopted. But if the issue is to be narrowed down to the initiative and referendum and the tax amendment, if one of the two and no other is to be obtained, THE TRIBUNE supports the former.

This was the position taken by THE TRIBUNE when the legislature went into session and it is the position taken by THE TRIBUNE now.

PRESS CENSORSHIP.

The commissioners of the District of Columbia have been considering a bill introduced by Senator Works of California for the censorship of the press. They have come to the conclusion that such a law is inavisable, basing this judgment on the consideration that "the publicity given by the press generally tends to lessen evil conditions and thus renders a useful service to the public," and "that dread of publicity has a deterrent influence upon those disposed or tempted to the committing of crime may reasonably be inferred from the fact that most offenders against the law earnestly seek to avoid exposure of the circumstances of their misbehavior in newspaper reports of their trials."

That a solemn official utterance of these truths should be deemed necessary at this time is enough to make one rub one's eyes and wonder if we are in the twentieth or the seventeenth century. Yet the utterance is justified by the introduction of a censorship measure in congress, and that appearance is easily accounted for if not justified by the abuses of publicity perpetrated by irresponsible newspapers.

What conscientious legislators and the public have to remember, however, is that the freedom of the press is not to be curtailed save at the imminent danger of free government. Free thought and free expression are the foundation of all liberty, and in no country whose press is not free are the people free from oppression. No fight in the history of Anglo-Saxon free government was more necessary than the fight for a free press, and if the American people wish to retain liberty and insure democratic progress they will not surrender or weaken what is, in spite of its defects, of its abuses, their chief defender.

The best correction and the safest for most of the evils which have accompanied the benefits of a free press is public opinion. Legislation may be resorted to safely to penalize the publication of fraudulent matter such as quack advertisements. It properly may take the form of a well considered libel law. But it is unquestionably reactionary and dangerous to hamper the freest report and discussion.

Every unfaithful public servant, every malefactor, every wasteful official, every predatory politician, every interest profiting by injustice or oppression will favor press censorship in any form. But the public at large has only one interest and one security in the matter, and that is to make certain that the streams of publicity are not dammed or diverted. Compared to the evil publicity involves the good is as a mountain range to a mole hill.

GIVE THE PUBLIC SOMETHING.

Chicago got nothing when the consolidation of the elevated railroads took shape in the hands of financiers. That pie was baked and the city neither put a finger in the dough nor broke off a piece of the crust.

To somewhat plaintive and anxious inquiries as to "what the city was going to get," the "L" men said nothing, which was perfectly in keeping with what the city did get. The silence of the financiers was a precise indication of the public benefits.

It is about time to have if not more conversation from the elevated railroad men at least more benefits to the city. The elevated roads of Chicago are ONE ROAD. It is time they were operated as such. If a passenger boards a surface car at Devon and Evanston avenues he may ride south to Fifty-fifth street without change of car or payment of another nickel.

He travels over the lines of two street car systems, but he pays one nickel and he is carried in one car. If he climbs forty steps to the Northwestern elevated and travels to the south side he pays two nickels and changes cars on the union loop. He uses the cars of what, in fact, is ONE COMPANY, and he pays two fares and changes cars.

If this discrimination were not bad enough, the even less tolerable result is waste of time. A small proportion of the passengers daily want to go from one division of the city to another, but they all want comfort and less delay in getting from home to work and from work home. They will get much delay and no comfort so long as one company operates as four.

CHEAP DEMAGOGY.

That considerate statesman, the Hon. Barratt O'Hara, has given another specimen of his ripe reason in declaring that he "proposes to state everywhere" that the profits of Marshall Field & Co. are $17,000,000 a year "until it has been successfully contradicted by the trustees."

What Mr. O'Hara states publicly or privately is becoming of less and less importance, but that the lieutenant governorship of the great commonwealth of Illinois should have fallen into the hands of one who is capable of the irresponsible demagogy resorted to in the O'Hara speech is a matter of public shame and concern.

O'Hara has discredited a public investigation which if seriously, intelligently, and fairly conducted would have accomplished substantial good to the workers of the state. When he sheds rhetorical tears over "the little women of Illinois" he is not thinking of "the little women," but of little Barratt O'Hara.

THE CURRAN COURT BILL.

House bill No. 161 introduced by Representative Curran is a simple measure to increase the efficiency of the Circuit and Superior courts of Cook county.

It is an incontrovertible fact that our courts do not measure up to the standards of other states and of England.

The proponents of this bill believe that the inefficiency of these courts is due to a lack of system.

The Curran bill is a step in the right direction.

It is to be hoped now that the courts are receiving so much public criticism that this step to improve their work will receive the approval of the bench and will be adopted by the legislature.

RIGHT in Kansas City, too!

THE "lone bandit" may be something of a chestnut, but he continues to be a train chestnut.

A CALIFORNIA audience listens coldly to Mr. Bryan, and a New Jersey audience hisses the distinguished Jerseyman now officiating as president of the United States. Wh——er are we dr——ing?

HIRAM JOHNSON, says the New York Herald, is not the first bush leaguer who has made a mess of it by trying to break into the big league game. Why this covert attempt to poke fun at the lieutenant governor of Illinois?

IT appears that upon occasion the glorious spring month of May can be fully as pleasant as July.

THAT alien land bill is to be "softened," it seems, by permitting aliens who are ineligible to citizenship to lease farming lands in California for a period "not exceeding three years." This, you see, will not be a "hardship."

THE people of the state of New York are finding out, through their legislature, that they do not want direct primaries half as badly as they thought they did.

WHAT is the use of being a Lorimer Democrat if it doesn't get you anything?

IN A MINOR KEY.

Not Denying It.

"It strikes me, waiter, you do a great deal of talking."

"Yes, sir; that is what chiefly distinguishes me, sir, from the conventional dumb waiter, of which you may have heard."

Quietly Indorsing It.

"We need to get together oftener, my friends," exclaimed the eloquent lecturer, "and to greet one another with a heartier handclasp!"

Archey's fingers closed more firmly over Della's soft, warm, slender hand, as the two sat together in a corner, but he said nothing, and his gaze did not wander from the face of the speaker.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

FOR the treatment of infantile paralysis, the upper extremities, upper arm and shoulder muscles, Dr. Wright recommends the following exercises:

Shoulder region:

1. The patient lies on his back with the arm at the side and shrugs the shoulders, bringing them as nearly up to the ears as possible.

a. With the assistance of the physician, who grasps the patient's arm above the elbow and uses it as a lever to raise the shoulder while the patient aids the movement by trying to contract the muscles.

b. Without outside help.

c. With resistance from the physician, who pushes down on the point of the shoulder with one hand.

2. The patient sits erect with the arm hanging at the side and raises the shoulder as high as possible.

a. With the resistance of gravity alone.

b. With the added resistance of the physician's hand pressing down on the point of the shoulder.

Upper arm:

1. The patient lies on his back with the arm at the side and moves it sideways upward along the table until it stretches above his head.

a. With assistance under the elbows.

b. Without outside help.

c. With resistance above the elbows.

2. The patient sits erect with the arm at the side and raises it straight sideways until it is stretched vertically above his head.

a. With the resistance of the weight of the arm.

b. With the added resistance of the physician's hand pushing down just above the elbow.

Forearm:

1. The patient sits with the inner side of the whole arm resting on the table and bends the elbow by sliding the forearm along the surface of the table.

a. With assistance on the back of the wrist.

b. By unaided contraction of the muscles.

c. With resistance on the front of the wrist.

2. The patient sits with the elbow resting on a cushion and raises the forearm until the hand touches the shoulder.

a. With the resistance of gravity alone.

b. With added resistance on the front of the wrist.

Other positions than those above referred to can be worked out for the special parts and the muscles exercised after the same general plan. The main thing, when practicing the exercises, is to see to it that the patient does not cheat himself and that he does the actual work. The exercises should be gone through with at least once each day.

HAS CREAKING JOINTS.

W. B. R. writes: "Can you suggest anything that will be beneficial to a man aged 23 whose bones frequently crack? There is no pain and the bones that crack most are those of the hands and legs. Does it denote something lacking? If so, how can this be supplied?"

REPLY.

My guess is that by bones cracking you mean that you hear a grating sound in certain joints. If so, you have a subacute inflammation in your joints. Nine times out of ten such joints are efficient enough for the work of the day. They would not make a runner or jumper, but they do well enough for ordinary service. Nine times out of ten such joints do not get bad enough to cripple. They go on creaking for years.

In an occasional case the fingers inside the joint will thicken up, and a piece will break off, causing a loose body in the joint. Sometimes this discommodes one enough to require removal.

The condition does not indicate something lacking. Rather it indicates too much something—too much food, too much of a mild infection long continued.

Some day men will go through youth and adult life in perfect condition; teeth, tonsils, and noses free from infection always, never any constipation, never sick, muscles always fit. In that day these creaking joints will be unheard of.

TREATMENT FOR TAPEWORM.

C. E. W. writes: "Do you know of any doctor or institution specializing in treatment for tape worm?"

REPLY.

The old tapeworm fakers have quit business in this part of the country. They prospered on substituted worms and on pretensions that remnants of food were segments of worms. Go to any reputable physician, dispensary, or hospital. If you have tapeworm they can tell you after a few days of observation. A few days of treatment (according to well established methods), properly carried out, will cause the expulsion of the worm.

CAUSE OF STYES.

X. Y. Z. writes: "Kindly tell me what is the cause of a stye. I have been told that it is the result of an impure condition of the blood. What is the best cure?"

REPLY.

Styes result from infection of the edge of the lids by pus germs. So-called impurities in the blood have no relation to them. See that your lids are kept clean; see that loose lashes are pulled out; see that you do not suffer from eyestrain. When the stye is ready have it lanced and cleaned up.

TROUBLED WITH INSOMNIA.

R. T. C. writes: "I am 47 years of age, in fairly good health, although nervous from constant care and worry. I neither smoke nor drink, but I do not sleep at night. I occupy a cot with a rather hard mattress. Do you think this has anything to do with it? Will drinking cold milk before retiring keep me awake? What can I do to induce refreshing sleep?"

REPLY.

1. If it makes you ache enough to awaken you, it has something to do with it. An uncomfortable bed is a factor in poor sleeping.

2. No, unless it produces sour stomach. Most people sleep better after eating lightly. Meals that produce indigestion cause insomnia.

3. Go to bed with your mind at rest. Nothing else is of material value.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1913: By the Brentwood Company.]

PRINCESS LOUISE of Belgium and her sister, ex-Crown Princess Stephanie, have lately formed a joint stock company for the exploitation of a vast tract of land of which they have obtained a concession in the Majumbu district on the Lower Congo.

The company has been floated at Antwerp, and among the principal associates of the princesses and largest stockholders are the Duke of Ursel, the great Belgian ironmaster, Solvay, and a man of the name of Stephen Thibaut, who has already achieved note by his success in the exploitation of concessions in what was formerly the Congo Free state, but which is now the Belgian African empire. The capital of the new company is registered as $400,000.

The Duke of Ursel includes among his numerous other titles that of Baron of Hoboken, which has belonged to his family for the last 400 years, and which is taken from the castle of Hoboken in the province of Brabant.

He is burgomaster of the town of Hingene, in the neighborhood of which his principal country seat is situated, and his father will be remembered as having occupied for many years the presidency of the Belgian senate.

He is about 40 years of age, is married to a daughter of the Comte de Franqueville of the celebrated Château de la Muette in Paris, and is one of the principal figures at the Belgian court, as well as a personal friend and crony of King Albert.

This, taken in conjunction with the fact that the Belgian crown has been willing to grant a concession to the company formed by the two princesses, would seem to indicate that King Albert is disposed to favor the West African enterprise of his two cousins.

Perhaps he hopes thereby gradually to induce them to abandon their determination to institute legal proceedings in the courts of Germany, France, England, Austria, and Hungary for the recovery of whatever property their father, the late King Leopold, may have had in these countries, on the ground that he had no right to alienate it from them. True, they have been turned down by the last court of appeal in Belgium, but, according to Princess Louise and to her sister, this is only the beginning of a whole series of lawsuits.

That in the French courts may quite possibly prove successful. It must not be forgotten that Raymond Poincaré, now president of the French republic; Viviani, former minister of justice, and other equally eminent members of the French bar, have been counsel for the two princesses and have advised them in all the legal steps which they have taken, convinced of the justice of their claims.

The consensus of opinion, indeed, is that the princesses have been unfairly treated, but they would have received a good deal more sympathy on the part of the public if they had consented to accept the handsome compromise offered them as recently as a few weeks ago by the Belgian government, as well as the previous offers of the same kind which had been made by the state, for the sake of averting the revelation to the public in the courts of law of all the scandalous phases of the life of their father, the late King Leopold.

In England they have already recovered a considerable sum through the courts.

The Sir John Shelley, who arrived in New York on Monday last from Europe en route to St. Louis to attend the wedding there of his kinsman, Sir Wilfred Peek, to Miss Edwina Thornburgh of that city on Wednesday next, must not be confounded with his distant kinsman and namesake, Sir John Courtown Shelley of Avington Park, Hants.

It is to the latter's line that Percy Bysshe Shelley, the celebrated poet, belonged, and much of its wealth is due to the marriage of one of its members of the name of Timothy to an enormously wealthy New York widow of the name of Mrs. Johanna Plum in the eighteenth century.

The Sir John Shelley who is now in this country with his only daughter, Miss Constance Shelley, makes his home at Shobrooke Park, in Devonshire, is the chief of the entire family and holds one of the oldest baronetcies, which was created as far back as 1611, when it was bestowed by James I. upon Sir John Shelley, a county magnate of Sussex.

The family, however, originally hailed from Kent, where Thomas Shelley, lord of the manor of Shelley, flourished in the reign of Edward I. and Edward II.

The manor of Shelley passed out of the possession of the family through purchase as far back as the sixteenth century, and, for hundreds of years afterwards, the senior line of the house made its home in Sussex, until the father of the present and ninth baronet transferred his headquarters to Devonshire, where he spent the whole of his married life as rector of the parish of Beerferris.

Sir John is allied by marriage to many of the oldest families of Devonshire, including the Northcotes, the Palks, etc.

The junior branch of the Shelleys descends from a younger son of John Shelley, who flourished in Sussex in the early part of the fifteenth century, and it is from this younger son, too, that the present Lord de L'Isle and Dudley is descended in the male line, for, although his patronymic today is Sidney, his only connection with the Sidney family is through the marriage of Sir John Shelley of Penshurst place, in Kent, to the heiress of the Sidneys in 1769.

The present head of the junior line of Shelleys—that is to say, Sir John Courtown Shelley of Avington Park, Hampshire—has taken a conspicuous part in the promotion of aviation, or did so, until his wife's brother, Charles S. Rolls, was killed in his presence about three years ago in such a shocking fashion at an aviation meeting near Hastings.

He is indebted for his possession of the baronetcy and the estates to the fact that the poet Shelley's son by his marriage with Mary Wollstonecraft, author of "Frankenstein," left no children.

The title and property therefore went to the sons of the poet's younger brother, John Shelley, one of whom was the father of the present baronet of Avington Park.

In this connection it may be mentioned that there has lately been published in Berlin an autograph letter of the poet Heine, in which he relates that the death of the poet, Percy Bysshe Shelley, in July, 1822, in the Gulf of Spezia, was not due to accident, to storm, or tempest, but to murder and robbery by some Leghorn fisherman.

This latter confirms the deathbed confession of an aged seaman at Gombo, in 1873, to the effect that he was one of the crew of the felucca that had purposely run down Shelley's schooner, had robbed Shelley, and had helped to murder both him and his companion.

Moreover, Miss Trelawney, who now lives in Rome, secured some years ago several relics of Shelley, which she purchased from Leghorn fishermen, whose possession thereof can only be explained by the fact that they constituted part of the booty of the crime in question.

Through the death of his elder brother, the Hon. Somerled Macdonald, Capt. the Hon. Godfrey Macdonald of the Scots Guards becomes next heir to the Macdonald peerage, which is an Irish one, but not to the old Macdonald baronetcy, nor to the chieftainship of the Clan Macdonald, which was held by the present Lord Macdonald until three years ago.

These were surrendered by him to Alexander Bosville, on the latter being able to prove in the Scottish courts that his grandfather, who had been until then regarded as illegitimate, had, on the contrary, been legitimized.

Beating Time to Nothing.

Comes an air half-heard and faintly,
Floating down in snatches quaintly;
Vaguely sounding, often broken, from some distant, unseen shore.
And the half-caught, breathing rime
Sets my soul to beating time,
Throbbing to the chanted measures of the lyric bards of yore—
To the bards who sing forever on the fair Elysian shore.

There it comes but to elude me,
And its cadences delude me
Into thinking there is meaning where is only music's sound.
How it baffles all expression
While it leaves a fond impression
That a wondrous song celestial has enwrapt my soul around—
That a peerless song immortal doth my waiting soul surround.

Tho' I know that I am beating
Time to nothing and repeating
Tuneful, riming words and phrases which no proper meaning bear,
Yet I gather inspiration
From this nebulous creation
That comes floating downward to me; floating from I know not where—Chiming bells and chanted numbers floating from I know not where.

"Nor Hell a Fury Like a Woman Scorned."

Editor Omaha Daily News:

I will tell you my experience with a fellow I had. We got acquainted and we went to the show three times a week. That cost 60 cents for both of us, and he never bought me any bonbons or gum or anything. Pretty soon he was through working and went home and came to see me about once every two weeks. His carfare was 80 cents down and 80 cents back. When he got here he would stay one or two weeks, and in all that time he never bought one bit of candy or anything, but would always tell me how much money he was worth. He said he was worth $30,000, but he never showed it, for whenever I bought any gum I always gave him a package and he never got next to himself. One time he was going home and didn't have the price, for he said he didn't bring but $1 with him, and I loaned him $5. That's the way a man is. Pretty soon Christmas came and he came to spend Christmas with me and he didn't even bring me a Christmas present. I gave him an $8 set of brushes and he never bought me anything. And he was telling us how much a week he made. He said he made $30, but I don't believe he made 30 cents, for he never had $10 in his life. So that is the way a man treats his girl. That is a fine way. When a fellow goes with a girl he ought to buy her bonbons every night and take her to all the shows and give her a big auto ride on Sunday. When they make a lot of money they oughtn't to be so tight. When a fellow is so tight as to borrow $5 from his girl, I don't think he has any manners.

Well, I think I had my experience with a man, as I never want them to trouble me again.

IMPERFECT WIRING REPLACED.

Chicago, April 24.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Have been an interested reader of your column for some time, and now wish to avail myself of its aid in securing some information. I am the owner of the building at the northeast corner of Root and Halsted streets, and a few weeks ago the present occupant of the corner store, 4127 South Halsted street, sublet the basement premises on the corner for restaurant purposes. The proprietor of the restaurant installed some electric wiring which does not appear to me to comply with the regulations of the city. I telephoned the city's electrical inspection department several times regarding this wiring, requesting an inspection, with the result that the current was shut off one day, but turned on again the next. For the protection of the building and the other tenants, would like to know that this wiring complies with the city regulations. Anything that you can do in this matter will be greatly appreciated by

MRS. M. L.

About March 24 this department received a notice over the telephone relative to defective electrical work in the premises at 4127 South Halsted street. An inspection was made on March 25, the work found defective, and the customary time given for repairs. April 9 the inspector found that the repairs had not been made, and, in accordance with the provisions of the ordinance, forty-eight hours' time was given to make changes.

At the expiration of this time, no attempt having been made to place the work in standard condition, the current was cut off.

April 15 material had been delivered at the premises and men were at work changing the wiring and permission was then given for the use of current.

The inspector has been in constant touch with the work and states that it will be complete in two or three days.

LIGHTS IN SUBWAYS.

Chicago, April 22.—[To the Friend of the People.]—You seem to have a faculty for getting things done. Will you kindly see what you can do for us? The South Robey street subway under the Chicago and Northwestern and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroads, between West Fourteenth and Seventeenth streets, is in darkness. This is one of the largest and darkest subways in the city. A new lighting system of about 200 lamps was installed last fall and today nearly all the lamps are out; the east foot passage with forty-eight lamps has seven lights burning; the west passage has only one lamp out of forty-eight burning. There seems to be no inspection here, as after installing the system there seems to have been no further attention paid to it.

MANY EMPLOYES.

I will state that on April 23 sixty incandescent lamps were replaced and on the 24th sixty-four lamps were replaced in this subway. About three-fourths of the lamps which had to be replaced were broken by boys, the balance having been burned out.

This department inspects these subways regularly and as often as it is practicable, but it is impossible to give continuous service in these localities where the breakage is high. The police department has been notified to investigate such local conditions as have been found to exist and it is hoped that these breakages will be lessened in the future.

Chicago, April 29.—[To the Friend of the People.]—On Sixty-third street near Princeton avenue, on the south side of the street, are a number of stores. One of the stores has a horse that stands on the sidewalk. The walk is about ten feet wide and passers-by are forced to walk near the stores, making a crowded space in the mornings and evenings. A good many patrons of these stores discontinued buying because of having to pass this horse.

CHARGES FOR ELECTRICITY.

Chicago, April 30.—To the Friend of the People.]—Can you inform me as to the maximum and minimum rates for electric light service in churches with a seating capacity of about 900 and using on an average about eighty kilowatt hours per month?

I understand that in residences there is a maximum rate, and after a consumption of thirty kilowatt hours there is a minimum rate. Is this correct, and what are the rates? Is there a city ordinance governing the rates for churches and residences?

GEO. A. MEYER,
2430 South Clifton Park avenue.

The charges for electric current are specified by city ordinance, no distinction being made between rates for churches and residences.

The ordinance provides for a maximum rate of 11 cents per kilowatt hour and a minimum rate of 6 cents per kilowatt hour. A discount of 1 cent per kilowatt hour is allowed for prompt payment, making a net rate of 10 cents for the maximum and 5 cents for the minimum.

The maximum rate is based on one hour's use per day for thirty days per month of the maximum kilowatts used during this period. For example, ten 50 watt lamps burning at one time require 500 watts, or one-half kilowatt. For thirty days' time this amounts to fifteen kilowatts to be charged at the full rate.

GARFIELD PARK SWIMMING POOL.

Chicago, May 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—It seems to me that Garfield park is more in need of a gymnasium and swimming pool than to build an amphitheater, which I see they are thinking of building. There is a large piece of ground near the flower house north of Lake street that would be fine for a gym. Douglas has one. Why not Garfield? The population certainly is large enough in this locality and I think it would be appreciated by the public far more than an amphitheater.

JOHN WILSON.

The contract for the swimming pool and natatorium in Garfield park was awarded April 23. Regarding the building of the amphitheater in Garfield park, this matter was presented to the board of West Chicago park commissioners and referred to a committee, but up to the present time no action has been taken.

Work of Hague Tribunal.

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—Prof. William I. Hull of Swarthmore college spoke before the fourth American peace congress today on "The Hague Tribunal: Its Present Meaning and Its Future Promise."

He compared The Hague tribunal, as the supreme court of the family of forty-six nations, to the Supreme court of the United States, which adjudicates disputes of the forty-eight states in the union.

"The Hague tribunal can never be, of course, supreme of itself," he said. "Its right to existence, as well as its charter of liberties, arises from the international convention which has established it, and back of the international convention lies the will of the nations.

"The institutions already established are, first, the international prize court, which was agreed upon in The Hague conference of 1907 by the representatives of thirty-one out of forty-four powers, and which has been ratified by twelve of these thirty-one powers, but which is not destined to be put in operation except in time of war.

"Second is the permanent court of arbitration, which was agreed upon in The Hague conference of 1899, and which has been ratified by every member of the family of nations.

"This permanent court of arbitration consists of judges appointed by the various powers, not more than four judges appointed by each power. It is provided with an administrative council, composed of the diplomatic representatives accredited to The Hague, and an international bureau, designed to facilitate a resort to the court.

"It is urged that side by side with the permanent court of arbitration there should be a court of arbitral justice. This was agreed upon at The Hague conference of 1907, but it was not constituted because of the demand that each of forty-five nations shall appoint one judge to a bench which, it is universally admitted, should not have more than fifteen judges. This court, it is claimed, can be composed of judges who shall reside in or near The Hague and be always ready to try a case.

"We have caught a vision beyond the permanent court of arbitration and the court of arbitral justice, of a third Hague tribunal, which shall possess all the strength and none of the weaknesses of its predecessors.

"This Supreme Court of the United States of the World shall have all the permanence, all the power, and all the judicially representative character which have made the Supreme court of the United States of America illustrious. It shall possess as broad and complete a jurisdiction within its domain of law as does its American prototype, and by the adjudication of all disputes between nations it shall forever banish international warfare from the real of men.

"It shall be a truly judicial tribunal, striving towards and evermore approximating ideal justice.

"To attain this destiny its judges must cease to be representative of the nations who are suitors before the court and must become truly representative of the family of nations, by whom the court is created and for whole life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness it is destined to labor."

INCREASING THE "L" CAPACITY.

Chicago, May 1.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I have watched with interest your attitude on the transportation question and it was with great pleasure that I read your article of today showing that the present "L" system must be improved. I merely wish to say that I consider your criticism of present conditions conservative and mild.

The Cook county real estate board in its report on the transportation problem shows that by through routing and a system of nonloop connections the capacity of the "L" roads can be tripled. The "L" companies themselves in an "ad" in a morning paper of March 28, 1913, declare that with the aid of a subway their capacity can be changed from 989 cars per hour to 3,312. And what can be done underground can surely be done above ground.

Let these reforms be carried out, thus not giving us an opportunity to say that conditions are purposely made intolerable so that the people will be in the frame of mind to demand subways without considering that great changes can be made on the present system. Here's hoping that your agitation may bear results.

President Moves Cautiously in Making Appointments, but Shakeups Are Due.

BUREAUS FACE INQUIRIES

Secretary Lane Investigates the Reclamation Service; Land Office to Come Next.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—While the administration is moving cautiously in the matter of appointments, shake-ups in various bureaus of the government may be expected within a short time.

Greater efficiency is declared to be the principle guiding the president and his supporters. Partisans and incapables are to go and their places will be taken by Democrats whose ability to discharge the duties of the offices to which they will be named cannot be questioned. What is more important, with the appointment of new men will be inaugurated essentially Democratic policies which are expected to improve the administration of the government as a whole.

As an example of the care with which President Wilson and his cabinet are moving, both in the matter of appointments and of policies, the inquiry Secretary Lane is conducting into the reclamation service is in point.

Investigating Land Reclamation.

For almost two months Mr. Lane has been investigating the conduct of the reclamation office in Washington. Before determining whether the course it has pursued was right or wrong and making changes in the personnel, he decided to ascertain the effect of such policies upon the people actually working the reclaimed land. Today he listened to the views expressed by more than 100 representatives of the water users' association in the west and senators and representatives of the states interested.

The secretary explained to the conference that he wanted every delegate to talk straight from the shoulder, to say what he really thought, and to criticise all he desired. He gave assurances that no man's interests nor the interests of any association of water users would be jeopardized in the least by frankness.

Want Private Capital for Work.

Some of the delegates declared they had never seen nor heard of anything savoring of dishonesty in the reclamation service, but they contended that certain parts of the work could be done more cheaply by private individuals than by the government.

Mr. Lane is seeking to ascertain what changes are advisable in the laws governing the use of water, payments for water rights, and the regulations established by the interior department with reference to irrigation projects.

After the secretary has completed his investigation of the reclamation service he will turn to the land office and inquire thoroughly into the operations of that important branch of the government. He will pursue the same policy with reference to the Indian service. It is expected he and Secretary of Agriculture Houston will investigate jointly the conduct of the forestry service.

Reforms to Follow Investigation.

The information which will be personally gathered through these inquiries unquestionably will be of real value and lead to reforms.

The administration is in full sympathy with the purpose of the senate civil service committee to investigate the administration of the civil service. Both Republicans and Democrats realize there have been many abuses practiced in connection with the civil service, and that the laws governing it have numerous loopholes which permit evasion.

During the last campaign the attention of President Taft was called to a number of officeholders who were guilty of "pernicious activity" in his behalf, but he failed to take any action. Considerable blame is attached to the conduct of the commission, whether rightly or wrongly an investigation will disclose. The chairman of the commission is Gen. John C. Black of Chicago.

Gen. Black Courts an Inquiry.

Gen. Black favors an investigation, asserting it would show that the law has been rigidly and impartially observed and enforced, so far as he and his fellow commissioners are concerned.

It is alleged that as soon as a Republican or a Democrat obtains an office, whether he is under civil service or not, he frequently becomes, to quote Senator Overman of North Carolina, "the meanest kind of a partisan."

Thomas O'Hara, a customs guard at New York, wrote a letter to Senator O'Gorman, in which he declared favoritism and pull are requisite for promotion. He charged that day and night inspectors were demoted by the wholesale, and as their successors 250 laborers, who never passed a civil service examination, but were more or less active Republicans, the majority being district captains, were appointed.

KEEPS TARIFF BILL INTACT

Majority in House Votes Down All Amendments Offered.

MANN AND THOMAS CLASH.

Chicagoan Answers Remark About Whiskers with Joke on Whiskies.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—The Democratic majority went ahead with tariff revision in the house today without a hitch. There were innumerable amendments emanating from the minority, but they were voted down with regularity.

The discussion opened with citrus fruits, in the agricultural schedule, the Pacific coast growers waging an unsuccessful fight against cutting of the tariff on lemons, figs, raisins, and dried grapes, and other coast products. Efforts to increase the proposed duty on peanuts to give better protection to the Virginia industry also fell through. The schedule covering spirits, wines, and other beverages went through without dissent, but considerable fight was made by the representatives of textile districts when the cotton schedule was reached.

Bitter Personal Disputes.

Many of the speeches really dealt with the paragraphs of the tariff under consideration, but general politics and partisan personalities featured the debate. Representative Thomas of Kentucky had a few things to say about the Republicans personally, and the debate for a moment promised interesting developments when Republican Leader Mann, stung by Mr. Thomas' reference to him as the bewhiskered gentleman from Illinois, retorted that while he was true he was "bewhiskered," at least he was not "bewhiskied."

Representative Thomas called the Progressive party a "patent medicine advertisement scheme," and criticised Representative Payne of New York.

Heavy Tax Upon People.

Representative Heflin of Alabama said the public did not realize that the real tax on the American people under the present tariff law was $2,400,000,000 instead of $300,000,000 of revenue tax, and arraigned the Republican claim that the law protected the American farmer and laborer.

Representatives Palmer of Pennsylvania, Peters of Massachusetts, and Kitchin of North Carolina for the ways and means committee defended the cotton schedule. Mr. Palmer said that against the $1,500,000,000 worth of products covered by this schedule that are produced in the United States the imports of the same class of goods aggregated a little more than $24,000,000.

Representative Mann said the Republicans would offer a motion to recommit the bill to the ways and means committee with directions to conform to the findings of the tariff board.

M'ADOO DEMANDS HIGH CLASS MEN

More than Political Pull Necessary to Land Different Collectorships.

INCOME TAX LAW CAUSE.

Fear of Scandal Forces Secretary of Treasury to Impress His Views on Senators.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—On account of the added responsibility of administering the income tax law internal revenue collectors under the Wilson administration will be required to measure up to a higher standard than hitherto has prevailed. This was the announcement made today by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo to several senators and congressmen who called to indorse various candidates for collectorships in different parts of the country.

The success of the income tax will depend wholly, Mr. McAdoo says, upon the strictness, impartiality, and probity of the enforcement of the law by the individual collectors. That there will be wholesale attempts to evade the statute is a foregone conclusion.

Hope to Avoid Scandals.

"Unless such a policy is adopted and adhered to strictly," McAdoo said, "we shall open the way to scandals beside which the corruption of the whisky ring will pale into insignificance."

One of the senators to whom the secretary made this statement was Mr. Lewis of Illinois, who called to press further the consideration of John L. Pickering of Springfield for the collectorship of that district. Mr. McAdoo questioned the Illinois senator closely concerning the ability of Pickering.

Hot Contest at Peoria.

A hot contest is developing over the collectorship of the Peoria district, the candidates for which include Representative T. N. Gorman and former State Senator C. N. Barnes. The latter arrived today to present his claims on the place to Senator Lewis and Mr. McAdoo.

M. B. Hercley, formerly Chicago traction expert under the Busse administration, who has been in Washington for several days, is seeking an appointment to a position on the Panama railroad, according to a statement made by Illinois politicians with whom he has talked.

Senator Lewis has recommended to Postmaster Burleson two candidates for postoffices in the district of Representative Thomson, Progressive. Daniel Gray is named for postmaster of Waukegan and C. L. Wightman for Gray's Lake.

WILSON URGES JURY REFORM

Tells New Jersey Legislators Fight Is for Justice for All.

OPPOSED BY THE INTERESTS.

Uses Persuasion with Democrats in Advocacy of Pending Bill.

Jersey City, N. J., May 2.—President Wilson tonight interpreted the fight in New Jersey for jury reform and constitutional revision as a part of the struggle of the American people to obtain through the Democratic party equal justice to all and special privilege to none.

Though he made no reference to legislative policies pending in Washington, the president indicated that the protests voiced against the tariff bill were those of the special interests and not the masses.

Voices of the Interests.

"Some of my fellow citizens and some of their colleagues in Washington city," he said, "now think that they are hearing the voice of the people of the United States when they are only hearing the part that has become vocal by moving down to Washington and insisting upon its special interests.

"As I sit in my office in Washington, there are windows only on one side of the room. Those windows look out upon a park, the Potomac river, and the shores of Virginia on the other side, and I cannot see Washington from those windows, though I sometimes think that I can, because Washington behind me is seething with special representatives of little things who are almost storming at the doors of this office itself, whereas out here are the cool, large spaces of the United States. And I would rather hear the whispers coming in at these windows here than the strident arguments coming in at those doors."

Quiets Opponents of Bill.

The president spent a strenuous day, fighting throughout for the reform which he came to New Jersey to advocate.

Personal persuasion was the instrument he used in conferring on jury reform with Democratic members of the state legislature.

There was a clash between the president and W. L. McDermott, assemblyman from Hudson county, opponent of the bill. Mr. McDermott took exception to the president's speech last night, which he characterized as one of denunciation of the legislature.

At the president's request he pointed out what portions of the speech he considered denunciatory—those in which the president said he thought some of the legislators had acted in bad faith with reference to the measure.

The president listened intently and then, it is reported, he replied:

"That's not denunciation; those are facts."

He was surprised, he added, that Mr. McDermott had seen fit to "put the cap on."

CHINA ACCEPTED BY UNITED STATES

President Formally Recognizes Republic Through Peking Charge.

NOW UP TO FIVE POWERS.

Action Creates Interesting International Situation as Result of Recent Loan.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—The new Chinese republic was formally recognized today by the United States. Charge Williams at Peking cabled that he had delivered the formal recognition as he was authorized to do upon complete organization of the new government.

This government's action has created a most interesting international situation and brings to the point the intentions of the five other powers parties to the six power loan negotiation from which the United States recently withdrew, announcing its purpose to recognize China and urging the others to do the same.

Wilson Sends Greetings.

The formal recognition of the United States was extended when Charge Williams delivered to President Yuan Shih Kai the following message from President Wilson:

"The government and people of the United States of America having abundantly testified their sympathy with the people of China upon their assumption of the attributes and powers of self-government deem it opportune at this time, when the representative national assembly has met to discharge the high duty of setting the seal of full accomplishment upon the aspirations of the Chinese people, that I extend, in the name of my government and of my countrymen, a greeting of welcome to the new China thus entering into the family of nations.

"In taking this step I entertain the confident hope and expectation that in perfecting a republican form of government the Chinese nation will attain to the highest degree of development and well being, and that under the new rule all the established obligations of China which pass to the provisional government will in turn pass to and be observed by the government established by the assembly."

Thanks United States.

President Yuan Shih Kai's response was as follows:

"In the name of the republic of China, I thank you most heartily for the message of recognition you have sent me through your honored representative in this capital, the sentiments of amity and good will which it bespeaks."

COURT OF MORALS PLANS CRIME WAR

Will Use French Psychologists' Mind Test on Subnormal Children.

PHYSICIANS TO AID WORK

Mental Development in Wayward Persons Easy of Discovery by Examination.

be ascertained with comparative accuracy. It is called the Binet-Simon measuring scale of the intelligence.

M. BINET was a French psychologist who early noted the lack of mental development in people of criminal tendencies who came under his observation. Among these people there were, of course, many degrees of and differences in intelligence. He made up his mind that it would be useful to be able to classify them in several easily recognized divisions.

After studying thousands of cases in both normal and defective children he finally devised a series of questions and of simple tests, by the use of which it is possible to determine, approximately, the mental age of any given individual.

Thus if a person is able to give correct answers to the first list of questions and stops there, it is fair to presume that he is only one year old mentally. There is a separate list for each year up to fifteen. Those whose answers indicate a mental age of one or two years are classified as idiots; from three to seven, as imbeciles, and from eight to twelve—here is the most interesting and most dangerous class—as morons.

No child is classified as belonging to any of these groups unless his mental age is apparently at least three years less than his real age. To allow for the fact that very often mental development proceeds unevenly along various lines an extra year of mental age is added for every five questions correctly answered in lists superior to that in which all the tests are passed.

Even with all these allowances the Binet scale—like most human institutions—is frequently at fault. But it affords vastly the best method yet discovered for getting an accurate line on the capabilities of defective children and of the duty which society owes them.

CHICAGO has been a pioneer in many directions. In beginning the work of studying on a large scale the relation between crime and mental deficiency the Municipal court of Chicago will attract the attention of the world. It is fortunate that Chief Justice Olson has made a thorough study of the subject and is ready to give the plan his indorsement. Out of it is likely to grow a reform in the handling of criminal cases which will be extremely farreaching.

It is already known that a considerable percentage of these subnormal children are made so by accident or neglect at the time of their birth. Once the public is informed as to how great is the danger of serious results at such a time there will certainly be a serious effort, at least, to cut down the number of such cases. The rest and by far the majority of subnormal children owe their defects to bad heredity or environment.

The moron or adult who is mentally only 11 or 12 years old almost always marries. He is likely to marry a woman of his own type. Frequently they have a large family of children, and in such families the taint of criminal instincts can be traced for generation after generation. There is a big problem for society to face and solve.

MEANWHILE there remains the more immediate question of how to handle the young men and women whose criminal tendencies are indicated by the new process to be chiefly due to the fact that they have never mentally grown up.

Once it is demonstrated that they are not really responsible for their acts—that they are undisciplined children living in the bodies of adults—that if taken in time and put under reasonable and proper restraint and guidance they may live in comparative happiness, without danger to themselves or to society—some proper provision will certainly be made for them.

Merely as a matter of dollars and cents it is much cheaper to pay for such care and protection than to build and maintain the constantly increasing number of insane asylums, penitentiaries, and reformatories all over the country.

FREES FORMER DEAN OF GIRLS.

Judge After Hearing Minister Dismisses Charge of Swindling Against Miss Wells.

Miss Sarah Cecilia Wells of 120 South Honoré street, former dean of girls at Medill High school, was discharged by Municipal Judge Williams yesterday when arraigned on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses.

Miss Wells, accompanied by a brother, her attorney, and the Rev. Martin D. Hardin, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, left the South Clark street courtroom in tears.

The minister made an impassioned plea to the judge after the court had refused to dismiss the case when a motion was made by an attorney for Marshall Field & Co., the complainant. Later, there being no complaint, the judge dismissed the case.

Miss Wells was accused of obtaining goods worth about $200 from the store by having the articles charged to the accounts of other persons. It was pleaded that she was the victim of a mental breakdown.

Miss Taggart, before her death, refused to tell the name of the man.

OLYMPIC GAMES PLANS ARE TOLD

Harold F. McCormick and Lawrence Heyworth Issue Statement to People.

CHICAGO'S BIGGEST EVENT

Promoters Hope to Equal Attendance at World's Fair in Lake Front Meet.

The officers of the American Olympic Games association yesterday afternoon gave out an open letter to the people of Chicago setting forth the details of the plans of the meeting in the lake front park June 26 to July 4.

Harold F. McCormick, honorary president, and Lawrence Heyworth, president of the association, give out the public statement, which follows:

"The American Olympic Games association, incorporated not for profit, plans to give on the lake front park from June 26 to July 6 the most varied and attractive athletic program ever attempted in America.

"In order to properly stage this event a grandstand, temporary stadium, and athletic field capable of seating 40,000 persons at one time will be provided. The cost of the grandstand, running attractions, and organization will be approximately $40,000. One-half of the seats will be free to the public, besides the entire lake front.

Entries from All Over Country.

"There has been subscribed up to date $5,000. We have entries from all over the United States, and all the towns and cities will send representative athletes with their relatives and friends. The attendance, it is estimated, from all over the United States and Europe will equal that of the world's fair, as every small town has its amateur runner, amateur boxer, and amateur all around athlete.

"The school children will occupy the stadium with their games on Thursday, June 26, and Friday, June 27, and their final championship contest on Saturday, June 28. On Sunday, June 29, the Swedish singing societies, numbering 400 voices, will be the chief attraction of the program.

"On Monday, June 30, in all probability, the national all round championships of the Amateur Athletic Union of America will be contested, the A. A. U. leaders having given favorable attention to the Chicago bid for the championship.

"Three days of army polo are scheduled, July 1, 2, and 3. In addition on the evenings of these days we will have athletic events featured.

Program for July 4.

"For Independence day the national junior championship of America of eighteen events is scheduled. On July 5 the national senior championship of America—eighteen events—is scheduled. On the concluding day, July 6, the German Singing society with 1,500 voices will feature the program.

"Chairman H. H. Latham of the attractions committee has tentative plans for the international swimming and diving events, while Mayor Harrison, Chief McWeeney, and Fire Marshal Seyferlich have offered the services of a mounted police squadron and motor fire apparatus for the most sensational police and fire fighting drills ever scheduled for the lake front.

"In addition innumerable offers have been made to the association of the services of Turner societies, school children, and playing ground competition drills, etc., which will be scheduled at a later date.

"The cooperation of the board of education and Mrs. Ella Flagg Young to present every phase of Chicago public school athletic competition feasible in this period has been promised.

Indorsed by Civic Bodies.

"This association has been indorsed by the city council, the Association of Commerce, and the board of education. In order to carry these games through it is now necessary to have the financial backing of all the public spirited merchants and civic organizations of Chicago. It is absolutely necessary to raise $35,000 within the next ten days to consummate the greatest civic plan that ever has been attempted for the entertainment, amusement, and education of Chicago citizens and make this the summer resort and a magnet for the people of the United States."

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

MR. W. D. HOWELLS does not call "NEW LEAF MILLS," his latest book, a novel (Harpers). He is content to denominate it a "chronicle," and this fact, as well as the story itself, so devoid of fortuitous events and all the machinery of romance, inclines one to believe the incidents true. The characters are as arresting as human beings, and the mills, the houses in which the unfit pioneers, the Powells, lived, are made almost visible to the eye. There is no disbelieving this story, with its pathos, its record of futile effort, of misplaced gentleness and optimism, and its confession of the tragedy of high-bred inefficiency. It seems almost to recur to the memory, like an ancient family history, half forgotten. Even in its indeterminate end, in which the interesting, unfortunate family seem on the road to new disasters, and one of the chief characters remains unrecovered (she disappeared in the woods and was suspected of self-destruction), it seems to confirm its actuality.

"No, she never was seen or heard of again," one seems to have remembered hearing the Powells say. Then they would sigh. It would be a part of their piety to mourn her, a part of their general incapability not to have found her.

There are points at which Mr. Howells inevitably fails, but whimsicality is not one of these. "New Leaf Mills" depicts the idealistic husband in a wrong environment, the energizing wife, struggling between tenderness and exasperation, the uncomprehending vicious neighbors, the tricks of destiny, in a way which all everyday human beings understand but too well. The demoralizing effects of mixing mediocre powers with transcendental dreams is a theme in which Mr. Howells, with his gentle satire, his ever present smile of compassion and amusement, is perfectly at home.

But these are, you will admit, not merry books, not romantic books, not books to lift your hair or lighten your heart, though each is excellent in its way.

And, to recur to the original proposition, it is a discouraging world. Though, come to think of it, the buds are coming out on the trees and the birds are making their northern flight just as if creation were new and civilization undreamed of.

"THE RIGHT OF THE STRONGEST" is a southern tale by Frances Nimmo Greene, these particular southerners being mountaineers of the most barbaric type. To be barbarous is to be picturesque, and Mrs. Greene has, it appears, an intimate knowledge of her subject. She chooses one of the mountain girls for heroine, has her well educated, and causes her to be returned to the community in which she was born to act as missionary and teacher. That the girl falls in making any impression is a foregone conclusion, but as she manages to find happiness on her on behalf the romantic reader is satisfied even if the moralist is not. The story is spectacular—if such a term may be used in regard to the written word—but no more so than the verities justify. (Scribners.)

"THE NEST" by Anne Douglas Sedgwick is the title placed over a collection of five excellent short stories. This author is one of the few women who can assume the true ironic tone. She has humor of more than one sort, and a genuine sense of the comic spirit as Mr. Meredith would define it. "The Nest," the titular story, is a formidable piece of psychology; "The White Pagoda" is a fascinating and spirited bit of story writing, "The Suicide" is ingenious if improbable; "A Forsaken Temple" not uninteresting, and "The Masterpiece," if less accomplished in manner, has about it both zest and originality. An excellent workwoman with the pen is this author—one of the best writing at the present time. (The Century company.)

When J. C. Snaith puts his pen to paper there is engendered an electric storm. He never ambles, never cogitates, never comments. He moves along with the swiftness of a moving picture show, and when his films are run out he plunges the theater in darkness and sends everybody home.

In "AN AFFAIR OF STATE" he conducts a story by means of conversation. The thing is as compact as a drama, and might well be staged without doing more than putting some of the sentences in brackets and marking them "stage directions." The tale has grave matter in it—heroic stuff, in fact—and is a study in the British temperament. It is not reassuring to the democrat if the democrat is so foolish as to wish to be numbered among the aristocratic, for Mr. Snaith's hero, who was, next to the king, the first man of England, never could get within the inner circle. Just how he tried and failed and how he did some things much more imposing, and how he fought for a woman's love, and what various women did for and to him, comprises this swift and stirring story. Read it, you lovers of good fiction, you misunderstood mortals whom the academic despise. Here is an excellent example of a great art—an art which, misrepresented, vilified, belittled, still remains the comfort of the lonely, the instructor of the ignorant, the delight of the imaginative, and the rebukers of fools. As for me, having just finished the book from a sense of duty, I am going to read it again from an impulse of enjoyment. (Doubleday, Page & Co.)

"THE LEGEND OF JERRY LADD" is a touching and pretty piece of pathos in which the story of a dreamer is related. Jerry Ladd doesn't fit in with the sharp modern time, and with the best will in the world, and some qualities of the divine in his nature, he manages—judged by ordinary standards—to make a failure of things. However, he has his share of love and his compensations, and the story ends in the best way it can for poor Jerry. He is "with gentle Jesus—no one can hurt him now," as Gokeson says in Galesworthy's "Justice." That would indeed be the only harbor where his frail bark could float. (Doubleday, Page & Co.)

"THE GREEN BOUGH," by Mary Austin (Doubleday, Page & Co.), is a daring yet reverential supposition concerning Christ after the resurrection. At once realistic and mystic, the little book tells of the awakening of Christ in the tomb, of his realization of hitherto uncomprehended spiritual truths, of his wandering forth, his meeting with the Marys, his sitting at the table with friends, his seeking a hut high on the mountain, unknown to all save a shepherd or two; his telepathic summons of his disciples, his meeting with them on the shore or the lake, his firing them with new belief, and of his own lonely death on the mountain side, broken with his wounds, but content with death. To the words he spoke during his return to the world of living men, Mrs. Austin gives new interpretations. She resolves the sacred story into one which the modern may accept. Her fine literary style and her respectful attitude of mind, save the recital from offense. Her view is heterodox, but it is far from pagan.

Vera Nikto Author of "A MERE WOMAN."

Vera Nikto is the name assumed by the author of "A Mere Woman," a novel dealing with the two unhappy marriages of a German girl. Her husbands were both Russians and so was her lover. Although tragic, her life as the book ends has a gleam of hope in it.

France as Seen from Within.

BY HERBERT CAXTON.

IN contrast to books on French life written by outsiders is "FRANCE FROM WITHIN" (Doran company), which is the work of a French woman, Claire de Prats, who has the additional advantage of having spent her youth in England. Mlle. de Prats is an enthusiastic republican, and she believes her people have progressed far morally and intellectually under the republic. One of the points she insists on outsiders realising is that the French are not the unstable people some consider them, but possess many solid qualities when they are known intimately.

I remember, she says, once a Frenchman asking me the rather naïve question, "Do Englishmen live like Frenchmen?" "Of course not," I answered. "Each lives with his own special temperament." A Frenchman loves La Femme, that is to say, Woman with a capital W. It sometimes happens that an Englishman loves, but he loves a particular woman. When that is the case, that particular woman may be sure that she holds his heart, if not forever, at least for a very long time. With a Frenchman no woman can ever be sure of holding him "forever," or even for any length of time. And it is precisely this insecurity which lends him a certain charm, at least in the eyes of many Parisiennes.

Of the French exclusiveness she writes:

It is almost impossible for a stranger to come into intimate and close contact with the French, for notwithstanding their charming and spontaneous affability, there are no more difficult people to know intimately. In all their social life they are far more punctilious in the matter of attending funerals, and often go to the obsequies of people they have never known in real life, merely as an act of courtesy to the relations of the deceased. Nevertheless, despite their forms and ceremonies—concerning formal calls, marriages, letter writing, leaving cards, etc.—the French are in reality a far less sociable race than the English and Americans.

The difference between the French and the English as she sees it she characterizes thus:

The French are inventive and clever, and if they possessed the persistent, untiring, and patient energy of the Anglo-Saxon races, they might be the first nation in the world. . . . The essential racial difference between the French and the English, for instance, lies in the fact that the French are aggressively and willfully nonadaptable. The French believe that they have much to learn from other nations. The English are inclined to believe that they have nothing to learn from anybody. But as nations, like individuals, always possess the qualities of their defects, this nonadaptability of the Englishman constitutes his very strength and makes his race the dominant race when brought into conflict with more barbarous peoples.

The author greatly admires the work people.

A great many wives and daughters of working men help their men in their various trades. I remember once having my country cottage repapered and repainted. After giving the order to be executed to the house painter, I returned a few weeks later to see how the work was progressing, and found to my astonishment that the entire job had been undertaken by the wife of the painter, who had probably considered it too small an affair for his own master hand. It appears that she was her husband's best workman, and undertook all the regular work of the lesser houses in the district.

There is much in the book which will go to remove prejudices, correct mistakes, and give the outlander the French point of view on many points.

The Bear's Claws.

The reader will follow the adventures of the little New York stenographer and her engineer husband, as set down in "THE BEAR'S CLAWS" (McClurg), with a fair amount of interest, because the authors, Grace Sartwell Mason and John Northern Hilliard, have conceived an ingenious plot, and have made the most of national prejudice. At the instigation of American capitalists, John Savidge is engaged in mapping out the route of a proposed railroad through Persia, an undertaking which Russia not only views with alarm, but which she does everything in her power to frustrate. As a result the man's life is continually in jeopardy, for no pains are spared to gain possession of his plans and estimates. The story is not strikingly original, but it is well told, and the action is swift enough to hold the attention of a reader who has not yet been satiated by current literature.

JIU-JITSU STUFF TOO ROUGH—OUCH!

Dislocated Bones and Sprained Muscles of Policemen Students Bring End of Course.

GIANT GRIPMAN TEACHER

Handles Pupils in Coppers' School Too Vigorously to Suit Funkhouser.

If Japan and the United States ever should go to war Chicago policemen will not meet any possible invading force with a corps of jiu jitsu experts. At least not yet.

After one week's service at the new police school of instruction at the Shakespeare station Second Deputy Superintendent Funkhouser took a hasty survey of the bruises and sore spots on the energetic pupils of Policeman J. J. Rooney, the jiu jitsu expert. Policeman Rooney was then ordered back to the office of Traction Expert Buckley.

Back to the Street Cars.

In consequence Chicago policemen will continue in ignorance of the gentle art of breaking an opponent's wrist or dislocating his collar bone a la Japanese while Policeman Rooney will continue in his search for street cars that are breaking the city ordinances. But the noncombatants at the new police school are mourning the missing "matches" which have been features of each session during the last week.

When Rooney began his instruction he started to be as "gentle" as possible under the circumstances. But one or two policemen thought they knew as much about the art of wrestling as did Rooney, who once was known on the mat as "the Giant Gripman."

Won't Be Shown Up.

Of course Rooney would not allow himself to be "shown up."

The result may be summarized as follows:

Policeman Andrew Harrah, left shoulder dislocated and back sprained.
Policeman E. A. Barry, sprained rib.
Policeman William O. Meincke, wrist sprained.

"Policeman Rooney was sent back to the office of the traction expert because he is a valuable man there," said Maj. Funkhouser yesterday. "There are others at the school who can take care of the physical training."

"Rooney was too rough," said one policeman. "Anyway, that Jap stuff is no good. I'd rather use my fist or a club any time."

The first class of thirty-four policemen will "graduate" today and receive their "diplomas." Monday another class of fifty will start in.

With masterly skill Miss Dell has depicted the domination of love and its effacing strength when called upon to blot out from the memory an offense which only love could forgive. The struggle of the hero, a savage at heart, to emancipate himself from the sinister tendencies of his nature and to rise to the standard which the woman he loves is entitled to claim, is told in a story full of romance and adventure.

CLABBY IN DRAW WITH M'GOORTY

Middleweights Battle Ten Rounds at Fast Clip in Denver Ring.

NO KNOCKDOWNS SCORED.

Denver, Colo., May 2.—[Special.]—Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh and Jimmy Clabby of Milwaukee fought ten rounds to a draw tonight. There was not a moment of time lost from the tap of the gong until the decision was announced by Abe Pollock at the close of the contest. No knockdowns were scored.

The decision, by the way, met with the general approval of the spectators and of the men themselves. Both men were in excellent trim, with the aggressiveness perhaps more to Clabby's credit. The latter weighed in at 154 pounds and McGoorty was several pounds heavier.

The first round was tame, but in the second both men got busy. McGoorty led with a wicked jab for Clabby's head, but Clabby was not there. Clever sparring followed, and then Clabby swung a left to the head. McGoorty ducked and caught a vicious left on the head.

In the third Clabby got in a stiff punch to McGoorty's face. Both tried to land decisive blows, but failed. In the fourth round McGoorty landed a hard blow on Clabby's face. Both landed body blows, which, however, counted for little or nothing and this continued after the seventh round, both men evidently not being disposed to take any chances.

The eighth and ninth marked the best work by both fighters in the contest, with McGoorty inclined to the defensive. Clabby forced McGoorty back a number of times in this period of the battle and kept his opponent busy.

The tenth round was McGoorty's throughout. He fought hard and displayed more aggressiveness in this round than any of the others.

JOHNNY COULON READY TO DEFEND HIS HONORS.

Defeat of Hudson by Knockout Shows He Is in Fit Shape for Championship Contest.

Johnny Coulon, bantam champion, returned to Chicago yesterday from Windsor, where he stopped Tommy Hudson in the fifth round of a scheduled ten session combat on Wednesday night. Convinced he possesses his former speed and punch, the little champion asserts he is ready to defend his title against any of the many bantams who are seeking his title.

"I fought Hudson with eight ounce gloves, and the weapons were examined by the chief of police before we pulled them on," said Coulon. "I have had a lot of experience in the game, but if those gloves were supposed to have been eight ounce mitts, then I am sadly mistaken. If they weighed an ounce they certainly weighed ten or twelve ounces."

According to Coulon he is anxious to meet Artie Armstrong, Ruby Hirsch, and "Kid" Williams at Kenosha.

A delegation of local fistic fans will go to Springfield next Tuesday to see the boxing exhibitions to be staged for the state senators and representatives. With Packey McFarland and Johnny Coulon as headliners, the local contingent believes a favorable sentiment will be created for the pending boxing bill.

Charley White, who is matched to meet Joe Thomas in New Orleans on May 19, says he will start training at Lewis' gymnasium on Monday.

BOWLING LEADERS KEEP POSITIONS

Pelikan Team Makes Poor Start and Takes Fifth Place with Score of 2,803.

REED BEST IN SINGLES.

Attempts to displace the leaders in the sixteenth annual tournament of the Illinois Bowling association proved unsuccessful yesterday. One of the most dreaded combinations of the entire tournament, the Pelikans, rolled 2,803 for fifth position.

The Pelikans started off with an 881 count with Jack Herman and Billy Rusch backpedaling. The team got together in the second game and put up 1,025, missing the Mozley's high game mark by two pins. They had 1,906 for two games and needed only 949 to beat the Petersens, but suffered from stage fright in the test, not a man getting a 200 count.

H. E. Reed's 637 in singles proved top mark in that event, installing him in twelfth position. In the doubles, Crusoe and Reinlie rolled 1,186 for tenth place.

Pennebaker Special and Mason Bring the Total Cars to Twenty-nine.

PLAN FOR CLUB CONTEST.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG

The unexpected came to pass yesterday when belated entries were received by the Indianapolis Motor Speedway company for the 500 mile international sweepstakes on Memorial day. One eleventh hour nomination came from Robert H. Pennebaker of Memphis, and another from the Mason company, bringing the total count up to twenty-nine.

Mr. Pennebaker, who is an amateur driver, has had built a special machine for the express purpose of going after honors in the five century contest. Construction of the car had been secretly going on and details were lacking until the entry blank, mailed before the lists closed on April 30, was received by Manager Charles W. Sedwick. Like the Mercedes, entered by E. C. Patterson and to be driven by Pilette, the Belgian, the Memphis special is equipped with a Knight motor. It will be the first appearance in American races of cars driven with sleeve valve motors.

Both Carry Knight Motors.

The foreign built Mercedes being brought over by Mr. Patterson is a smaller car than the one just entered by Mr. Pennebaker, but since they both carry the Knight motor their performances should offer an interesting study. It is generally conceded that in no way can a car be tested so thoroughly as in the long 500 mile grind on the speedway. The Pennebaker special has cylinders 5¼x5¾, which gives a piston displacement of 442.5 cubic inches, letting it well inside the limit of 450 inches.

Mr. Pennebaker, like the other amateur in the race, Mr. Patterson, will drive his own car. With that end in view he petitioned the contest board of the American Automobile association to grant him a driver's license and received it. He also asked permission to follow the example set by Ray Harroun, winner of the 1911 race, and go the route without a mechanician, but the request was turned down. This will be the Memphis man's first experience in a race, though he is said to have proved his skill in road work.

Three Mason Drivers Named.

Word from Indianapolis yesterday stated that the drivers for the three Mason cars, including the extra nomination, would be Bob Evans, Jack Tower, and William Haupt.

Secretary W. E. Stalnaker of the Chicago Motor club yesterday issued entry blanks for the inter-club reliability run with the Illinois Athletic club on May 20. Both organizations have been lining up their team members and each side should be represented by a good sized number of representatives. It is planned to go to Indianapolis on May 29 so as to be on hand for the 500 mile race the following day.

W. G. A. WITHDRAWS TOUR SANCTION

Hitch Causes Change in Plans for Trip to Far Western Golf Links.

PRIVATE TEAM MAY GO.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

As far as the Western Golf association is concerned there will be no trip to the northwest next month by a team representing the organization. This was decided at a recent meeting of the directors held here. If the players go the tour will be a private venture.

When President A. S. Kerry of the Seattle Golf and Country club was in Chicago last fall he extended an invitation to local golfers to compete in a tournament at Seattle, and also to play matches at Victoria, Portland, and Vancouver. He agreed to pay the expenses of the team, and with the financial bunker out of the way the rest seemed easy sailing.

Subsequently the matter was placed in the hands of the Western Golf association, and the officials picked a team of nine players, headed by President John D. Cady.

Coast Golfers Invite Team.

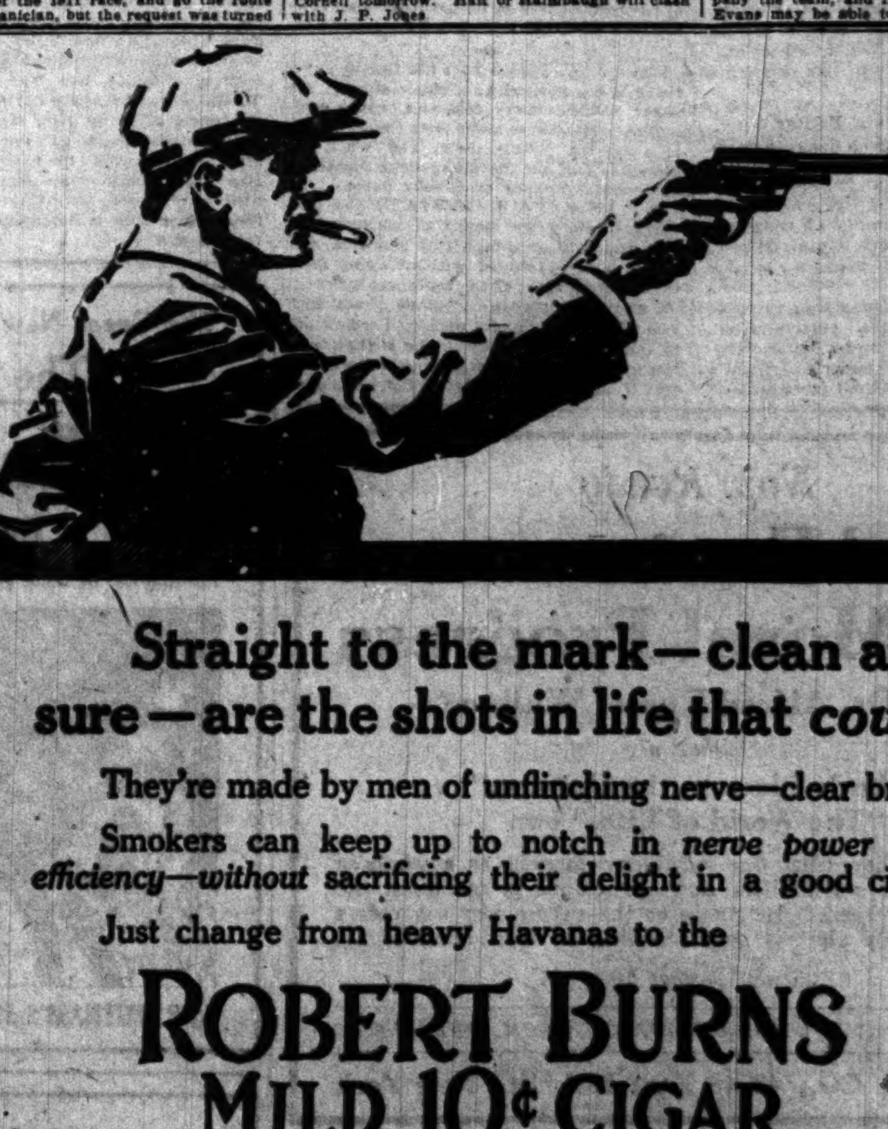

Next came an invitation from the California golfers for the W. G. A. team to compete in a big tournament at Del Monte, and this proposal was acceptable to the W. G. A. team. Then President Kerry raised some slight objection to the tourists playing anywhere except in the northwest.

On hearing of this the California golfers offered to stand part of the expenses, but this offer did not appear to have satisfied the Seattle people. As a result the Western Golf officials have refused to take official cognizance of the trip, not wishing to antagonize the California clubs, which are among its members.

Evans May Arrange for Trip.

The W. G. A. officials have turned the matter over to Western Champion Charles Evans Jr., and he will endeavor to get a team together. Dr. Ira Gardner of Hinsdale and Kenneth Edwards of Midlothian, and Robert Gardner of Hinsdale, who were picked by the W. G. A. officials, have declined to make the trip unless it is made under the W. G. A. auspices. It is reported that Addison Stilwell and Walter Egan also will decline. The other players picked were Charles Evans Jr., Warren K. Wood of Homewood, D. E. Sawyer of Wheaton, and Harry Legg of Minneapolis.

Several other local players expected to accompany the team, and from these it is possible Mr. Evans may be able to gather a team of eight.

Advice That Doesn't Cost Anything Usually Isn't Worth Anything.

CUBS TAKE GAME ON FOUR CLOUTS

Evers' Men Discover That Walks Are Valuable in Beating Reds, 4 to 1.

YOUNG SMITH GENEROUS.

Wildness by Tinker's New Slabman Gives Local Team Runs; Cheney Hurls Well.

BY SAM WELLER.

That there are different ways of doing the same thing is a conviction of Johnny Evers. Many times this spring he has proved that ball games can be won by means of many base hits. Yesterday he showed Chicago's fans how they can be won with few base hits, for his athletes trimmed Joe Tinker's ruffled Reds 4 to 1 in a rampant combat in which the Cubs gathered only four hits.

In order to do that it was necessary for the west siders to get on the bases by other means than hitting the ball. When three rounds had been fought and the Reds already had scored a run the Cubs changed their plan of attack, for in the three rounds they had discovered a tendency on the part of Cincinnati's young hurler to be wild. They had also learned he was a difficult man to hit.

Consequently the Cubs went up to the plate in the fourth carrying a bat to be used only in emergencies. The result was that three of them walked in that one inning and this along with some bunglesome fielding by the enemy and one safe blow by Vic Saier put the Cubs one to the good in a hurry. A lucky home run by wee Tommy Leach in the fifth yielded another run and the waiting method added another in the sixth, which practically assured a victory.

Nine Bases on Balls to Cubs.

All told, the Cubs drew nine bases on balls in the game, and these, added to the four base hits, make it plain how they excelled in the offensive end of the game. The Reds made six scattered hits and drew three bases on balls and might not have scored at all if a wild throw hadn't helped.

Larry Cheney, the west side moose, was on the slab and all he asked of his mates was that they give him a couple of runs. Had they tried continually to get those two runs by batting the ball they might have failed and Cheney would have been beaten 1 to 0. As soon as they began the waiting method they went to the front and Big Larry set the enemy down with no trouble to the end of the game.

The Cincinnati hurler was "Chic" Smith, a lad who learned the game in the semi-pro field of Cincinnati. He is a left hander, clever, and with plenty of stuff on the ball to fool the heavy clouters on the west side.

Smith Goes to Bench.

Smith gave way to a pinch hitter in the seventh, when the Reds saw a chance to get a run, and then another youngster, a right hander named Harter, took the slab and held the Cubs under restraint to the finish.

Once the Cubs got in front, the game was as good as won, for Cheney had rested two whole days and was in fine fettle. The only chance the Reds had was that the Cubs would break down in their defense. Instead of doing this they became more brilliant as soon as they took the lead, and the one good opening the Reds had was closed by a sparkling double play turned out like a streak of lightning.

The six hits of Cincinnati were scattered through six innings. One blow was a terrific three bagger walloped by Bob Bescher. It was a drive to the wall in right center, and Schulte retrieved the ball, shot it to Evers, who in turn made a frantic throw to third base. The ball was there ahead of Bob, but it was so low and fast that Heine Zim couldn't stop it, so Bob picked himself up and jogged on home when the ball went to the Cincinnati bench.

That blow came at the start of the third inning, but it didn't upset Mr. Cheney a bit. He got the next three batters out, as if angered, fanning two of them, and from then to the finish he was master of the Reds in every round.

Cubs Try Walking Method.

The Cubs could do nothing in the first three innings, because they were trying to hit the curves of young Smith. In the fourth the change in method of attack was started. Ward Miller was the first batter and he refused to bat. He might as well have left his bat at the bench. The result was he drew a base on balls. The next thing he did was to steal second. Heine Zim wasn't as fortunate in waiting. He got the call of three and two, and when the next one seemed to be over, he had to swing. His best was a high fly to Bates.

Saier went up apparently to wait the pitcher out, but when one came over that he liked he cut loose and drove it fiercely to right field. Becker saw a chance to cut Miller down at the plate and came in at top speed to scoop the ball and shoot it home, but in his hurry he missed it and the ball rolled to the fence, while Miller scored and Saier sprinted clear to third.

Evers and Bridwell, being left handed hitters, were cautious in swinging at anything from the young southpaw pitcher, and each one drew a walk, filling the bases. This made a nice setup for Jimmy Archer, but his best was a high fly to Becker. Saier dashed home after the catch, sliding in safely, because Becker's heave to the plate was a bit too strong for Clark to handle. Cheney struck out, ending that round, but the Cubs already had enough runs to win.

Leach Makes Circuit Clout.

From then to the end of the combat the Cubs made only two base hits, but each one figured in getting a run. Tommy Leach was first hitter in the fifth, and he smote one on the nose, sending it to deep center. Bates thought he was right on the spot where the ball was coming down, so he just stood there waiting. All of a sudden he began backing up briskly, then made a wild leap into the air and then turned and started to run for the clubhouse. The ball had been misjudged, and before he could run it down and have it relayed to the plate, wee Tommy had sprinted around the circuit, beating the perfect relay by means of a pretty slide.

The home run inspired Schulte, Miller, and Heine Zim to try for one, but the result was that Schulte and Zim fanned, and Miller died on a grounder to Tinker.

The only other run for the Cubs came in the sixth, when the waiting method was used again. Vic Saier was first up, and drew a pass, then Evers bunted him to second base. He took third when Bridwell slammed a hot smash right into Almeida's hands. The Cuban might have spoiled a run here had he chosen to tag Saier instead of to throw to first. Saier was running right into him, but he pegged to first and retired Bridwell, letting Saier take third. Archer followed with a smashing single to center field and Saier trotted home. Cheney fanned, ending that one, and the Cubs were repelled from then on. Score:

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS.

Eppa Rixey Jr., the Philadelphia Nationals' young pitcher who jumped to fame by his clever work on the slab last season, was born in Culpeper, Va., May 3, 1891. He gained his first baseball experience at the Jefferson school, Charlottesville, Va., where he pitched for his school team in 1907-08-09. He entered the University of Virginia in 1909, and for three seasons was the mainstay on the slab for the Virginia nine. Two years ago Umpire Rigler of the National league, who was coaching the university baseball squad, saw possibilities in Rixey and took particular pains to develop the tall boy. Eppa joined the Phillies after the close of the college season last year, and right off the reel began to stand National league batsmen on their heads. Rixey won ten of the twenty games he pitched, while the Phillies were going badly.

SAM WELLERISMS.

The final game of the series with the Reds will be played today.

There's a probability that Mordecai Brown will hurl for the Reds and be opposed by Orvie Overall.

Vic Saier's activity robbed Becker of a hit in the eighth. Vic pulled down a high bound smash some distance to his right, then slid into first base ahead of the runner.

One remarkable incident of the game was the fact that Hoblitzell, the Reds' first sacker, had only two putouts. The Cubs were dying on high fly balls, Bates capturing six, while Becker got four.

Mike Mitchell was ailing yesterday and was excused from duty. Ward Miller played in his place and Tommy Leach replaced Clymer in order to get another right handed hitter in the game against the southpaw pitcher.

A double play spoiled a dandy attack by the Reds in the fifth. Clark led off with a single and Smith sacrificed. Bescher then connected squarely with one and it went like a bullet out over third base. Heine Zim stretched himself just in time to stab it, then shot to Evers before Clark could scramble back to second base.

Harker made a wild pitch in the seventh, but was not charged with it. Schulte was on second and Miller on first at the time with one out and the wild pitch came just when they chose to execute a double steal. Clark recovered the ball in time to hold Schulte at third, so the two Cubs were credited with stolen bases because they were on the go when the wild pitch took place.

There was a dispute with Umpire Owens in the sixth. Hoblitzell was on first with two out, with the call three and two, Hobby started for second and Becker fanned. He took his third swing at a low curve that hit the dirt and bounced into Archer's glove. Instead of throwing to first, Archer pegged to second. Becker jogged down and stopped on first and no attempt was made to tag Hoblitzell. Owens declared that Bridwell took Archer's peg and then threw to Saier ahead of Becker.

Illinois took revenge on the Northwestern baseball nine yesterday for jarring Illinois historians a week ago. The Illini defeated the Purple at Sheppard field, 5 to 2.

Kelso, who defeated his former teammates in the first battle, pitched good enough ball to repeat, but his own error and four more by other players proved costly to the Purple nine.

Kelso allowed only three hits and struck out seven men, but marred his otherwise brilliant slab work by granting seven bases on balls. Thomas of Illinois also pitched a good game and had better control than Kelso. Northwestern succeeded in filling the bases in several innings, but failed to deliver the needed hit. Score:

Philadelphia, Pa., May 2.—The most of the action in today's game between Philadelphia and New York was confined to the seventh inning, the former winning, 4 to 3.

Seaton and Demaree battled until the seventh with one run against each. Then two passes off Seaton and Merkle's single filled the bases. McCormick, who batted for Demaree, singled, scoring two runners.

Crandall went in to pitch in the home team's half. With two out Philadelphia won the game on Killefer's single, a pass to Cravath, who batted for Seaton, Paskert's double, and Knabe's single. After Lobert received a pass Marquard took Crandall's place. Score:

CUBS RELEASE TWO PLAYERS.

Pete Knisely and Ed McDonald Sold to Birmingham Club Under an Optional Agreement.

Two players were sold by President Murphy of the Cubs yesterday. President Baugh of the Birmingham club came to town and bought Pete Knisely, the Picklesburg, Pa., clouter, and Ed McDonald, the former Boston infielder. Both were sold with an option clause in the sale, permitting the Cubs to buy them back in the fall.

By disposing of the two men Manager Evers has the Cubs down to the limit of twenty-five players, and will not need to sell any more until Cy Williams and Infielder Craig report in June.

Evers likes Knisely as a hitter, but thinks the youngster needs more experience, and with so many infielders already on the team he could see no need of keeping McDonald throughout the season.

SOX SYDELIGHTS.

Detroit, Mich., May 2.—[Special.]—One more game tomorrow will finish the Sox series here.

The Sox and Tigers will hike to Chicago tomorrow night to conclude their present series with one game on the south side on Sunday.

Frank Lange and Doc White were warming up before the game to get ready to relieve Scott if necessary. It wasn't. One of them is due tomorrow.

In five of the nine innings Willett disposed of three men in succession with the help of two double plays. Scott retired three men in succession only three times, then had to catch Cobb off first base in order to do it.

The hireling who has charge of ringing the bell for practice got his wires crossed. He allowed the White Sox fifteen minutes too much batting practice, then made up for it by cutting the fielding practice down to seven minutes for each side.

Easterly singled with one out in the seventh. Mattick soaked a fast one straight back at Willett, who was lucky enough to knock down the ball and retire Chick by good hustling to recover it. Easterly made second, and with the winning run in sight Schaller struck out.

In the tough going of the ninth inning, after Detroit got a man to third and first with two out, Manager Callahan stopped the game until he could call a massmeeting of his men near the slab. Scott, Easterly, Lord, Weaver, and Rath were called into conference. What the manager told them is shrouded in mystery, but it proved effective.

Cobb's first safety was a bunt toward third, beating it by a small margin. The second time up he bounded a slow one toward short. Weaver tore in, scooped the ball on the three-quarters hop, and shot it to Borton while Cobb was many yards away from first. For this feat and the play he made on Deal in the sixth the home crowd lustily cheered George [formerly Buck].

Jack Cleary, an old timer, was on the slab for the Maroons and he let the Butler men down with six hits and struck out seven men, as against Shaw's total of five. Score:

HIT BY EASTERLY BEATS TIGERS, 2-1

Drives in Tally in Ninth Round, Giving Sox Fourth Straight Game.

SCOTT STARS ON MOUND.

Grand Hurling in Pinches Averts Real Trouble Twice; Borton Also a Factor.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Detroit, Mich., May 2.—[Special.]—One timely two base swat by Ted Easterly, out of reach of even the spry Ty Cobb, with two out in the ninth inning today, broke up what promised to be an indeterminate pitchers' battle between Death Valley Jim Scott and Edgar Willett. That Easterly knock made the score 2 to 1 in Chicago's favor without going into overtime.

Without some grand old hurling in the pinches by the said Jim Scott and without a pair of safe drives by Baker Borton the drive of T. Easterly would have been wasted on the desert air. Borton proceeded the winning drive by beating out a scratch hit to Willett, putting him in position to score in the ninth.

Previous to that Borton drove home Harry Lord with the first Sox run in the fourth, just when it looked as if Lord's swell three bagger was to go into the discard.

Contest a Hurlers' Duel.

It was the first game of the present series in which the pitching outclassed the mauling, and Scott had it on Willett in several ways in spite of the evenness of the batting, according to the arithmetical way of figuring it. Seven hits were made off each pitcher and the total of the bases made on these hits was eleven for both sides.

Willett was stingy with passes, but Scott was adamant in the face of threatening danger in all except one round. That was the third, in which two triplets were ground off his delivery in quick succession and contributed Detroit's one run. Willett pitched himself out of only one bad hole, and that was shallow compared to the depth of the places in which Death Valley Jim found himself a couple of times.

Scott in Tight Hole.

Scott once was confronted with Tigers at third and second and nobody out, with the score tied at a run apiece. Coming up were the same athletes who had slammed out the two three baggers in an earlier session, and the crowd was on tip-toe with the anticipation of a victory for Detroit at last. Nothing at all happened, for Scott disposed of the enemy in that ditch on a weak grounder, a whiff, and a long fly. Had the fly preceded either the grounder or the whiff this story might have been entirely different. That was how good Scott had to be to beat Willett today.

Again in the ninth inning the Tigers started trouble for Scott when Manager Jennings trotted out his reserves. It was so troublesome that there were Tigers on first and second, and only one out, but the run which would have prolonged the battle was denied the enemy. Scott's support was letter perfect in every way, and in spots it was better than that. As usual George [formerly Buck] Weaver played all over his section of the map, and handled everything he could reach, once throwing out Ty Cobb to first base on a slow hit bounder by half a dozen steps.

Double Plays Stop Sox.

A couple of double plays were needed to stop the Sox in the early rounds. Easterly gained his life on a low peg by Deal with one out in the second inning. Mattick hit a slow one to Willett, who tossed Chick out at first. Easterly tried to go all the way to third on this play, but Gainer's relay throw beat him, retiring the side. In the third Weaver singled with one out, but was a victim with Scott in another double killing.

Meantime the Tigers had extracted one hit in each of the first three rounds, and in two of them threatened to count. Crawford made the first hit with two gone in the opener. Cobb was passed and Veach pulled a hot liner toward right. Borton copped it close to the dirt.

Two were out in the second round when Stanage was passed and went around to third on Willett's single to center. Bush fouled the side out. In the third Cobb beat out a bunt to Lord, but there were two out when he did it, and Tyrus was caught and run out between bases on a quick throw by Scott.

Borton Drives In Tally.

The first runs came in the fourth. Rath was gone when Lord caught one just right and whaled it into left center for three corners. Collins struck out right here, but Borton delivered the needed single to score the tally, making second himself because Veach juggled the hit a little. Easterly reserved his fire and popped out.

The Tigers tied that right up in their half. Veach led with a boisterously long fly, a couple of miles over Mattick's head, into the center field corner. He pulled up at third in safety. Collins got under Gainer's tall fly and held the man on third, but Deal smashed a liner to right center. Mattick tried to catch it on the dead run, but failed to reach it, and Deal also made three bases, scoring Veach. Stanage was tossed out by Scott. Willett was hit on the arm, and Bush struck out.

The Sox lost a chance to count in the fifth when Mattick led with a liner which Veach did not see at all until it was past him. It was good for two bases, but Mattick went no farther before the Sox were out.

Crawford Reaches Third Base.

Attacking and parrying viciously, neither team could get another opening until the home half of the eighth. Then it looked as if the base on balls slipped to Crawford was going to bring defeat to the Sox. There was nobody out when it occurred and Cobb pulled the first ball hotly into right for a single, which drove Wahoo Sam to third. Ty made second on the throw-in.

Nothing daunted, Scott tackled the job and blocked those veterans off the plate. Veach hit softly to Borton and was out. Gainer struck out, reaching for a ball a foot above his head, and Deal raised a long fly to Mattick. It retired the side, but would have scored a run easily if there had not been two out already.

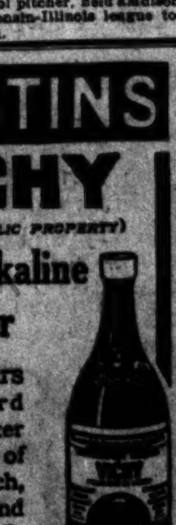

Two Callahans were out in the ninth before Borton scratched a little one near the first base line and beat Willett's throw to first. Easterly took advantage of this opening to sting a long one out of Cobb's reach in left center, scoring Borton. Cobb stopped Easterly at second, but the game was gone.

In the last half High, batting for Stanage, led with a single and was sacrificed ahead by Moriarty, who replaced Willett. Bush was hit on a toe by a pitched ball and one run would tie. Vitt rapped to Weaver, forcing Bush, but beat the double play. That put High on third, with the heavy artillery coming up. Crawford popped to Weaver.

Dick Cantwell Allows Four Hits.

Madison, Wis., May 2.—Dick Cantwell, the 18 year old Chicago high school pitcher, held Madison to four hits in the Wisconsin-Illinois league today. Oshkosh won, 4 to 1.

CHANCE'S YANKEES LOSE, 6-5; MACK USES FOUR PITCHERS.

Athletics' Quartet of Slabmen Hold Opponents to Three Hits, but Are Generous with Passes.

New York, May 2.—The Athletics won another close game from New York, 6 to 5. Manager Mack used four pitchers to land the game. Houck, who started, was wild, issuing six bases on balls before he was taken out in the fourth inning. Bender, who finished the game for the Athletics, was invincible until the ninth, when New York scored their fifth run on a pass, a single, and a sacrifice fly. Ford started for New York and was hit hard. Collins and Baker were responsible for four of the Philadelphia runs.

A strange incident was the Highlanders' jog around the bases in the fourth, when they scored four runs on errors and passes, with the aid of only a scratch infield hit. Score:

Groom Hurls Well for Five Rounds, but Teammates Help Him Beat Boston.

Boston, Mass., May 2.—Washington, playing faultless ball in the field, bunched hits in three innings and won from Boston, 5 to 4. Groom allowed the world's champions one hit up to the sixth inning. Then three singles, and two bases on balls gave Boston three runs, tying the score. Washington bunched hits again in the seventh, netting two runs. Boston in the eighth tried to even it up again, but one run, made possible by Speaker's triple, was the limit. Score:

Old Time May Fete in Evanston Today.

A REALLY old time May fête has been planned for this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by young women of Northwestern university. The fête will be given in the university gymnasium under the auspices of the Woman's league. Miss Ruth Saunders, newly elected may queen, will be crowned by Miss Viola Shearer, queen of last year. Each queen will have eight attendants, Miss Saunders' maids of honor to be Miss Lillian Winter, Miss Dorothy Purcell, Miss Elise de Celle, Miss Jean Richardson, Miss Mildred Armstrong, Miss Jefferson Hauser, and Miss Marjorie Billow; and Miss Shearer's company to include Miss Helen Gemmill, Miss Lucile Drake, Miss Gertrude Nisse, Miss Ruth Bond, Miss Lulu Johanson, Miss Bernice Holland, Miss Helene de Golyer, and Miss Alice Crew.

The maids of honor will give a series of dances, including the daisy chain, and twenty-four additional young women will assist them in the winding of the May pole. The proceeds will be added to the sum being collected for the new Woman's building, one of the most urgent needs of the university at present.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Harris of 110 East avenue, south, Oak Park, announce the engagement of their niece, Miss Lovey Marie Cook, to Samuel Elbert Bird, both of Oak Park. No date has been set for the wedding. Miss Cook has made some reputation for the cleverness of her Indian paintings. Mr. Bird, who is an engineer, is a former University of Chicago student.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Enters, 2824 Clybourn street, Milwaukee, Wis., announce the engagement of their daughter, Elfrieda, to Louis E. Rosenheim of Chicago, son of Mrs. Jennie Rosenheim, 425 East Forty-fifth place.

Edison Workers to Give Circus.

Two hundred persons, mainly employes of the Commonwealth Edison company, will take part in the circus of the local branch of the National Electric Light association at Medinah temple, Cass and Ohio streets, a week from tonight.

The show is to have numerous features in burlesque of the company officials and local politicians, but for the most part will be in burlesque of circus events. The strong man is scheduled to lift from the floor a heavy magnet which no one else can budge—explained by the fact that the "strong man" is in control of the current that magnetizes the iron.

Young women from the auditing and bookkeeping rooms will make up the chorus and ballet. Morgan L. Eastman has charge of the performance, which will be repeated the first week in June, when the convention of the National Electric Light association will be held here.

Y. M. C. A. Helps 300 Students.

Three hundred students have been helped to find employment to carry them through college by the Y. M. C. A. employment bureau of Northwestern university, according to a report just issued. The greatest aid was rendered by obtaining odd jobs. One student received $1 for burying a cat with formal ceremony, while another received a stipend for taking care of a kitten during the absence of her mistress. Leading the blind, nursing invalids, and entertaining the retired capitalist suffering with ennui are found in the scope of the student's employment as well as the old category of firing furnaces, mowing lawns, waiting table, and tutoring.

Light on the Methods in a Maternity Home.

METHODS employed in taking care of young women and babies in the Salvation Army Maternity home at 1332 La Salle avenue, were investigated yesterday by the Curran legislative committee meeting in the Planters hotel.

The institution accepts no girl or woman without a promise that they will keep and care for their babies, according to Miss Anna L. Hanstin, staff captain and matron of the home.

"The great majority of the mothers," she said, "are unmarried, but they love their babies as well as those women who have no stigma attached to them. Some of our patients are of the redlight districts, and their mother love and the responsibility of nourishing the tiny life often make better women of them.

"When a girl is strong enough to work we find her employment. We keep track of her as much as possible. If she loses her position we try to find her another.

"There are 1,600 girls a year at our homes, and it is hard to keep track of all of them. Some, who are of foreign birth, return to Europe. Some become wives, and others drift again into wayward lives.

"We require no money, the girls do not have to work hard, and they are not allowed to do anything, except possibly light sewing, for three weeks before the child is born. There is a nominal fee of $25, however, and some of the patients pay it. Those who cannot pay are just as well treated as the others."

The members of the commission expressed satisfaction with the showing, declaring the Salvation army methods were almost ideal.

Commander Thomas Estill and Col. A. Smeeton of the Salvation army were the next witnesses. The committee asked them about the financial and business arrangements, but the two officers could make no authoritative replies, and they were ordered to bring their books.

The Rev. F. W. Schlecte of 2606 Cornelia street, superintendent of the Cook County Kinderheim, a boys' home financed by the Lutheran church, said the institution took care of fifty to fifty-five boys up to 12 years of age, but only until the parents called for them.

Miss Mary Bartelme of the girls' division of the Juvenile court was subpoenaed last night, and a thorough investigation is to be made of the court's method of surrendering young children.

Another subpoena was issued for Charles R. Henderson, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, and director of the National Child's Aid society of Washington, D. C., a maternity home founded by Russell Sage.

He will be questioned as to the method of distributing children in the twenty-six states in which the society has homes.

Will Sell "Mothers' Day" Flowers.

Arrangements for the observance of "Mothers' Day," May 10, in a flower festival to be conducted on the streets of Chicago by the sale of white carnations by members of the Mothers' Day association, were outlined at an open meeting of field workers at Hotel Sherman yesterday.

Fresh white carnations instead of artificial ones will be sold. Receipts will be used for the endowment fund of the Chicago Union hospital's free room for destitute mothers, supported by the league.

Preparations have been made by Mrs. Fred B. Woodland, chairman of the south side committee, for booths at stations on the Illinois Central railroad from Forty-third to Sixty-third streets, with Mrs. Edmund H. Jones as chaperon for these young women selling flowers:

How to Earn Money at Home

The purpose of this department is to find profitable employment for women in occupations which they can carry on at home without interfering with their domestic duties. To stimulate suggestions, The Tribune will award $1 each for every help published. Address—Sally Joy Brown, care The Tribune, Chicago.

The exhibit room in The Tribune building is open from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m., except on Saturday, when it closes at noon.

To Which Do You Belong?

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

ARE you one of the women who can-buy-what-they-want-when-they-want-it?

Or are you one of the women who just buy-what-they-need-when-they-need it?

To which class would you rather belong?

It is largely a matter of choice—and the choice is yours!

The time has passed when women have such heavy household cares that it takes their entire time to do the housework.

Don't you have lots of extra time that you don't know what to do with?

Don't you find that the work of caring for your little house or apartment leaves you many free hours for yourself?

These are the hours that you can make count for something if you will just determine to do so.

Read this letter from one of the home women who has put herself among the women who-buy-what-they-want-when-they-want-it.

"When I was just a young woman and first married I didn't mind going without things for my husband and I were working toward a home of our own. Then the children came and I didn't mind going without things for their sakes. Then the time came when the children were grown and caring for themselves and the home was paid for, and still I seemed to be going without things more from habit than from anything else I guess. After I had read your department for several weeks it suddenly occurred to me that there must be some spare time occupation that I could take up that would give new interest to my life and new money to my pocket. At Christmas time I made the start and now my own little bank book with quite a few 'good times' dollars is the result. I am going to have a vacation this year that I have paid for all by myself and I do not think that there will be a debutante at the resort who will enjoy her outing any more than I will mine. I am starting now on a wild career of having what I want at the time that I want it."

That is the spirit of the modern woman and the spirit that you should have!

You will be happier and healthier for something to occupy your spare time.

Do you delight in making dainty hand made things for grownups and children?

Do you love to fuss around the kitchen inventing all sorts of good things to eat?

Both of these little hobbies of yours can be made to be paying hobbies if you wish to have them so.

Have you a knack at basket work, metal work, hand painting, any of the crafts?

Are you wishing for some of the little extras that will finish your home and make it more complete?

Some new linen, pictures, silver, rugs, cushions, books?

Why not have them now when you really want them?

Why not earn them now when you have the opportunity and the time to do it?

Start today to join the home women who can-buy-what-they-want-when-they-want-it!

Write to me today and let me show you how to make the start!

Good Money in Rag Dolls.

A well made rag doll does not wait long for a purchaser. A patient in a hospital for a long time unable to work made rag dolls and sold them. After she was discharged she returned, reporting that she had made and sold over 500. She made the double headed topsy turvys, one face black, the other white. To make these: Two separate dolls as far as the waist line are made and stuffed. They are then sewed together around the waist, not flattened. The arms are made separate and stuffed only in hand and forearm, the upper arms being left entirely limp. These are then attached to the body and readily fall when the doll is inverted. The dress skirt is long enough to cover completely the lower doll. This is made double of two kinds of material, one gay and bright for Dinah, the other of dainty light goods for the white dolly. Put a turban around the head of the dark dolly and a sunbonnet on the head of the white one.

Another rag dolly can be made with a true profile. Some children object to the lack of a nose on a doll's face, and one can be supplied. First make the ordinary flat faced head and stuff it and then cut two pieces, drawing an outline of a profile and leaving a margin for a seam. Seam up the center, stuff, and sew to the flat face. If preferred, instead of a seam through the middle of the forehead, one can make a third piece and join at the line of the eyebrows. The features inked on almost conceal the seam. The hair is made of ravelled out thread or fringe. It can be curled around a hot wire nail. A few strokes of a pen or brush will indicate the features.

These dolls can be made from scraps of cloth and stuffed with clippings. They may be made with changes of garments, and can be sold in pairs, a girl and a boy doll. The prices vary as to work and material used, but one will find a ready sale for them if neatly made.

MRS. A. FINCH, 3408 Colorado avenue.

The Plebeian Carpet Rug.

A woman of my acquaintance finds pleasant and profitable home employment in making and selling artistic rag rugs. The rags are cut from three-fourths to one inch wide for woolen rugs; from one to two inches wide for cotton ones, according to weight of material. By sewing them on the machine one can sew several pounds in a few hours. It takes about two pounds of rags to make a square yard when woven. After the rags are sewed they are tightly wound into balls and sent to a neighbor, who has a loom, and adds to her income by weaving. She charges 15 cents a yard for weaving and 10 cents a yard for the warp used.

Old sheets, pillow slips, and muslin underwear, woven with white warp, make snowy bath rugs; white rags striped with pink or blue from discarded house dresses and aprons make dainty and serviceable bedroom rugs. Those made from old woolen underwear in soft gray and tan and striped with dull red, blue, or rose, are charming for living rooms. The rug most admired is made from black cotton stockings, woven with white warp and finished at the ends with a cluster of stripes in old blue. This rug looks like black velvet. Each spring, when housekeepers are seeking light and dainty summer furnishings, Mme. Rugmaker holds a sale at her home, showing only the cotton rugs which she has made during the year—all of which can be washed. In the fall she holds another sale, at which she disposes of her year's work in woolen rugs. The prices received for these rugs vary, according to length, quality of material, and beauty of design, and are all sufficient to insure good pay for time expended. Striving for harmonious color combination and variety of design relieves the work from being tedious.

MRS. E. E. DUNN, Cody, Wyo.

Mending Aprons from Toweling.

A pretty and useful mending apron is made by taking three-quarters of a yard of kitchen toweling, one-quarter of which is folded back, the top of which is scolloped. It is divided down the center by feather stitching. It is finished at the belt with ribbon. If blue toweling is used the effect is carried out in blue, likewise in red. These can be made complete for 18 cents and sold for 50 cents.

Sells Flowers at Summer Resorts.

For several years now I have been going to the same summer resort and each year the same little girl comes around selling flowers. Last summer she told me that she had made enough money to pay her way through school. She has her own garden and raises just the daintiest kind of flowers—her specialty being lilies of the valley and forget-me-nots. She is able to sell them to the cottagers at a price just a little lower than the dealers in town are able to put on them. I know of a few of the people who paid her by the week to keep them supplied with flowers.

ADELE KAUFMANN, 5346 Indiana avenue.

Typewritten Recipe Books.

A clever friend of mine who has access to a typewriter earns a neat addition to her income by making booklets of recipes she has compiled, especially suitable for use in preparing refreshments for social occasions. Few women, especially those just beginning housekeeping, have any definite idea of the amount of different food materials needed for serving a large number. For instance, how many cups of coffee may be made from one pound? How many pounds of chicken are needed to make chicken salad for thirty people? How many sandwiches of average size may one make from one pound loaf of bread? Much valuable information of this sort, together with tried recipes, is classified under the following heads: Salads, frozen desserts, beverages, sandwiches, and miscellaneous. These booklets of recipes have found a ready sale at 50 cents each among her friends and at a woman's exchange.

FUNKHOUSER TO HAVE CAR; THEN DOG CATCHERS GET IT.

Council Committee Grants Request by First Deputy Schuettler to Allow Second Deputy Official Auto.

Second Deputy Supt. of Police Funkhouser is to have an automobile for his official use. Permission was granted yesterday by the finance committee for the purchase of the machine at the request of First Deputy Schuettler.

It is to cost $650 and the kind of machine it will be can best be judged from the following excerpt from Mr. Schuettler's letter to the finance committee:

"For $650 we can purchase a perfectly good machine for the use of Mr. Funkhouser which he can use for at least a year, and then it will make a good car for the dog catchers."

Maj. Funkhouser was much pleased when he learned he was to have an automobile. Later when he read Mr. Schuettler's letter he announced he would wait for a glimpse at the machine before making any further comment.

RESINOL RELIEVED ITCHING AT ONCE

And Cured Skin Humor in a Month.

Brooklyn, Nov. 1, 1912.—"At first little red spots were seen on my arms and body, which I noticed were getting larger every day. They itched me so much that I scratched myself until I bled. There were times when I stood up all night and scratched. I was troubled about three weeks, during which time I used ——, which seemed to do me no good whatever. Then, finally, I thought of trying Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. As soon as I applied Resinol Ointment I felt much relief. After using it a few times, I noticed the sore spots slowly fading away, and in about a month I was cured completely." (Signed) Adolph Schoen, 742 Shipherd Avenue.

The soothing, healing balsams in Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, penetrate every tiny pore of the skin, clearing it of all impurities, driving away eczema, rashes, ringworm, psoriasis, and other eruptions, and making pimples and blackheads impossible. Prescribed by physicians for eighteen years. For free samples, write to Dept. 16-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Practically every druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap.—Advertisement.

TRUCE IN THREATENED WAR FOR CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS.

Klaw-Erlanger and Shubert Interests Make Pooling Agreement Affecting Only 2 Cities, Cincinnati Owner Says.

Cincinnati, O., May 2.—That Chicago and St. Louis alone are affected by the recent agreement between the Klaw & Erlanger and Shubert theatrical interests was the statement made by John H. Havlin, owner of the Grand Opera house, in this city today. He says the two firms have agreed to give up certain theaters in these two cities and to make some pooling arrangements.

Mr. Havlin declared that the war between the rival theatrical firms will be waged just as fiercely in Cincinnati in the future as it has in the last few years and that, contrary to reports of a peace pact, the local bookings will clash as they have been doing.

Mr. Havlin has just returned to Cincinnati following a conference with A. L. Erlanger. He declares he was told by Erlanger that there had been nothing doing so far as Cincinnati is concerned and that the cities affected are St. Louis and Chicago.

"The 'tips' outwear the gloves"

"The Kayser" SILK Glove

is the World's standard silk glove—all other silk gloves are measured by the "KAYSER" standard.

The development of the "KAYSER" Silk Glove represents the attainment of an ideal, the achievement of which has not been hampered by restrictions of cost or time, nor influenced by a passing demand for, features most aptly characterized as "talking points."

We could not afford to buy expensive advertising space "year after year," to tell the women of America that "KAYSER" Gloves are the best—in style, fit and finish—if it were not true.

"KAYSER" gloves "cost no more" than the ordinary kind—and are worth double in quality, fit and value.

Don't accept the "just as good" kind, there's a way to tell the genuine—"Look in the Hem"—if you find the name "KAYSER"—you have the kind that "don't wear out" at the finger ends.

A guarantee ticket in every pair.

Educational and Church News

World-in-Chicago Show Will Be Opened Today.

THE World-in-Chicago, the greatest exposition in Chicago since the World's fair, will be formally opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The opening exercises will begin with an address by Bishop William F. McDowell of the Methodist church. Mayor Harrison will extend the greetings of the city, and George W. Dixon, president of The World in Chicago, will preside.

President Wilson from his office in Washington will press a button immediately at the conclusion of Bishop McDowell's address; an electric star will rise and burst forth in light, and an immense American flag unfolding and draping itself behind the speakers' stand will denote the launching of the greatest missionary exposition ever held.

The opening today will mark the crystallization of five months of intense, eager effort on the part of more than 20,000 men and women, boys and girls, who volunteered to serve as stewards to make realistic the representations of the many foreign lands.

In addition to those taking part in the exposition proper at the Coliseum, there are other thousands engaged in the presentation of the dramatic spectacle, "The Pageant of Darkness and Light," which will have its initial performance tonight at the Auditorium theater. Many singers are enrolled in this musical and scenic production.

The Coliseum will present scenes for the next five weeks that will be of wide interest. All the lands of the world where Christian missionaries have gone have been drawn upon for effects to make it a success. Stewards will wear costumes that have been gathered from China, Hawaii, Japan, and many other nations.

The pageant tells the same story as does the exposition proper, although in a different way. In four great episodes, all based upon historical happenings, it unfolds before the spectator great accomplishments of Christianity in many foreign lands. Percy J. Burrell of Boston is pageant master, and the orchestra of forty musicians recruited from the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will be directed by Harrison M. Wild of the Apollo and Mendelssohn clubs. A large number of society women have been enlisted as patronesses. These women—some of them at least—will be on duty back of the stage at the Auditorium during each performance, exercising a chaperonage over the hundreds of young persons who are to participate in the spectacle. In addition to this, the patronesses will see to it that all of the participants are properly costumed before going on the stage.

Congregationalist Praises Methodists.

Several hundred Methodists heard the praises of their church proclaimed last evening at a banquet at Hotel La Salle by the Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, pastor of Central Congregational church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Susanna Wesley, mother of John and Charles Wesley, was the real founder of Methodism," Dr. Cadman said. "Mothers who can produce such men as Wesley and Abraham Lincoln can have the ballot if they want it.

"None of the churches of the day seems to be holding its own. I'm sure Congregationalism is not, and I am afraid Methodism, although it has 20,000,000 communicants in the world, is not, but I believe there never was a time when the church had in it more possibilities of efficiency. I believe the achievements of the future are to be greater than the past."

Woman's Party Picks Officers.

At an adjourned meeting of the Woman's party of Cook county yesterday in Hotel La Salle officers were elected as follows:

President, Mrs. Charlotte C. Rhodus; first vice president, Mrs. Esther Falkenstein; second vice president, Mrs. Marion Bell; third vice president, Mrs. Nella Buck; recording secretary, Mrs. Dora Earle; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Jane R. Snell; assistant corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. M. Bowman; financial secretary, Mrs. Mable S. Weaver; treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Lawrence.

Plan Investigation of School Employes.

FROM time to time there have been small outbursts and protests over the salaries paid to employés of the board of education outside of the educational division.

The board, at its meeting yesterday, directed the president and the secretary of the board to request the civil service commission to assign its efficiency division to investigate and report on the salary and work of school employés, particularly the office force. The action will be independent of the general investigation called for through the resolution of W. A. Vincent. Mr. Vincent's resolution, passed last week by the school management committee and yesterday by the board, calls for an investigation of all departments.

The civil service efficiency division is asked particularly to report on the present compensation for each clerical employé of the board based upon the service performed; the proper compensation to be paid for the service rendered in each particular position without regard to the present employé; the number of employés which should be necessary to do the work required in the various departments other than the educational department.

The finance committee presented the request. It gave as its reason to learn whether or not the present salaries are proper remuneration for the services performed and whether or not the present staff of employés is properly proportioned. The statement points out that the recent reclassification and regrading of the civil service employés of the board has had a tendency to give the public the impression that the salaries are higher than those paid by private firms or other municipal corporations. The present scheme fixes the salary of an employé entering the service at $70 a month. Advancement depends upon passing of examinations and vote of the board.

John J. Sonsteby was appointed chairman of a special committee on commercial education. Mr. Sonsteby aims to make recommendation that the commercial courses of the public schools shall at least equal those of any business college.

Aids Homeless Aged Woman.

Plans were begun yesterday by the Mothers' Relief association at a meeting in the Blackstone hotel to remove Mrs. Marie J. Russell, who is 75 years old, from the Oak Forest infirmary to some home in Chicago or to the flat she occupied until last Monday, at 5936 West Superior street.

Mrs. Russell was found on Sunday morning suffering from a stroke of paralysis and other ailments. She was taken to the county hospital, but was refused admittance, as it was asserted her case was one that called for her removal to Oak Forest.

She was taken home by the police, reëxamined the next day by a county hospital interne, then after a night's stay at that hospital was taken to Oak Park.

The association also decided to start a fund for Mrs. Joseph H. Logue, aged widow of the jeweler murdered in the McVicker's theater building.

Rival Dances Split Class.

The divided terpsichorean activities of Northwestern university seniors were carried through last night. All the fraternities, save one, refused to attend the annual senior promenade, and organized a "May fête" at the Evanston Country club while the recognized function was going on at the Woman's club of Evanston. The fraternity dance was better attended, it is said.

Philadelphia Wants Opera Plan Continued.

THE prospect of a continuance of the arrangement between Chicago and Philadelphia in the matter of the opera was made more nearly certain yesterday when Harold F. McCormick, president of the board of directors of the Chicago Opera company received a telegram from Edward T. Stotesbury, who has been largely responsible for the Philadelphia opera seasons, asking that the Chicago company continue in Philadelphia next year as it has in the last two years.

Mr. McCormick left yesterday for the east, where he will confer with Mr. Stotesbury and also attend the meeting of the Chicago Grand Opera company in New York.

It is more than likely that the existing arrangement with Philadelphia will be maintained. Mr. Stotesbury asked for practically the same itinerary as was followed the last season.

The company, while in the east, will continue under the hyphenated name of Philadelphia-Chicago Grand Opera company. Philadelphia will have at least as long a season—ten weeks—as in the past.

"In his telegram to Mr. McCormick, Mr. Stotesbury expressed a desire to continue the agreement between the cities along the same lines as in the past," said LaVerne W. Noyes, one of the directors, yesterday. "I have no doubt the company will cover at least all the field that it has in the past and perhaps a larger one, and that it will do it better than ever before."

Dippel for Light Opera.

New York, May 2.—[Special.]—Andreas Dippel, retiring director of the Chicago Opera company, is not ready to tell his plans. He said today at the Hotel Knickerbocker that he would have some announcement to make next week. He is looking forward to his first vacation in five years.

"I will have nothing to do with the Century theater," he said. "I may produce light operas."

He declared that his differences with Cleofonte Campanini, who has become head of the Chicago company, were only those usual in the theatrical circles.

Dippel's work with the Chicago company ends tomorrow night, but he will take part in meetings in this city next week, which will partly determine the work of that company next season. Asked where his summer would be spent he smiled his best.

"I shall remain in New York until the middle of May," he said, "and then I am going to Europe. This summer I am going fishing—yes—fishing in the Alps."

Blackfriars Give Operetta.

The first production of "The Pranks of Paprika," the annual comic opera of the Blackfriars of the University of Chicago, was given before a record house in Mandel hall last night. James Dyrenforth as Paprika, the Spanish ingénue, scored the particular hit of the evening, while Craig Redmond, the 300 pound freshman, caused much mirth by his interpretation of Oswald, the cry baby. The book and lyrics of the opera are by Roderick Peattie and Donald Breed, and the music by Lewis J. Fuiks, John E. Rhodes, W. C. K. Achi, Henry Barton, and William Bosworth. The production will be repeated tonight and May 9 and 10.

Must Be Good at Figures.

To help reduce the high cost of living one must be good at figures as well as an economical housekeeper. My mother and I live on $15 a week. I will attempt to explain briefly how we do it. We think we live and dress pretty well. We pay $22.50 a month rent. Our fuel is $30 a year. Cooking gas is $1 a month; illuminating gas is extra. I live near my work, so I don't have to pay carfare and for lunches down town. We do all our plain sewing and mending and I attend a sewing class at a craft guild in the neighborhood where we can use patterns and make simple clothes. In this way we can make over our clothes with adding a little new, which is inexpensive. I also attend the millinery class. By watching the annual sales for suits, coats, and shoes we can buy good articles at reduced prices. We have two charge accounts, which are convenient but not abused. We pay our grocery, market, and milk bills every two weeks, amount $8, and are not bothered with collectors. We never throw anything out. We buy toasting bread, two loaves for 5 cents. Laundry is $2 a month.

We can't save much, but I keep up a life endowment policy which costs $50 a year. For amusements we go to the parks, an outing which we enjoy, and an occasional matinée or concert. Incidentals have to be taken care of, such as repairs, etc. We have been fortunate in not having to pay out much money for doctor bills and medicine. In the summer we take a vacation. E. M. L.

Mother-in-Law's Advice Helped.

I was married when I was 17. I didn't know a thing about cooking or what things cost, but we lived in the same town as my husband's people, and his mother used to come down and tell me things. At first it made me mad to have her bossing me and telling how to run my house, but now after two years I am glad she did, as the high cost of living does not bother me much. She has taught me to do all my baking and sewing. I made over my suit that I had for two years and had it cleaned and pressed. It looks like new. I made over all my things for the baby. I take my husband's shirts after the cuffs wear out and make dresses for the baby. My groceries never go over $10 a month, meat $3, rent $20. When I told one of my friends my groceries never went over $2.50 a week she wanted to know how I could do it. I can't say, as I have no rule to go by. But I have my mother-in-law to thank and I think if more young people did what the mother-in-law told them they wouldn't have to worry so much about high cost of living. L. S.

Father and Daughter Teach.

I am an experienced housekeeper and so I will send you an account of how I manage to get along. Our yearly income is about $1,050. We are a family of five—my husband, three children, and myself. My husband and eldest daughter are both school teachers in a small town. By being very careful and watching where all the odd pennies go I manage to save about $400 yearly. I always watch the sales and do my own purchasing. I buy sugar in large quantities when it is cheap. I do all my own work, including baking, canning, washing, ironing, and cleaning. My eldest daughter does all the family sewing and this alone is quite a help, as it costs so much to hire dressmaking. We have our own chickens, therefore we get enough eggs to do us both for meals and in baking. We have a large garden in summer and raise our vegetables, such as potatoes and cabbage, which are put into the cellar for winter use. I make many nourishing soups which are liked by us all. In this way we always have plenty on the table, besides having the satisfaction of knowing we are gaining instead of losing at the end of the year. MRS. M. W. R.

A Standard That Isn't Standard.

"Twenty-millionths of an inch short!" is the serious indictment made against the veracity of the British royal mint's copy of the standard yard. It is an official verdict by the British deputy warden of the standards, and is contained in a board of trade report.

The discovery was made by microscope, and the royal mint's copy of the standard pound is also impugned. It was found to be 364 hundred-thousandths of a grain heavier than the standard.

The standard yard, made of bronze alloy, and the standard pound, made of platinum, are kept in a strong fireproof room at the weights and measures department on the board of trade in Old Palace yard, London. Copies are kept at the house of parliament, the mint, the Royal society's headquarters, and the Royal observatory.

The parliamentary yard and pound are immured in the wall of the great staircase leading to the committee corridor of the house, and are examined only once in twenty years. The reason for this great care is that the original standards were lost in the fire that destroyed the houses of parliament in 1834. Eleven years were required to determine new standards, and they are almost identical with those in use in the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

Results of the yard test also showed that the standard department copy was 215 millionths of an inch short, and the Greenwich observatory copy forty-three millionths of an inch short.

The tests of the pound showed that the Royal society copy is sixty-eight hundred-thousandths of a grain heavier, and the standards department copy is 261 hundred-thousandths of a grain lighter.

DEAN, PEEVED BY PENMANSHIP, WRITES WARNING TO PUPILS.

But Chirography Is So Uncertain College Students Have Difficulty in Deciphering It.

Dean John H. Wigmore of the Northwestern Law school is peeved because his students display poor penmanship in writing their examination papers, and threatens not only a curtain lecture to the guilty but also says that he will propose that a certificate of penmanship shall be a requisite to graduation.

The "case" that prompted this "cause of action" by the dean resulted from an examination in evidence offered by Prof. Wigmore last Saturday. After wrestling with the hieroglyphs of the students for several days he yesterday posted the following notice:

"I deplore the wretched scratch-marks which in many evidence examination books were offered by intelligent men as the medium suited to convey their thoughts. The consideration given by me to these hieroglyphs was such as no judge nor other person will ever give. I shall at the next meeting of the faculty offer a resolution that no person reported for indecipherable handwriting shall be recommended for a degree until after presenting a certificate of a course in penmanship."

One hundred members of the dean's classes read—or tried to read—the ultimatum, and smiled, for the joke of the affair, according to the students, lies in the fact that the dean himself is far from being an expert with the pen.

Italian Eggs.

MILAN.

THE Church of Santa Maria della Grazia is one of the famous basilicas of Italy, not only because it is unique in its own way but because in the building adjoining it, the "cenacolo" or dining room of a former monastery, is Leonardo da Vinci's world renowned picture, "The Last Supper." This was painted on the wall at one end of the ancient refectory, and therefore it is but ill preserved.

The laying of the table in Da Vinci's time was exactly the same as the laying of the common, every day table of Italy today. There is the roll of bread by each plate, and the appearance of the whole seems modern Italian.

It seems queer to see yards of brocaded red silk hung against the defaced outer walls of old churches, as it so frequently is, and it is likewise used in various official connections, in rooms where civil marriages take place, etc. But the queerest part is that the Italians should call this color purple. Their word is "pupurao," which the dictionary translates as "purple colored."

In Italian cooking recipes the yolk of egg is called by two names, and one—and that seemingly the most common—is that of "the red of egg." The Italian word for red is "rosso."

They make a great deal of the egg in Italy and more of the yolk than the white, quite the of using leftover yolks. They try to find ways of using left over yolks. They try to find ways to use leftover whites, such thing as angel cake being unknown in Italy.

The osteria or restaurants of the lowest class and the trattoria or eating places of the next but not much higher class, as well as the first class ristoranti, have about the same list of uova or eggs. Under this head we usually find: 'Due al burro,' (two in butter); "Due al latte" (two in milk); "Due sode" (two hard boiled, of course); omelet.

The two in butter, the two in milk, and the two often in tomato sauce are broken into a dish with a bit of salt, and a little milk or butter or tomato uice, and cooked in the manner we used to call shirring.

One of the favorite omelets is that made with artichokes, which are used so diversely and effectively here. At the height of the season twenty of these, and splendid ones, may be purchased for 10 cents.

The omelet with fruit inside is a favorite. It may be rolled up around a marmalade or stewed fruit, but it is then sprinkled with sugar, brandy is poured over it, and a lighted match applied. The alcohol is all burned up, there is something of a caramel formed as a residue from the mixture of sugar and spirits burned, and the dessert is hot.

Oatmeal Drop Cookies.

WORK one cup shortening (half butter, half lard) until creamy, add one cup sugar gradually, beating constantly, beat two small eggs light, stir into one-third cup milk, and then put with shortening and sugar. Add one and one-half cups rolled oats, one cup seeded and chopped raisins, one-half cup chopped English walnuts, and one and one-half cups flour, into which have been previously sifted one-quarter teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon each of cinnamon, cloves, allspice, and soda. Beat all well together and drop by the teaspoon on a buttered sheet, about one and one-half inch apart, and bake in a moderate oven. This will make about five dozen little cakes.—Kindness of Mrs. M. G.

Drop Boston Cockles.

One and one-half cups brown sugar, two-thirds cup butter, four eggs beaten light. Add to sugar and butter. One teaspoon soda in a little hot water, two cups flour, a little nutmeg, and cinnamon, one cup chopped raisins, one cup chopped walnuts. Drop with a teaspoon on buttered tin.

Requests for Pieces.

The old adage that "it never rains but it pours" frequently comes to the mind on looking over the mail received through our Corner. If one person writes for a certain article several other letters asking for the same article come within the next few days. Just now the "rain" takes the form of requests for "pieces" of various kinds. I have before me at this writing no less than a dozen letters asking for "scraps" or bits of cotton, silk, or velvet. I give some of these requests, and am entering in our index the addresses of the writers. Perhaps we may not be able to gratify the longings of all these correspondents, but, as I said recently, now that the dressmaking season is upon us many of us will have bits of material that are too small to be used in any way except for quilts and bed spreads. The following letters speak for themselves:

"Will you kindly send me some cotton patches? I am a poor widow and can use them. I will pay expressage. MRS. T. C. K."

"I am making a quilt, and I have not enough silk pieces. I wish I could get some. I also need cotton material, if it is possible for me to get some. I will pay postage. M. B."

"I should be glad to get silk pieces for a quilt; also some cotton ones. Are there not some for me? HELEN S. S."

"May I ask for pieces for a silk quilt that is being made by my grandmother, who is lame, and also a shut-in? MRS. R. F."

"Have you some silk pieces to give away? Also some cotton ones? I want some very much. I am past 50 years of age, and got hurt on a street car. Since then I have not been able to do much work. I pass quite a lot of time making quilts. I should appreciate pieces very much. MRS. B. S."

"If all the silk and cotton pieces offered are not gone, please be kind enough to give them to me. I will thank you from my heart. I am an old lady and I can piece quilts, which I do to buy food. K. S."

An Ear Trumpet Easily Made.

"Through your helpful Corner I should like to pass on to those afflicted with deafness directions for the most effective speaking tubes. We find, after trying many things, that to take a piece of stiff paper or thin cardboard and roll it (as one would send a piece of music through the mail) is best of all. Have it fourteen inches long. It could be shorter and covered with silk. L. C. A."

This is an ear trumpet that is within the reach of all. Our deaf Cornerites will, I am sure, be delighted to hear of it and will waste no time in testing the virtue of what our correspondent considers "the most effective speaking tube" he has found. Covered with silk and finished with a ribbon loop by which it may be carried or slipped over the arm or wrist, it would not be unornamental.

Wants a Sewing Machine.

Our next letter tells of favors received and mentions a hope of still another gift to come.

"I received the address of the woman who had a sewing machine, but when I called I found she had given it away. The other address you sent me was of a woman who had baby clothes to give away. Her baby no longer needed them. As her child was one month older, but much larger than mine, the little clothes came in handy, and can be worn for some time. I was glad to get them. But I was so disappointed about that sewing machine. Perhaps another will be offered later. MRS. M. R."

Perhaps! And, if so, I hope you will apply for it before it is too late. But we are glad you got the baby clothes!

Help for a Little Girl.

"The 'Child of the Corner' (L. W.), whose address you sent to me, has touched my heart. The word 'rear' brings up such a desolate picture to me. I shall write a few lines today to this little girl. The case appeals to me. I hardly understand the sentence, 'report on the case, as it is today.' I think it means as soon as she writes to me to send word or report of her to you. Am I right? MRS. G. R. S."

Yes, you are entirely right, and we thank you for your goodness to our little girl, as well as for your unfailing kindness toward all in whom we are interested.

Notes of Thanks.

"Will you kindly thank, through your Corner, the woman who so kindly offered the baby buggy? I had to send for the buggy, so was not able to discover who the giver was. I must therefore take this means of thanking her. If she could only have seen the mother she would have felt repaid for the gift! To the gift of the buggy the young people added a robe and bonnet, which were appreciated as much as the buggy. L. H. P."

"My dear friend about whom I wrote you in regard to a housekeeper is no more. She is at rest. I received a number of applications and have answered them all. Your Corner is wonderful!" MRS. W. E. Y."

"I do not know whether or not any one has written to you, telling you of the passing of our shut-in, Miss F. M. She was so grateful for all the kind interest taken in her by the Cornerites. And I am sure all those who added to her pleasure and comfort must feel truly grateful for the opportunity. Is it not the 'little things' that bring into our lives the greatest happiness? A FRIEND."

Laura Jean Libbey's Advice
By Laura Jean Libbey

We'll Get You Yet.

[Copyright: 1913: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

"Yet it is love; if thoughts of tenderness
Tried in temptation, strengthened by distress,
Unmoved by absence, firm in every clime,
And yet, oh, more than all, untired by time."

WHEN a bevy of sweet young girls are kind enough to invite a bachelor to their social gatherings and he persistently, yet courteously, sends his regrets, nine times out of ten the mischievous maids put their pretty heads together and determine that they will get him yet. He abhors dancing parties. He couldn't sit through a play; he has a perfect dread of automobiling. He flees the other way when lawn tennis is mentioned. He always had some excellent excuse to offer which pardoned his not coming to spend the evening at their homes, or dining with them.

After bringing every effort to get him into their midst, instead of despairing and giving him up as unattainable, they begin all over again. No matter how set a man may be in his determination to avoid the fair sex, he cannot bombard the fusillades of invitations forever that come thick and fast upon him. Out of sheer desperation he concludes that he will put in an appearance at some social function, even though he stays but a few moments.

There is always much silent amusement among the group of girls who vowed they will see him yet, when he enters the door. They do not tax him with neglecting them. On the contrary, each one does her best to make it so pleasant and entertaining for him that he will secretly feel quite ashamed of himself for refusing the many previous invitations.

The quarter of an hour which he has set as the limit of his stay flits by so quickly that he forgets to note it. In every group of women there is always one which appeals to a single man more than the others. He finds himself not only constantly by her side, but actually asking permission to call upon her the following week.

The girl is one of the little band who vowed not to discourage his attentions. That's how the romance of many a bachelor begins. They might live and die bachelors for many a day if determined young ladies did not resolve to take pity on them and give them a chance to meet nice girls. Many young men determinedly refuse these invitation for the very reason that they fear they will meet some one to whom the heart may go out, while they are not in a position, financially, to wed. Girls may realize this fact quite as well as the young man himself, but determine to get him yet to attend their social affairs, through sheer pity for his loneliness.

Very often, when you hear of a rich society girl marrying a poor but worthy young man it is probably the outcome of just such a happening. He is not proof against love, and as long as they are happy and the parents of each are pleased the world should look upon it with equal favor. When invitations from a bevy of girls pour in upon a young man constantly he might as well capitulate gracefully to them at once. For they'll be sure to get him into the fold sooner or later.

There is no use in his flying from Cupid. He is sure to be overtaken. This he will not regret, but will wish that he had been overtaken sooner, no doubt. Bachelors are the same at heart the wide world over. If they are brought in contact with sweet and marriageable girls their bachelorhood is doomed. Why not face the music without ado?

The longer a man worries and considers the subject of marriage the greater the obstacles seem to arise. The young man who seems to frequent the society of desirable young ladies soon discovers that their companionship has a refining influence upon him. It creates a new interest and zest in life.

Sister-in-Law Snubbed Her.

"Dear Miss Libbey: Tell me if you think I am right in refusing to go anywhere where my sister-in-law is, as she has openly snubbed me a great many times for no reason at all, or that I know of. I've been to a couple of places where she was and she has shook hands with people that were standing next to me, also asked them up and she went right by me as if I wasn't there. At another time she came to ask us up and she stayed outside on the sidewalk while her husband came to the door to ask us up, but wouldn't come in the house. Of course, I refused to go there, saying if they couldn't come in the house I couldn't either, but my husband went there without me and I stayed at home. Do you think he did right in going? Another time my husband's mother and sister came for a visit and my sister-in-law knew they were here and she wanted to see them, so she came and didn't speak to me at all, but said to my husband's sister that she knew they were here. She was married two years before she asked us up, but she had lots of company before then. A great many things like that. Of course, I believe if people snub you, keep away from them and where they are. Of course, it hurts, and it makes it bad for me, as my husband doesn't like it and tells me that I don't have to cause any hard feeling in the family. C. B."

It is so much better for the wife to be friendly toward her husband's people. Why don't you have a good, frank talk with your sister-in-law and ask her why she acts that way toward you? I think perhaps an understanding would result happily for both of you, as she must have some grievance—real or fancied—against you, or she would not act so unnaturally. At any rate, it is better to make an attempt at reconciliation with your sister-in-law than to let any trouble between you and your husband arise.

Tried to Hug Her!

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am in love with a gentleman about three years my senior, and have been keeping steady company for the past seven months. About two weeks ago, while riding on a car he attempted to put his arm around me, for which I rebuked him. He did not say anything further, so I looked out of the window and placed my muff up to my face. He did not speak to me the rest of the way home, and when I spoke to him he pretended to be sleeping. When I reached my destination he did not leave the car to escort me home, and I have neither heard from him nor have I seen him since that night. Now, I don't know whether he thought I was offended and refused to speak or whether he was offended. As I am greatly in love with this gentleman, would you deem it advisable for me to call him up or write to him to find out how he feels about it? R."

You had every right to be offended with the fellow. His actions showed him to be an extremely crude, illbred person. Do not give him to understand that you treat the affair so lightly that you are willing to renew the old relations without an apology from him. If you do he will only feel privileged to repeat the offense whenever he pleases. I would advise you never to recognize the fellow again. He certainly showed that he is lacking in all the finer qualities of manhood.

Woman's Duty.

[Copyright: 1913: By Lillian Russell.]

IT is a woman's duty to her home folks to be clean and presentable at all times. We are reading much of late of woman's duty to her husband, and one eminent clergyman advises husbands to beat wives if they give them cause for jealousy; but nothing is given as a suggestion of what punishment they should administer to husbands who give them cause for jealousy.

One would think that all causes for marital unhappiness were feminine.

I do think that many women bring about a state of discontent and discouragement by their personal neglect. A woman has no right to appear before her husband and children in an unclean dress nor undressed hair; there is no excuse for personal negligence.

The man loves the woman he marries and not the being she often dwindles into by laziness and stupidity. But the woman also loves the man she marries, not the self-satisfied, negligent, indifferent thing he sometimes degenerates into.

It is a poor rule that does not work both ways. There is just as much cause on one side as on the other for marital unhappiness, and there should be just as many punishments on one side as another.

It is generally neglect which causes a woman to accept attentions from outsiders. Men have generally sown their wild oats when they marry and look for quiet evenings and fireside comforts, while girls too often marry for a home and a steady escort to places of amusement.

Where true love is there should be every incentive to please one another, to attract by sweetness and cleanliness of mind and person, and neither one should neglect any of the charms which so fervently played a part in their courting days.

The trouble with men and women of today is their neglect of themselves. The woman who neglects herself to administer to her husband or children in other than illness is laying the foundation of her unhappiness.

To be always charming is a duty husbands and wives owe to each other.

The woman who falls into the habit of sarcasm has long lost her charm or power to charm, and the man who speaks contemptuously to his wife, either privately or before others, is a home breaker. There may be toleration after that, but there is no real happiness; the seed is sown for discontent and that is followed by indifference and neglect.

A beating would never cure a woman of giving cause for jealousy; the cause is there well planted, discontent has taken root, indifference and neglect are well sprouted; her beaten body cannot restore her broken spirit. Going back to the cause will find that her husband's neglect and indifference have probably started her downfall.

And the same cause for man's waywardness and unfaithfulness can be laid at the door of the slovenly, indifferent wife.

Remember: In the creation of man God called woman to his assistance; wherein is woman less than man?

Lillian Russell's Answers.

RAYMOND: I am afraid there is nothing you can do to reduce the size of your nose. When the bone is large there is nothing that will make it smaller.

A. C.: Buttermilk is excellent for the complexion, but I hardly think it would remove pimples and blackheads. These can only be removed by absolute cleanliness and persistent care of the face. I shall be glad to give you instructions for using the green soap treatment for removing blackheads, also the formula for an excellent cold cream which is used for cleansing the face, if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

I. B. S.: Will you please write to me again and tell me what you wish? You asked me to help you, but forgot to tell me what you wanted and failed to give me your name and address. I shall be glad to help you when I get this information.

MARGARET: Girls with brown hair and blue eyes can wear almost any color. The best way to do is match as nearly as possible the color of your eyes, getting perhaps a shade darker. This will make your eyes appear larger and darker. I should think you could wear the greens, blues, reds, tans, but not the real dull browns or black. Avoid all dark and somber colors.

FIDELIA: A girl of your complexion and hair can wear all the light colors, the pale blues, pinks, yellows, greens, light tan or red, but should not wear the dark colors, such as browns or blacks.

DESPAIR: From your description I should think you need a good tonic. I would advise you to consult your physician. Perhaps the great amount of sweets you eat has something to do with the nausea. I would advise you to stop eating them for a while and eat good, simple, nourishing foods. I shall be glad to send you a dietary for gaining flesh, also a formula for developing the bust, if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope. I would also advise you to stay out in the air as much as possible. Take long walks and exercise in the open air. I am sure this will help you not only in gaining flesh but in making you feel more rested when you get up in the morning. Also practice deep breathing. I shall send you these instructions if you care for them.

SAYS COURT SURROUNDINGS IMPRESS CHILD OFFENDERS.

Judge Pinckney Tells Wisconsin Alumni Club That Better Quarters Mean More Respect for the Law.

At a luncheon of the Wisconsin Alumni club yesterday in the Grand Pacific hotel Judge Pinckney of the Juvenile court asserted that surroundings in a courtroom had considerable weight with children, especially in creating a respect for the law.

"Since the court has been installed in the county building," said the judge, "I have noticed an appreciable difference in the attitude of the offenders towards the court. The better quarters seem to inspire the lads with a certain respect for the law which was lacking in the old quarters. I believe President McCormick of the county board did a great service for the children in moving our quarters to the county building.

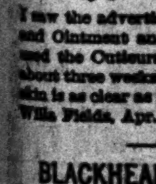

"Another big step in advance was the selection of a woman assistant to take charge of the cases of girl offenders. The girls will open their hearts to a woman where they never would tell a man."

ANGOSTURA BITTERS originated 1824, an old friend; an effective spring tonic.—Advertisement.

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED

All the Time. Face Mass of Sores. Could Not Sleep At Night. In Misery. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment 3 Weeks and Was Cured.

1245 Bridge St., Indianapolis, Ind.—"I feel that I must write and tell what Cuticura Soap and Ointment have done for me. The eczema first broke out in pimples all over my face and itched and burned all the time. My face was a mass of sores. I could not sleep at night and was in misery all of the time. I tried everything I heard of but was not helped any. At last I saw the advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for some. I only used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for about three weeks and was cured. Now my skin is as clear as it can be." (Signed) Miss Willa Fields, Apr. 8, 1912.

BLACKHEADS AND PIMPLES

3482 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill.—"I was troubled with blackheads and pimples for over a year. I had them on my forehead and chin. They were rather large and came to a head and were very disfiguring indeed. I used most everything without help until I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. WHEAT DECLINES ON HEAVY CABLES Weakness at Liverpool with the More Favorable Weather Depress Futures.

SHIPPING INQUIRY SLOW.

Country Offerings of Corn Are Light, but Eastern Situation Is Reported Weak.

Lower Liverpool cables with good rains in Nebraska and parts of Kansas caused a further depression in wheat prices yesterday. Offerings were heavy, there being quite a little liquidation by holders, while the buying support was of a feeble sort most of the day. Predictions were for more showers in Kansas and Nebraska, and this deprived the bulls of one of their chief helps. Final prices were ⅛@¼c lower.

Liverpool was ⅜@⅞d off in spite of moderate shipments from Argentina and Australia. No comparison in Paris and Antwerp prices. Berlin was ⅛c off and Budapest 1c lower. Buenos Aires showed a strong tone, opening ⅝@1⅛c higher than Wednesday's close. Foreign crop conditions favorable, and the spot demand at Liverpool was less urgent. Prices for spot wheat were unchanged to ½d off.

Rains General in West.

Private advices indicated rains in the west and southwest were more general than officially reported, and during the day there were quite a number of places reporting good rains. Chinch bugs were said to be doing damage to the wheat in Oklahoma, Inglis wiring that some fields in northern Oklahoma were becoming spotted as a result of their work. Generally crop reports were extremely favorable, and Kansas City reported more liberal country offerings as the result of the fine crop prospects.

Minneapolis stocks decreased 700,000 bu for the week, and a liberal decrease is expected at Duluth for the week. Cash prices at Minneapolis were steady relatively, but the demand was less urgent. Receipts at the two northwest points were 244 cars, compared to 108 cars a year ago, and the movement shows no signs of diminishing. Winnipeg had only 123 cars, compared to 465 cars a year ago.

Poor Demand from Abroad.

Exporters here reported only a moderate demand for wheat for export, and bids were reported out of line. Local cash sales for shipment were 100,000 bu. The southwest and Omaha had liberal receipts. Clearances for the day were liberal at 606,000 bu wheat and flour.

Argentine shipments for the week were 3,688,000 bu. There was another decrease of about 1,000,000 bu in the Argentine visible, indicating moderate shipments the coming week. India and Australia shipped 344,000 bu and 720,000 bu respectively. Modern Miller reported the prospect for the largest winter wheat crop on record.

Corn Tone Is Draggy.

The weakness in wheat caused moderate selling of corn, and prices were inclined to drag lower. Prices for the day were ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher. The cash demand was moderate and sample prices were ¼@½c lower. Shipping sales were 165,000 bu. Weather conditions continue favorable, and considerable progress has been made in planting corn in the southern part of the belt.

The cash demand from the east was reported slow, and it was said that corn was being offered much cheaper at eastern lake ports than from Chicago. Country acceptances here were moderate. Receipts were 180 cars. Primary receipts were 549,000 bu, against 687,000 bu a year ago. Argentine shipments were 2,321,000 bu. Liverpool cables were ⅛@¼d off. Clearances from this country for the week were 271,000 bu, compared to 236,000 bu a year ago.

Fair Support in Oats.

Oats met with fair support, but the weakness in wheat checked the buying and on the hard spots there was selling of an influential kind. Prices for the day were ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher. Cash prices were ¼@½c off. Shipping sales were 175,000 bu. Offerings from the country were moderate. Weather conditions were favorable as a rule, rains in the west and southwest being beneficial. Receipts were 140 cars. Primary receipts were 524,000 bu, against 390,000 bu a year ago.

Packers Support Products.

Hogs were 5@10c off at the yards and the market for products was slow with an easier tone most of the day. Packers were credited with giving the market a little support. Receipts here of hogs were 18,000, with 11,000 estimated for today. Western receipts were 66,900, compared to 69,700 a year ago. Liverpool prices were steady, except for lard, which was 3d higher. The cash trade was fair.

Rye Quiet and Steady.

Rye was quiet and steady, with sales of sample grade at 55c. No. 2 closed at 62¼@63½c nominal. Receipts were 1 car.

Barley was steady, with malting, 54@67c; feed, 44@47c, and screenings, 20@40c. Receipts were 31 cars.

Timothy seed was quiet, with spot contract, $3.95 bid and $4.10 asked; September, $4.10 bid and $4.25 asked; cash lots, $2.75@3.50.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

John F. Wright & Co. have the following from a prominent Duluth firm: "There had been little or no wheat worked for eastern shipment from this market during the past two or three days, and we consider the local situation anything but bullish. While some of the elevator companies here are paying 1½c over May for No. 1 wheat on track, this is merely the result of a dispute between two of the big companies doing business in this market. No. 1 wheat is offered in store at May price in exchange for May. There is a little of it being taken on this basis, but not very much, considering the liberal stocks to be disposed of."

The demand for wheat from abroad was reported slow here yesterday, and judging from advices from the southwest and from Duluth there was not much inquiry at other points. The milling demand was also comparatively slow, although there were fair sales on the dip. Kansas City reported cash wheat hard to sell, with prices ½c off. Increased country offerings were reported at Kansas City, the fine crop prospects increasing the selling by country holders. Cash corn here was about ½c lower; oats, ¼@½c off. Demand for oats and corn was reported slow. Country acceptances were small of both corn and oats.

"Although the product recovered somewhat from the staggering, unexpected run of hogs on Monday, the undertone at this writing is one of easiness occasioned by the expectancy of more hogs to follow as soon as farm work will admit of marketing them," said King-Farnum. "The undebatable question seems to be that hogs are too high, and it is to be hoped for that they will sell lower in the next few weeks and then product will attract investors on the light stocks and the surety of a big summer and fall trade on the lower level."

The Modern Miller in its estimate of the winter wheat crop says the prospects are for the largest crop ever raised. The total abandoned acreage is placed at 973,000 bu, and the condition May 1 is placed at 92. Yields indicated for the principal states follow: Ohio, 34,484,000 bu; Indiana, 39,952,000 bu; Illinois, 42,187,000 bu; Missouri, 39,281,000 bu; Nebraska, 62,120,000 bu; Kansas, 118,378,000 bu; Oklahoma, 29,515,000.

John Inglis wired Logan-Bryan from Enid, Okla.: "Northern Oklahoma condition much impaired by chinch bugs, which are now working extensively in wheat. Many fields spotting and losing color. While nothing suffering for moisture, rain needed quickly to check bugs. Oats growing rapidly. Good stand and color. Wheat well advanced. Rye headed out."

Bradstreet's reported exports of wheat and flour from both coasts this week at 2,628,000 bu, a decrease of 866,000 bu. Corn exports were placed at 271,000 bu, decreasing 854,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

Trade Shows Pronounced Weakness—Eggs Buoyant and Firmer—Potatoes Advance—Fruits, Vegetables Active.

Weakness of a pronounced character developed in the market for butter at Chicago yesterday and prices dropped ½@1c a pound, with lower grades showing the maximum loss. Demand was lethargic, while receipts were 5,996 tubs, showing some increase. Egg market continued buoyant and active with prices firm to a shade higher on the better grades. Receipts were 29,968 cases.

Potatoes offered on sale were of much better quality and 2@3c higher prices were secured, although the market was not quoted higher than on Thursday. Receipts were 41 cars and the trade was active, with sales at 39@47c per bu.

A decline of ½c per lb in the price of live roosters was the only change made in poultry values. Receipts were 2 cars by freight and 900 coops by express. Demand was good for all descriptions excepting roosters.

PROFIT $280,000 IN REALTY DEAL

Steele-Wedeles Co. Makes Big Sum Over 1883 Cost by Sale to University of Chicago.

FEAT NEAR DUPLICATION

Studebaker Company Clears $176,500 in Sale of Fee for $380,000.

The University of Chicago has purchased from Steele-Wedeles company, wholesale grocers, and others the property at the southwest corner of North La Salle and West South Water streets for $480,000 cash.

The lot fronts eighty feet on South Water street and 150 feet on La Salle street and is improved with a four story and basement brick building which has been occupied by the Steele-Wedeles company for more than forty years. The founders of the company purchased the property in 1883 for $150,000.

The company has taken back a lease of the property from the university for ten years and will continue to occupy it for offices and sample rooms.

The board of review valued the land at $267,972 and the building at $30,000, a total of $297,972.

Albert L. Strauss and B. A. Fessenden were the brokers, while Carl Meyer looked after the legal details for the sellers and Noble B. Judah and Wallace Heckman for the university. The building is said to have not figured in the transaction, making the sale at the rate of $5,375 a front foot and $35.83 a square foot.

Another Downtown Deal.

Another important deal closed in the downtown district was the sale by the Studebaker Vehicle company to Richard C. Lake of the fee at the northeast corner of Wabash avenue and Hubbard court for $380,000. The property fronts 120 feet on Wabash avenue and 172 feet on Hubbard court and is across the alley west of the Blackstone hotel.

The lease provides for a graded rent running from $20,000 to $30,000 a year, the latter for the last forty-four years of the term and $26,000 for the eighty-six and one-half years preceding this. The net annual rent for the owners of the fee and the Owen leasehold interest, after paying the rent due from the Studebaker to Owen, is $12,800 to 1914, $15,300 for the next three years, $16,800 for the next four months, $18,000 for the next four years and eight months, and $20,000 for eighty-one years. Mr. Lake will secure an average return from the fee and leasehold interest of 4.25 per cent to July, 1922, and 5.26 per cent thereafter. The Studebaker company takes a profit of $176,500. Rounds & Wetten were the brokers, while W. B. McIlvaine and W. S. Oppenheim attended to the legal details.

Another downtown deal made a matter of record was the lease by Mrs. Ada F. Winston to Elmer E. Wilt of the property at 361-65 River street, on the south side of the street, between Wabash and Michigan avenue.

Sell Marble Theater.

Charles O. Barnes has sold to Paul Windmueller and Herman Elich the Marble theater property at 3956-3958 Elston avenue, near Irving Park boulevard, consideration nominal, but said to be $40,000. A. B. Mogoolski was the broker.

William H. Totten has sold for Edgar W. Carne to Albert F. Marthe the property on the south side of Milwaukee avenue, including the corners of Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth avenues. It fronts 478 feet on Milwaukee avenue and has the unique distinction of being "wet" territory, but entirely surrounded by "dry" districts. Mr. Marthe has conveyed to the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee. It is reported a new corporation, known as the Lambs Garden and Amusement company, is to erect a building and garden at Sixtieth and Milwaukee avenues and will conduct a restaurant and garden.

W. A. Tilden, president of the Fort Dearborn National bank; his brother, Edward Tilden; Fred C. Bell, for eighteen years with McKey & Poague, and his brother, George B. Bell, have acquired an interest in the real estate firm of H. O. Stone & Co. and will be associated with Thomas W. Magill in conducting the business of the firm. The latter two are to participate in the active management of the business.

TONE OF MONEY EASES DISTINCTLY

Some National Banks Reduce Call Loan Rate from 6 to 5½ Per Cent.

COUNTRY BALANCES HIGH

Condition Presages Less Disturbance When Money Is Needed for Crop Moving.

Money in Chicago is distinctly easier. National bank call loans were marked down in some instances yesterday from 6 to 5½ per cent. Several of the trust companies began making 5½ per cent loans last week, but the voluntary marking down from 6 to 5½ per cent by a national bank was first noted yesterday. It is probable that within a short time the general minimum will be 5½ per cent.

It has developed that certain country banks are running unusually strong, not caring to invite embarrassment in drawing down their balances in the coming autumn in order to meet crop moving requirements. This should work out as a wholesome situation, since it will mean that country institutions to a considerably greater extent than usual will be able to meet the demands of their customers without disturbing their reserve center correspondents.

Call money in New York was easier and rates were low in Boston. That the banks are making lower rates suggests a welcome lessening of the tension that for weeks has obtained among banking interests.

Known Movements of Money.

Known movements of money for the week ended Thursday indicate a gain in cash by the New York banks of $7,494,202. They gained net from the interior $11,642,205 and lost to the subtreasury $1,863,000, adding $2,385,000 for gold shipped. The net gain by the banks on all accounts was as indicated.

St. Paul Bond Concession.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway has granted a concession to Potter, Choate & Prentice and Harris, Forbes & Co. in the underwriting price for the extension of the $2,155,000 first mortgage and the $5,092,000 consolidated mortgage bonds of the Milwaukee and Northern Railroad company. The readjustment calls for a reduction in the underwriting price of the former of 2 points and 3 points in the latter. As the bonds were underwritten at 99, this means that the bankers will now pay 97 for the first mortgage and 96 for the consolidated bonds.

Alas, Too True.

McCutcheon's amiable cartoon portraying the dolorous condition that obtains in commission house circles was regarded in La Salle street as reflecting a high degree of perspicacity on the part of a layman. The only fault found with the cartoon was the sign suggesting a free lunch as an inducement for trading. This was regarded as an unwarranted if not cruel suggestion of opulence.

Municipal Bond Sales Larger.

Municipal bond issues throughout the United States reached a total during the month of April of $20,219,100, against $24,457,300 the previous month, and $22,234,687 in April, 1912. The total since Jan. 1 is $85,742,940 as compared with $97,488,821 for the corresponding period in 1912.

The largest single issue of municipal bonds sold in April was $5,104,000 placed by the city of San Francisco. The following table compiled by the New York Financial Chronicle shows the output of permanent municipal bond issues for the month of April and the first four months in previous years:

Deutsche Bank's View.

In its annual review the Deutsche bank says: "New capital was created in considerable amounts, but the demand therefor was in excess of the supply in Germany as well as other parts of the world, as was evidenced in many ways. The new securities issued during the year under review on which stamp duty was paid and the tax exempt loans of the German empire and several states, aggregated $952,381,000, about $119,047,000 more than the preceding year.

"Deposits in savings banks increased in a less degree than in previous years. Still in Germany the increase according to estimate was considerably more than $143,000,000, while in France there was apparently a decrease. War fears, no doubt, helped to bring about this result. The deposits in the German savings banks largely exceed $4,300,000,000, which is about double the combined deposits and accounts payable of all the commercial banks in Germany."

Great Western Sugar.

W. A. Dixon, vice president and general manager of the Great Western Sugar company, denies the report that the company contemplates the expenditure of a considerable amount of money for the purpose of improving and enlarging the company's plants in northern Colorado, Nebraska, and Montana.

He says considerable money would be expended during the present summer, but for the purpose only of putting the plants in condition to handle the succeeding season's crops. He adds:

"From the viewpoint of the beet sugar manufacturers the situation at Washington is extremely critical, and at the present time we are not even considering the expenditure of any money except that which is absolutely necessary in order to maintain the present efficiency in the operation of our plants."

Small Gain by Sears.

It is announced that sales made by Sears Roebuck & Co. in April were $8,213,000, an increase of $250,859, or 3.15 per cent, compared with the corresponding month last year.

LATEST WALL STREET GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Special.]—There was a great deal of quiet satisfaction in stock exchange circles over the news of the defeat in the senate of the incorporation bill. The relief of mind experienced did not manifest itself in any outbreak of enthusiasm. Apprehension aroused when the bill was first proposed has latterly subsided as the chances of the bill going through seemed less. But genuine relief was felt just the same, because it is now the opinion that the question has been settled for keeps.

This last proposal to incorporate the exchange could not have been made at a time more suited to insure success. Everything was in favor of a measure of the kind going through. The bill was introduced when a great outcry, sincere or otherwise, against Wall street and Wall street practices had reached its height. Public interest in financial affairs was kept at a white heat by the activities of the Pujo investigating committee. If stock exchange incorporation was ever to become a reality it should logically have come now. But in spite of all these influences the contentions of the exchange were upheld.

Realization of the fact that the question of incorporation is out of the way, according to one stock exchange member, ought to add at least $10,000 to the price of seats.

People with an intimate knowledge of the conditions surrounding the birth of the stock exchange bill and its short life assert that the record of the exchange at Albany was the most effectual influence in killing the measure. There is one point upon which the stock exchange authorities have been able to congratulate themselves in an extremely ticklish situation, and that is their knowledge that for the last half century their skirts have been absolutely clean of the stain of political corruption. If the stock exchange had been guilty of any trafficking of the kind it is safe to say that it would have come out in the present wave of hysterical denunciation.

Attempts were made to impute bribery charges to defeat the present stock exchange legislation, but they fell so utterly flat that the effort was soon abandoned. Nowadays it may be a little like dwelling upon the obvious to refer to virtue in this respect, but people who remember the open manner in which business and politics were "straddled" in Albany twenty years ago will agree that the stock exchange has some reason to be proud of its record.

If present prospects are realized even to 80 per cent of current indications, the facilities of the country's banks and railroads will be severely taxed to take care of the crops. That is the latest point upon which some people appear to be worrying. A fitting parallel to the state of mind of people who confess to apprehension on this score is furnished by the farmer whose only comment on the fairest prospect ever known for his harvests was that it would simply kill him to move them.

Taking a fall out of the income tax bill is quite a popular diversion nowadays. The Manufacturers' Record, illustrating the embarrassing character of some of its provisions, presents the case of an individual with an aggregate income of $20,000, divided into four parts—namely: $5,000 in salary, $5,000 from the rent of an office building, $5,000 from a loan, and $5,000 representing his wife's income from a firm doing a mercantile business.

According to the proposed law, he must make an itemized return to the collector of internal revenue for his district of the amounts of his income received from each source. He must, in addition, inform his employer, the renter of his office building, his debtor, and the payer of his wife's income, each separately, as to every source of his aggregate income. Each of these parties must then try to decide what part of the payment due from him to the unfortunate employer of an income shall be withheld from the payment and turned over to the collector of internal revenue. In that there is opportunity for inextricable confusion, with the possibility of indefinite postponement of the receipt of the tax by the government.

The evident intent of the law is to exempt from the operation of the tax only $4,000 of the aggregate income. But in this extreme case, suggested for simplicity, there are four sources yielding each more than $4,000. If each source should assume to make a return based upon the exemption of $4,000, the government would receive $10 from the employer, $10 from the renter, $10 from the debtor, and $10 from the firm in which his wife's money is invested. If each of the sources should hesitate to base his payment to the government without exempting $4,000, $200 would be turned in to the government and the taxpayer would enjoy no exemption.

Proxies are being requested for the annual meeting of the Reading company on June 3. They are asked in the names of George F. Baer, Samuel Dickson, and George Ziegler.

The output of the Copper Range Champion for April totaled 5,120,000 lbs. as compared with 5,142,000 lbs. in March and 5,220,000 lbs. in April one year ago.

It is announced that the $12,000,000 United Fruit company four year 6 per cent notes, which were sold to Lee, Higginson & Co., and offered by that firm at 98¾, were largely oversubscribed. The notes were 99 bid yesterday.

The count of the vote of stockholders at the annual meeting of the Vulcan Detinning company yesterday showed the old board reelected, with the exception that Raymond W. Tucket succeeded S. J. Bloomingdale.

Chicago Securities.

On the local stock exchange Sears-Roebuck common was again the feature in activity. It was irregular, closing at 170¼, one point below the opening price. The trading was general. Swift & Co. shares showed some improvement, closing at 105. Commonwealth Edison stock was off one point. American Can shares were irregular, but closed higher. Union Carbide was lower, at 163.

Chicago Railways issues were moderately active. Series 3 and 4 were off, while series 2 made a net gain of 1¼ points. Series 1 sold at 91.

In the bond department there was nothing of special note in the way of activity, but nothing of special note in the way of prices.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, May 2.—The strength in Wall street yesterday and the absence of unfavorable developments in the Balkans caused a cheerful and higher opening on the stock exchange today. Later the market was helped by good Berlin and Paris advices and all sections participated in the improvement. Although below the best in some instances owing to profit taking the market closed steady. Copper shares were strong features. The settlement was concluded without trouble and consols gained an eighth. American securities opened steady and a fraction higher. The list improved under the lead of Union Pacific during the forenoon. Wall street selling followed and values sagged, but prices hardened again in the late trading and the market closed steady. Money was easier and discount rates were steady.

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., May 2.—[Special.]—The decline of Boston Elevated to 89¾, with only a half point rally at the close, a net loss of 3 points, was the feature of today's market. A general belief that the company has on hand too much subway construction work is believed to be the cause of the extreme weakness. New Haven continued under pressure, dropping to 103, with a late rally of a point. Copper stocks were generally firm, with a 2¼ point gain in Allouez as the feature. Call money ruled at 3½@4 per cent; time loans, short dates, 5@5¼ per cent; time loans, six months, 5½ per cent; time loans, one year, 5¼@5½ per cent.

Oils.

CHICAGO, May 2.—OIL—Wholesale prices for carbon oil: Standard white, 15 test, 10¾c; perfection, 10½c; headlight, 175 test, 12c; eocene, 12½c; elaine, 19c; V. M. Kansas and Oklahoma: Demand active, market firm; crude, 88c; Caddo, 98c; kerosene, p. ref., 4c; w. w., 4½c; gasoline, 11¼c. Illinois: Firm; crude, $1.30.

OIL CITY, Pa., May 2.—Credit balances, $2.50. Runs: April 30, 104,445; average, 124,501; shipments, May 1, 71,796.

TOLEDO, O., May 2.—OIL—North Lima, $1.39; South Lima and Indiana, $1.34; Wooster, $1.65.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The cotton goods market ruled generally quiet. Brown and bleached domestics are easy, with the inquiry light. Prints and dress ginghams are quiet. Heavy colored domestics hold their values. Duck is easy, but stocks are not plentiful. Fancy wash fabrics are moderately quiet. Gray cloths are steadier on a lower price level. Imports of merchandise and dry goods at the port of New York for the week ending April 26 were valued at $18,104,216.

NEW YORK STOCKS REACH DEADLOCK

Short Covering Falls Off and Market Turns Back to Sagging Tendency.

ACTIVE ISSUES SHADE OFF

Political Outlook Strengthens European Exchanges; Banks Show Cash Gains.

New York, May 2.—Speculation reached a state of deadlock today. Extensive covering having been forced by the sharp rise of stocks yesterday, the demand from this source was diminished. Although some small gains were registered in the early trading, no aggressive efforts were made on the long side and the market reassumed its familiar aspects, with narrow and irregular movements and a sagging tendency. The active stocks in most cases fell slightly below yesterday's close, although in few of the important issues was the range for the entire day more than a point.

European markets were strong on the improvement in the political outlook. The effect of this improvement was recorded in the rise here yesterday, when the foreign markets were closed.

London Buying Proves Small.

London did little here, trading in about 5,000 shares, which were evenly divided between purchases and sales. There was some buying by Berlin and Paris on direct orders.

The heavy tone toward the close was influenced by the development of new weak spots among the inactive shares, conspicuous among which were Pullman and Virginia-Carolina Chemical. Both of these stocks reached new low prices for the year.

A substantial gain in cash by the banks on the week's operations was indicated by known movements of currency. Estimates of the week's gain varied from $4,500,000 to $7,500,000, not allowing for "over the counter" payments on May 1, which may affect the result materially. Money rates held steady on the lower basis which has prevailed recently. Bankers were of the opinion that if the more favorable indications for the passing of the Balkan crisis were borne out, relaxation of the European money markets, which was marked temporarily by the reduction in the Bank of England discount rate to 4½ per cent two weeks ago, should be resumed.

Some Low Records in Bonds.

Some additional low records were made by 5 per cent bonds, but the general movement was uncertain. Liquidation was checked in some bonds which have been especially weak recently. Total sales, par value, $2,185,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call steady, 2¾@2¾ per cent; ruling rate, 2¾ per cent; closing bid, 2¾ per cent; offered at 2¾ per cent. Time loans steady; sixty and ninety days, 4 per cent; six months, 4¼@4½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 5@5½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.75 for sixty day bills, and at 483.10 for demand. Commercial bills, 483. Bar silver, 60¼. Mexican dollars, 48. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds irregular.

DEVELOPMENTS IN INDUSTRIES ARE FAVORABLE TO PROGRESS.

Dun's Review Says Seasonal Weather Puts Production and Distribution Again on a High Level.

Dun's Review, published today by R. G. Dun & Co., will say:

"Developments mainly were favorable to sustained progress. Limited investment and curtailed operations in the speculative markets account largely for decline in payments through the banks, but money is easier and in steady absorption for manufacturing and improvements. A slight comparative increase appears in the record of trading defaults, although collections generally are reported better than in recent weeks.

"Seasonal weather stimulated most activities and the volume of production and distribution again is at the high level. Aggregate new demands in the leading industries added substantially to the accumulated forward work, particularly in heavy construction needs and car building. Conditions, however, also include more caution in considering commitments for future needs.

"The fundamental basis of current undertakings remains entirely encouraging. Consumption proceeds upon the greatest magnitude known, railroad requirements are even heavier than a month ago, and the crop reports inspire widespread confidence. With the recovery from recent flood and tornado setbacks deliveries by rail now are notably expanded in furnace and rolling mill outputs and construction material, while general merchandise for western points maintains a surprisingly large aggregate.

"Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 26, against 23 last week, 20 in 1912, and 18 in 1911. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 10, against 8 last week, 8 in 1912, and 8 in 1911."

WARMER WEATHER CUTS PORK CALL

Weakness in Hog Market Reflects Falling Off of Consumptive Demand.

CATTLE TRADE IN RUT.

Receipts of 800 Head Clear at Previous Day's Figures; Sheep and Lambs Steady.

Reflecting a contraction in the consumptive demand for fresh pork, owing to hot weather, the hog market at Chicago yesterday displayed decided weakness and closed at a loss of 10@15c from Thursday's best prices. Lightweight hogs, lacking good shipping support, showed more loss than other classes, while the butcher grades met with best demand. A top of $9.70 was made early, but the best hogs offered late could not pass $8.60, and the average price was lowered 8c, to $8.47. Fresh receipts of 17,000 head were well taken at the decline, but there were stale hogs on hand that were not shown, being held back for next week by speculators.

Only 800 cattle were received and they cleared at Thursday's decline, the best steers on hand making $8.05. Calves suffered a further loss, topping at $8.75, after a few assorted lots were taken out by outsiders at $9.00@9.25.

Sheep and lamb demand about equaled the supply of 6,000 head and prices held steady to strong, with shorn lambs selling up to $7.75 and wool skins at $8.85. Mixed yearlings and 2 year old sheep in fleece brought $7.85, while shorn sheep sold at $6.50.

WARM WEATHER IS STIMULUS TO RETAIL DRY GOODS TRADE.

Marshall Field & Co. Say in Review Daily Sales of Spring and Summer Merchandise Are Large.

Marshall Field & Co., in their weekly review of the dry goods trade, say:

"Warmer weather has stimulated the movement of dry goods both in retail and wholesale lines. Large daily sales have been recorded during the week on spring and summer merchandise both in staples and novelties. Collections are holding close to normal. There has been no let up in the large amount of business that is being booked for fall delivery on all lines that are being shown on the road.

"Dress goods men have been out for some time and are sending in handsome orders. Ratines are still in big demand and hard to get. Tissue ginghams and voiles, both in cotton and cotton and silk, are included in nearly all of the filling-in orders. Printed batiste is also a leading dress goods item.

"There has been a deluge of orders for muslin underwear. This demand has not centered on particular garments, but has been general throughout the line."
